Steen disposed of the Senators in the opening canto without allowing a score, but McCredie's men took a filer at young Zamlock, who was introduced as twicker by Patsy O'Rourke, and whanged his delivery for four hits and four runs in the first inning, which proved enough to win the game and enough for "Zammy" as well, for the twirler was derricked and Fitzgerald substituted.

Chadbourne opened with a two-bag-ger, and Ryan beat out an infield tap, which Thomas tossed away and Chad-bourne scored. Sheehan singled to cenbourne scored. Sheehan singled to cen-ter scoring Ryan. Krueger hit to O'Rourke, who threw to second too late to get Sheehan, and both runners were safe. He also scooted a fast one to O'Rourke in last season McCredie stuck in his draft on Rodgers and was awarded the player. At that time McCredie figured on using the Connecticut leaguer as an outfielder to take the place of either George Ort or Billy Speas, but when he scored a ten-strike in landing Chet Chadbourne, McCredie commenced figuring on a place for Rodgers. the first canto, which carned him a base because the Senatorial leader tried for Rodgers. When the Beavers veported at Santa Maria, the Portiand leader believed Neal Ball would report eventually, but when the Clevelander refused to report, he took a chance on making a second base-man out of Rodgers. The young fellow jumped into the game and made so good right off the reel that the "chleftain" of the Beavers soon announced that Rodgers would play second base whether or not Neal Ball reported. That his judgment on this player has proved correct is demonstrated by the remarkable favor with which Rodgers has been received by the Portland fans. For this player to jump into the shoes of a popular idea like Pearl Casey and immediately become a favorite with the critical fans of Portland, who failed to "see" Dick Breen in a whole season when that worthy tried to take Casey's place in 1909, demonstrates that Rodgers "has the goods."

"When circumstances require a ball player on the coaching line on ladies' day it's a safe bet that the circumstances can boast of either real or blonde hair," so goes an old saying.

Whether or not the antique saw has any connection with the chasing of Jack Harry, ex-New York ball star, to the bench in yesterday's Portland-Sacramento game, can only be surmised, but it leaked out after the home-run cli-max that Barry was the butt of a neat little "frame-up" on the part of Man-agers McCredie and O'Rourke and Um-pire Hildebrand.

SEATTLE, Wash. April 29.—(Special.)—A speciacular batting rally in the eighth inning gave Seattle victory in the hardest battle of the year, 9 to 7. Technically it was not a good exhibition of the National pastime, but the rapidity with which fortune's smile shifted from one side of the fence to the other put the faults in the background and kept the big crowd of bugs keyed up to the finish.

The sensation of the day came right off the reel at the beginning of the last half of the eighth when the score stood 6 to 4 in favor of Portland. Seattle looked decidedly like the small end of it, not only on account of the numerals on the board but because the team was going shakily and Skeels was pitching a "Sloppy" game—in trouble all the time.

Davidson started the fireworks by driving the ball clear over the right field fence for a home-run. Bues, who had already copped Berger for a single and double in three times up, got under the ball and it went sky-high, falling outside the lot on the right-hand side. There were two consecutive home-runs and the score was tied and the uproar started.

Professor Charles Lampert, master-at-arms of the Portland Fencing Club, is completing arrangements for a big gathering of Western swordsmen in Portland some time suring the Summer. Lampert eventually aims to organize a Pacific Coast League of fencing clubs, which will hold an annual tournament, both amateur and professional, with fells, dueling swords and sabers, similar to the meet he is promoting for Portland this year. "We expect entries from Seattle, San Francisco, Tacoma, Vancouver, Spokane and other cities of the Coast," said Lampert yesterday. "Team entries will be limited to three, but unattached entries will find themselves welcome. Womer too, will be eligible to compete an suitable prizes will be offered in all efforts of the Port and Fencing Swell stripes!

We've been "caught with the goods." and "convicted" of "getting away" with more than our share of the "spoils" this season.

You'll pardon us, won't you? But we can't help it! We have better values, that's all!
