A message from President Taft, now on a battleship on his way to Panama, to Dr. James Brown Scott, secretary of the society, said that the President's whole ideal was that of an "arbitral court for the settlement of International controversies," and that he had tional controversies," and that he had favored the general arbitration treatles with Great Britain and France as a long step toward an arbitral court, whose jurisdiction would be increased utilinately to include all possible disputes of an international character.

That Canada never would break her ties with the mother country was the message given by Professor George M. Wrong, of Toronto.

A motion that the Supreme Court of the United States offer to act as arbitrator in international disputes made at the regular session today was promptly rejected.

tical business man was inclined to look with more or less of skepticism on peace societies and on the work which such bodies as the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes was trying to do. The reason for this, he said, was that war still continued. The business man, however, he added, could and should be reached. If the peace societies were to succeed he said, they must appeal to succeed, he said, they must appeal to the business man, the dominating so-cial force of the world today.

Usually much wagering attends grid-lron clashes of this character, but yesterday Multnomah money was decidedly scarce in Portland, with the Washington heavyweights the favorite in the betting.

By a coincidence, the hospital ship Maine, presented to England by American women, was moored just outside the cruiser Natal.

There was no service on board the Natal, which left port precisely on schedule time, passing through the lines of the other vessels, which all had their flags at haif mast and their crews standing at the salute.

PORTSMOUTH, England, Dec. 21 .-The British armored cruiser Natal sailed-out of Portsmouth Harbor with the body of Ambassador Reid on board at half past three this afternoon amid a salute of 19 guns.

Full naval honors were paid to the body of Ambassagor Reid on its arrival at this port from London.

Admiral Sir Hedworth Meux, the commander of the port, and all the high naval officers stationed here were present at the station when the train drew in. As it halted at the platform Nelson's flagship, the Victory, fired a salute of 19 guns. Officers Bear Coffin,

Officers Bear Coffin,

The coffin was borne across the jetty on the shoulders of eight petty officers of the British navy and taken on board the armored cruiser Natal, from the mainmast of which vessel the United States ensign was immediately broken.

All the ships in the harbor and at Spithead raised the Stars and Stripes to their mastheads as the coffin was taken on board the Natal and then lowered them to half mast. The jetty was carpeted with purple while guards of honor of marines and bluejackets stood with reversed arms on each side as the with reversed arms on each side as the casket was taken through.

Casket was taken through.

The petty officers bearing the casket walked slowly to the mortuary chapel, lined with purple, which had been erected on the weather deck the Natal, and as they deposited it the catafalque, the ships bugler sounded the "last post," while the crew of the warships lined the rails. The RESULT PROVES BIG SURPRISE wreaths sent by President Taft and members of the royal family completely filled the little mortuary chapel, which is so placed that it can be lowered in case of heavy weather.

Come Here for Christmas Gifts for Men

Another year rolls round, and now it's close to Christmas time again. "Christmas Time" means "Gift Time" -looked forward to by all with interest, and by many of us with dread. "What shall I give?" is the yearly bothersome question. Literally "barrels of money" are spent, each year, on useless things-trash, pure and simplemade just "to sell" - a waste of money for the buyer, and an embarrassment to the receiver. But now people are becoming more sensible, giving practical, useful gifts -a pleasure to give and welcome to receive. Father, for instance, would rather get a smoking jacket than a fancy desk set; Brother Jack "could use" a bath robe or a walking stick; Cousin Harry needs some new gloves anyway-and as for little Tommy-well-. And so all along the line, as you go through our store you will find hundreds-yes, thousands-of beautiful, sensible, practical Christmas gifts, all the way from a handkerchief to a splendid new suit or overcoat.
