X-RAY THROWN ON POLICE "REWARDS"

Whereabouts of $5000 in Cash CITY'S DELAY PROTESTED Public Improvement System in and Property Intent of Civil Service Pry.

DISPOSITION IS IN DOUBT

One Parcel of $1000 Placed in Custody by Actress for Return of $5000 Worth of Diamonds Not Accounted For Clearly.

The whereabouts of $5000, rewards and property, which should have gone to informants, or the holders, but is really believed to have gone into the coffers of detectives, is engaging the attention of the Civil Service Commissioners, who have been probing the situation for several weeks. Their work is now unfinished, and will not by the local detectives. Where that telegram now is, and whether it was ever answered, are questions that the Commissioners are seeking answers to. In the case of the actress diamonds, it is said that detectives interested it is said that detectives interested wrote to the jurist who had the deter-mination of the reward and told him that "it would be of advantage" to him to determine the paying of the reward quickly. All concerned deny this phase of the situation. The money was deposited in a local bank, and when the "showdown" comes it is likely that evidence will be submitted to show whether or not it was ever and a not to whom paid, and to whom.

Captain Moore, of the day relief, was asked to tell what he knew of a $250 reward given several years ago for the capture here of two men who held up and robbed streetcars in Seattle. Moore's reply was that he received the money legally and through the proper

Many cases where rewards were split between officers and "stool-pigeons" are also in the investigation. It is said that two detectives kepf an escaped man from a Middle West penitentiary "on ice" until they learned by telegraph from the warden of the penitentiary that there was a $25 reward on his that there was a $25 reward on his head. The next day, after their re-ceipt of the telegram, it is asserted, they arrested the fugitive and sent him back to the penitentiary.

Many cases of deserters from Army and Navy, being arrested and afterward the reward being split by detective or patrolman, and an outsider whom he took into his confidence, have been shown to the Commissioners. In een shown to the Commissioners, the face of conflicting and indefinite evidence, they are letting these mat-ters "hang fire" until the first charge of gambling is thoroughly settled.

At Special Vote December 9 City Heads Would Have People Open Way for Better and More Equitable Basis for Work.

Correction of defects in the system used by the city in financing public improvements is the purpose of a proposed charter amendment which will be posed charter amendment which will be submitted to the voters at a special city election December 2. The plan will entirely change the system, making more equitable terms for property owners and opening the way for the financing of improvements by contractors in a more economic manner than at present.

The scope of the proposed bonding act is enlarged so as to include street extensions, widening, alteration or tice the contractors are often under the necessity of "shaving" warrants so as to get ready money in order to proceed

The complaint requested that the city authorities take whatever steps are necessary to put the road in operation not later than December 24. Mr. Dimock said to do this would be impossible for the reason that the 12 cars ordered for the line will not be delivered before January 1. He said that to complete the car barns and the substation and to provide necessary equipment an additional appropriation of about $50,000 would be required.

"Really, the Finest Limousine I've Ever Seen."

That's the comment of everyone who has seen the New Chalmers "Six" Limousine.

People who have owned enclosed cars costing from $5000 to $8000; people who are used to having the best; carriage builders; even competitors selling higher priced cars-admit that no finer product of coach building has ever been offered.

It's hard to give you an idea of the superlative luxury of this car. You must see it yourself. Let'your eyes feast on the grace of its external appearance—its streamline body, its rounded top, bell-back, tapering bonnet, its elegant finish.

Luxury and Roominess

Now enter the wide, hospitable doorlighted, when open, by a concealed step light.

The spacious interior, you find, is finished in whipcord or broadcloth. Deep cushions invite you to sink back and take your ease. There's plenty of room. Three big people can sit comfortably on the rear seat. Auxiliary seats, real man's size chairs, accommodate two more. And still another passenger can sit in front with the chauffeur.

To ventilate the Limousine, all you need to do is to turn a handle on the door, raising or lowering the window glass to any position. No straps to pull.

- A Car of Super-refinement

Soft light may be had from the recessed shoulder lamps—or a brilliant glow, if desired. from the dome light in the top.

Every accessory for comfort and convenience is provided-foot cushions, speaking tube, memo pads, clock, flower vases, etc.

And all this luxury, all these super-refinements are furnished on the wonderful New Chalmers "Six" chassis-with its Master Motor, its silent power, its utter flexibility, its freedom from trouble and repair

Nowhere Such Value as This

All this, too, is offered at an astonishingly low price, $3600. Can you afford to be without this car for the coming winter? Is it worth while to think of paying more? Is it wise to pay less? A demonstration of this great car will give you the answer.

We are always glad to show the New Chalmers "Six." Please call or phone us.

proved in practice to be most vicious account, where it rightfully belongs

To illustrate the defects of the old system it is pointed out that in the year 1913 the total amount of issued bonds of the City of Portland for improvements amounted to $17,022,013.84; that only $2,882,967.38 has been redeemed, and there is now outstanding 314.149.046.46. The total available amount of cash in the improvement bond sinking fund in 1913 is $306,073. In addition there 1901 is $1,176,995 in a sinking fund repre- 1903 sented by improvement bonds pur- 1903 sented by improvement bonds pur- 1903 chased as an investment. These bonds are issued by the city from time to time to pay the contractors for the work of improving streets, while the cost of the improvement is charged. against the property benefited and is 191 paid back to the city by the property-owner either in cash when the amount is ascertained or in installments with is ascertained or in installments with interest at 6 per cent, and as the payments are made by the property-owner to the city it was intended that this money should be applied by the city in taking up the bonds that were issued by the city to meet the cost of the improvement, so that when all of the property-owners had paid into the city the total cost of all the improvements the city would have sufficient ments the city would have sufficient money to redeem the bonds that it had sold for the purpose of paying for the improvements.

These bonds are issued and sold to investors in Portland and in the East, there being at this time more than $11,000,000 of them in the East. They bear 6 per cent interest, while the money paid into sinking fund deposit in the banks bears only 2 per cent. The consequence is that under the existing system every dollar of money that is kept on deposit and not used in redeeming the bonds is losing 4 per cent in interest. With $906,078 on hand in actual cash and $1,176,995 invested in bonds owned by the city, it has been impossible under the existing system to use $1 of the aggregate of these sums amounting to $2,083,083 in the redemption of these bonds and the cause is found in the provision in the existing bonding measure that "the city must redeem consecutively by number at semi-annual interest paying dates.'

City's Bonds Popular. The improvement bonds of the city have always brought in the open markets a premium of from 2, 2½ to 3 per cent, and now that the Federal income tax has become a law, and under its operation these bonds are exempted, it is said to be certain that they will continue prime favorites in the invest-ing market and the premiums, if they do not increase, will certainly not fail. The premium on these bonds has always been paid into the general fund of the city. Under the proposed law the premium on the bonds will be treated as a part of the fund, and shall be paid into the interest fund of this
