LONG BEACH PROVING MORE ATTRACTIVE TO OLD AND YOUNG

Spokane Man Discovers Stranded Seine Washed In From Mouth of Columbia River and When Landed on Shore Is Found Well Stocked With Shark, Four Sturgeon, Flounder and Several Salmon.

ORTH BEACH, Aug. 17,-(Special) -As the little train pulls up at the station as Long Beach you can hear a buzz-z-z, for the little resort is filled up and the place is like a bee-

The new bath-house is an attraction which holds the interest of all the young folk-and the older ones like to watch, anyway,

On Wednesday morning everyone had a look at a stranded seine, which was washed in apparently from the mouth of the Columbia and came ashore in front of the Harvest Home. Ed Apfel. of Spokane, found the net and with the of a dozen more men assistance dragged it to shore. It was a piece of a net which had entangled in its meshes a sand shark, four sturgeon, a flounder and several salmon, from 1½ to 5 feet long. The sturgeon were large, the smallest weighing 150 pounds. The largest was still alive pounds. The largest was still alive when the men turned them out of the net onto the depot platform and it maneuvered around long enough to maneuvered around long enough to scare some of the youngsters and call
