MULTNOMAH WINS INTER-CLUB BOUTS

Spokane Takes Only One of Five Fierce Boxing and Wrestling Contests.

WILLIAMS STAR OF MEET

Glalie Only Inland Empire Winner. Gay Earns Popular Decision Over Spencer, of Knockout Fame. Knowlton Wins Easily

Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club ened the Northwestern Interclub boxng and wrestling season in most auspi ous fashion Friday night, taking four in five events from the Spokane before an enthusiastic and leather-lunged contingent of more than

Walter Williams, the 115-pound newcomer in the Winged "M" squad, was the stellar performer of the programme. He is unquestionably the best piece of amatour boxing machinery seen in the Northwest in several seasons. Cool. clever, with a good right hand punch, not swing, he proved a revelation to the crowd. He had no trouble disposing of St John, the Spokane youngster, whose game struggle against impossible odds earned for him a reception bordesing on an ovarious. bordering on an ovation.

Glahe Spekane Victor.

Multnomah lads captured the three soxing bouts, and one of the wrestling. Frank Glahe, the 115-pound Northwestern champion, being the only Spokane victor, Spokane victor.

Larry Gay, one of Tommy Tracey's novices, earned the most popular decision of the evening when he secured a four-round decision over cout" Billy Spencer, the highly-Spokane 125-pounder. Rated high above his heavier, but greener opponent, the crowd went wild when Spencer's much-waunted swings missed their mark time after time. To the unprejudiced observer, Spencer ap-peared to have the shade in the fourth round, leading with the exception of a few closing seconds but the crowd was after the Spokaneite's scalp, and they got it.

Christofferson, the second Spokane 135-pounder on the bill, was lucky to get a chance for a fourth round against "Fireman" Knowiton. Knowiton easily had the better of the first two rounds and a shade in the third, but the crowd yelled for another period. The visitor looked like a winner for a minute, but Knowlton hammered him about the ring at will and had him all but out at Veteran Defents Novice.

Glahe had no trouble disposing of Thorensen, the Multnomah 125-pound-er, although he was outweighed more than five pounds. It was a case of veteran against novice, and the veteran conquered in two straight falls, the first on a crotch and near-Nelson, in 2 minutes and 10 seconds, and the second in 2 minutes and 20 seconds.

Arthur Poboskev had "Red" Burns, of Spokane, beaten in the 145-pound mat tussle before the affair was two minutes old. He secured a neck hold on Burns as the two were tussling in an effort to throw each other to the an effort to throw each other to the mat and pinned his shoulders to the mat in one minute and 26 seconds. Burns came back strong and had bad luck with a roll and a scissora against the ropes, but lost a 15-minute and de-cisive bout on aggressiveness.

Special Events Sizzlers.

The special boxing events, as with the headline numbers, were signlers. Billy Eyeman best Soldier Thomson, from Vancouver Barracks, in a four-round mill, just beating his opponent with the mirth-provoking style in the fourth and last round. Derbyshire beat Dooling in three rounds, winning the 158-pound title of Multnomah Club. Derbyshire's aggressiveness and better condition

Tom McDonaid, of the Scattle Athletic Club, referred the boxing bouts, while Herbert Greenland took care of the wrestlers. The judges were Joe Teal and Frank Harmar. Summary:

CIVIL SERVICE PORTRAYED

New Book, "The American Government" Tells Interesting Story.

No better instance of the growth of the Government of the United States is afforded than is given in a comparison of the Blue Books of the United States Government published in 1816 and 1905. The one published in 1816 is not much larger than a child's reader, and has but 175 pages. The one for 1995 is in two volumes, and has 4219 pages. The one for 1816 weighed less than a pound, while the one for 1905 tipped the beam at more than 25 pounds. The publication of the one for 1816 cost less than $2000; the publication for the one of 1905 cost $70,000.

SENATOR BOURNE ASSAILED ludge Lowell Says People of Interior Oregon Want Selling.

Registering for the people of interior Oregon a vigorous protest against the re-election of Senator Bourne, which he said was also contrary to the best interests of Portland. Judge Stephen A. Lowell, of Pendleton, in an address at Sunnyside Friday night, strongly urged the election of Ben Seilling, the Republican direct primary nomines.

Judge Lowell unsparingly assailed Senator Bourne, who was charged with delinquency as a public servant and failure to secure to the state appropriations to which it was entitled. Reviewing Senator Bourne's record on the tariff, Judge Lowell charged the senior Senator with being unduly friendly to the cotton interests, in which he was personally concerned, and particularly hostile to the wool industry, one of Oregon's chief products.

that if the verdict was manisaughter he would parole the woman.

This accounts for the perfect understanding which existed after the verdict was read. Mr. Leonard immediately stated that he would waive time for passing of sentence and requested a parole. The judge granted it without consulting Deputy District Attorneys collier and Fizgerald, who had prosecuted, or either of them.

"I am not certain that I am right on is the law, in imposing a determinate instead of an indeterminate sentence, not having looked it up lately, but I did it anyway," said Judge Gatens. "There

C. E. S. Wood won great applause last night in a spirited address at a Democratic raily held in the Bungalow Theater. The meeting was attended by about 500 persons, Besides Mr. Wood, Governor West spoke.

"There is more than one thing to think of in the election of next Tuesday," said Mr. Wood in the course of his address. "Do not think that the election of Mr. Wilson is all that is necessary to give us all the changes promised in the Democratic platform. No indeed! In addition to a Democratic President we must have a Democratic Senate and House of Representatives. Otherwise the hands of the President are tied. It is only by accident and seldom that we succeed in getting a President who is supported by Congress. For this reason there is a lack of harmony in action. That is one of the weaknesses of our Government.

"Some of you Democrats are going to vote for Wilson and for Bourne or some other Republican or independent candidate for the United States Senate. In other words you want to place a Democrat in charge and then send a Senator to fight against him. Oregon Senator to fight against him. Oregon in the course of her development has tried to get away from the forms of government which are for the few. It was a hard struggle, but we succeeded was a hard struggle, but we succeeded finally in getting something that reflects to a slight extent the wishes reflects to a slight extent the wishes of the people.

"Of all the men in Oregon who have no right to go back on the Oregon system I believe the first is Jonathan Bourne. But he has gone back on it merely because in its working it did not favor him. He placed himself up in the primary to let the people say whether they wanted him any longer or not. He was turned down and then would not stand by the decision. He needs a rebuke from the people and I ardently hope it will be administered on the fifth day of this present month."

West Pleads for Wilson.

West Pleads for Wilson. Mr. Wood dealt at length with the merits of the Democratic platform as it stands this year and made an urit stands this year and made an urgent appeal for the support not only of the Democratic candidate for President, but also the candidate for Senator from Oregon, Dr. Harry Lane. He declared that President Taft is a thoroughly hongst and sincere man, but is held in subjection by the money interests. "If you are satisfied with what we have now," he said, "you for Taft."

Governor West, who preceded Mr. Wood on the programme, said that the $2000; the publication for the one of 1905 cost $70,000.

Richardson, Backstrum and Burke, three of the most desperate among the eight convicts who escaped on October 13, killing one citizen and stabbing another, had remained together on their flight through the hills southward toward Colorado, sluding the pursuers time after time. All three were armed and they stole food and ammunition along the way. Several posses have been constantly on their trail, but they succeeded in keeping ahead of their pursuers until Thursday night.

The bodies of the dead convicts were brought to Rawlins. The pursuit of Burke will be continued.
