Miss Amy Gerstel

Helen West and Jack McDougall, trustees.

Due largely to the energetic and persistent efforts of Mrs. Caswell, the junior branch now number 42 active members and a substantial growth can be looked for this year. It is with much satisfaction that the Hunt Club members regard this auxiliary branch, for in a few years the juniors will be taking their places in the councils of their elders and in a few more years will be taking the reins themselves, so the future of the club seems secure. They number among their members some excellent and fearless riders that the traditions and reputation of the club will be safe in their hands.

President Nat McDougall appointed Mrs. R. B. Caswell, H. E. Everding and James Nicol as a committee to look after the juniors and already many schemes are being hatched for their pleasure.

After the close of the business meeting on Saturday, those present were the guests of Mrs. Gerda Hermsman for tea. The juniors in the clubhouse were: Ann Adams, Marion Bowles, Suzanne Caswell, Margaret Cook, Bertha Goodman, Jane Hall, Clementine Lewis, Edith Ottenheimer, Mary Louisa Prudhomme, Jane Talbot, Helen West and Marguerite Wheeler, Robert Coffey, Ambrose M. Cronin, Jr., Robert Farrell, Harold Hirsch, Robert J. K. Hirsch, Hiram H. Hirsch, Jack McDougall, Nat McDougall, Jr., and Douglas Nicol, most of whom rode out to the club.

James Nicol, M. F. H., is arranging for a closed paper chase for the Juniors to be held Saturday afternoon, January 19, and after this chase when the riders gather at the clubhouse they will be the guests of Mrs. R. B. Caswell.

Miss Lola Kiefer, of Seattle, who has been the guest of Mrs. Fred Wilson at the Multnomah Hotel for several days, during which time she was extensively entertained, has returned to her home in the North.

Mrs. Wilson was a dinner hostess last week in her honor and several other informal functions marked her visit.

Eric V. Hauser, of the Multnomah Hotel, has returned from an extended visit in the East. He passed the holidays with his family in St. Paul.

Harold Grady, who, with Mrs. Grady, has been making his home at the Multnomah Hotel, recently entered the Aviation Corps and sold his home known as Harlow-Grady Hall, left Thursday night for Berkeley to take up his training in the aviation. Mrs. Grady will remain at the Multnomah for a few weeks, when she plans to go to San Francisco to join Mr. Grady and subsequently to Hiram H. Hirsch, her stepfather, who is doing his military work at the Fairmount Hotel.

Miss Priscilla Putnam will become the bride of Anthony Ruh this month, the exact date to be announced later. The engagement of the popular young couple was announced recently. Miss Putnam, formerly of this city, has been making her home in Los Angeles with her paternal grandmother, and as Mr. Ruh is connected with the Union Oil Company, of that city, they will make their future home in the southland. The bride-to-be is well known in Skagway, Alaska, where she and her sister, Miss Nada, made their home with their father, the late H. C. Putnam, for some time.

Mr. Ruh, also well known in this city, will take his bride on a visit to San Diego before going to Los Angeles to take up his residence.

The Auld Lang Syne Society, composed of prominent men of Portland, will hold its annual banquet at the Multnomah Hotel Wednesday, January 23. Tables will be arranged in the ballroom for about 250 and music will be a feature of the event. General C. P. Beebe will be in charge of the affair.

A. G. Findlay was host at a delightful dinner given at Hotel Portland Saturday evening in honor of the visiting Canadian officers who spoke at the Municipal Auditorium on war conditions, including Major E. B. Edwards, Captain E. J. Gook and Lieutenant-Colonel J. M. McMillan.

The Laurelhurst Club drill team, assisted by the auxiliary, spent a pleasant evening dancing at the clubhouse on Thursday. A basket lunch was provided by the women and was served under the supervision of a most efficient corps of "kitchen police" consisting of William S. Seales, N. Barde, Neil P. Bennett, P. H. Call, T. H. Drake and Dr. D. A. Fellows. An event of the next month that is being looked forward to with pleasure by the drill team is a military ball to be held at the clubhouse at a date to be announced later. It is imperative that those attending this dancing party dress in some sort of a military costume, whether of this generation or the last is immaterial, according to orders from Captain Lee M. Clark.

The Irvington Club's card party scheduled for Tuesday promises to be one of the most enjoyable affairs of the week under the chairmanship of Mrs. May Varwig, who will have as her associates on the committee this week Mesdames W. E. Richey, J. E. Durham, J. Nicolai, George Joseph, W. H. Powell, A. J. Winters, A. W. Baird, Bert E. Haney and E. G. Leiby.

A tea of unusual interest to the friends and members of the Red Cross unit of Grace Memorial Episcopal Church will be given at the home of Mrs. W. J. Zimmerman, 746 Welder street, corner of East Twenty-second street, North, Tuesday, January 15, from 2 to 5 P. M.

Miss Dorothy Bliss is arranging an unusual musical programme. The proceeds from this tea will be used to pay the expense of sewing machines and findings used in the work of this unit and to purchase individual boxes to send each member from Grace Memorial Church now serving in the Army or Navy.

The girls interested in Battery A, Oregon Field Artillery, 247th Field Artillery, enjoyed a delightful evening at the home of Mrs. A. J. Hoover, 641 Tacoma avenue, Monday night. The rooms were decorated with red, white and blue bunting and flags. Captain Clayton's picture was hung in the drape of one of the flags. The evening was devoted to old-time games and dancing. Several fine selections were had. A feature of the evening was a mock wedding, which caused an unlimited amount of fun among the guests. Dainty refreshments were served.

Those present were: Mrs. O. V. Painter, wife of Lieutenant Painter; Battery A, Mrs. R. E. Daniel, wife of Lieutenant Daniel; Battery A, Miss Edna Waldele, Marjorie Smith, Jenny Loughlin, Mrs. Downey, Margaret Downey, Janet Daniel, Mrs. H. Livingston, Grace Scott, Pearl Scott, Helen Scott, Helen Hendricks, Harriett Dalby, Mrs. J. A. Rennie, Fernie Hall and Mrs. A. J. Hoover.

Clan Macleay, Order of Scottish Clans, will celebrate the birthday of Robert Burns on January 23, with a concert and dance in the Masonic Temple. The following is the programme:

Members of the Professional Woman's League were hostesses at a prettily appointed luncheon given Wednesday at the University Club in compliment to Harold Bauer, eminent pianist, who was introduced in a delightful manner by the president, Mrs. Charles P. McCallough. Mr. Bauer gave illuminating slides in part as viewed from the commercial viewpoint, and from the standpoint of the artist, maintaining that true art is simply the expression of emotions experienced in daily life, but which only a gifted few are able to express through music, poetry or motion. Mr. Bauer demonstrated that he is not only a pianist, but a philosopher and a humorist and the league accounted it a great honor to entertain him.

The tables were decorated with exquisite Spring flowers, violets, hyacinths, ferns and jonquils. Covers were laid for league members as follows: Miss Jocelyn Fox, Miss Abby Whitehead, Miss Anna E. Crocker, Miss Mary Frances Isom, Miss Dorothea Nash, Miss Loa E. Bailey, Mrs. Calvin B. Cady, Mrs. Charles Edwin Sears, Miss Ruth Catlin, Miss Gertrude Talbot, Miss Vella Winner, Miss Maida Rossiter, Miss Margaret McLaughlin, Miss Lucy K. Trevett, Mrs. George Alexander, Miss Nellie Fox, Miss Louise Dunlap, Miss Ethel Sawyer, Dr. Grace Keith, Mrs. Dunkley, Miss Bertha Stuart, Mrs. H. M. Esterly, Miss Florence Keese, Miss Alice Shaw, Mrs. A. P. Kinlay, Mrs. George H. Marsh, Miss Helen Putnam, Mrs. Charles Curry, Miss Laura Miller, Miss Florence Knowlton, Mrs. Harry Beals Torrey, Miss Beth McCrea, Mrs. Herman Bohman and Miss Harriet Wood. Out-of-town professional women, who were guests, included: Miss Edwin Hunt, of Louisiana; Mrs. Katherine Glenn Carey, of Seattle, and Miss Howes, of Hood River.

Miss Katherine Marie Spoeri, a charming maid of the North Shore, Chicago, is spending several weeks with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Spoeri, at the Madison-Park apartments, and during her stay she has been delightfully entertained by well-known Portlanders. She is spending her week-end with her cousin, Miss Marion Spoeri, a freshman at the University of Oregon, at the Delta Gamma Sorority house. Miss Spoeri will return this week to her home in Chicago.

Mrs. Carl G. Lybe has returned home from a three-months visit in the East. In Chicago she visited her sister, Mrs. A. T. Fisher; in Milwaukee, her brother, Dr. C. S. Hart, and in Sioux City, Iowa, she was the guest of Mrs. Jack Casan and Mrs. Harry Custis.

Mrs. Nella Barlow Lawrence gave a line party at the Orpheum Tuesday evening followed by a supper at the Multnomah Hotel in honor of Mrs. Henry McKinney, of Baker, Or., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. George Harding, of Oregon City. Mrs. Lawrence had as her guests Mr. and Mrs. E. Brodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Barlow Harding, Mrs. Henry McKinney and Miss Evelyn Harding.

The clubhouse at Garden Home was the scene on Saturday, January 5, of one of the most interesting meetings ever gathered within its hospitable walls when the junior members of the Portland Hunt Club held their first election of officers. This organization recently passed its first birthday, but it was not until the annual meeting of the Hunt Club held in December that permission was given them to have officers of their own number. Since that time the juniors have been all excitement planning for the event and doing some good electioneering. Those of their elders who were fortunate enough to be present at the meeting could not help being inspired by the refreshing and whole-hearted enthusiasm of these boys and girls.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. R. B. Caswell and with a dignity befitting the occasion the juniors carried on the election to its conclusion which resulted in the election of Douglas Nicol as president; Suzanne Caswell, vice-president; Ambrose M. Cronin, Jr., secretary; Marion Bowles, treasurer, and Katherine Alsworth, party at their home in Linnton. It was a sort of farewell party preparatory to their trip to California. They will leave Tuesday night, accompanied by their father, W. T. O'Brien, and expect to make a tour of the state for two months.

News has just reached Portland telling of the approaching wedding. Miss Agnes Ford, of Seattle, the well-known golfer and holder of several woman's championships, to Captain Walter Tracy, U. S. A. The wedding will be an event of Thursday, and the brother-in-law and sister of the bride-elect, Dr. and Mrs. Emil Enna, who are prominent residents of this city, are planning to leave within a day or two to attend the function.

Miss Ford is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ford, and she is popular in social circles as well as athletic. Captain Tracy is now in Washington, D. C., and will be stationed at Camp Fremont. He will take his bride on a visit to Washington before going to Palo Alto to take up his duties there.

Among the line parties at the matinee yesterday at the Heilig Theater to see "The Thirteenth Chair," was one for which Mrs. Abraham Tichner was hostess, which was preceded by a luncheon at the Hotel Portland. The party included Mrs. J. R. Yon, Mrs. W. J. Lyons, Mrs. J. O. Hoyt, Mrs. Frank McCauley, Mrs. J. W. Simpson and the hostess.

Another affair of recent date for which Mrs. Tichner also was hostess was the informal tea and knitting bee given in compliment to her sister, Mrs. John Annand, upon her return from San Francisco. The guests were old friends of Mrs. Annand, and the affair was charming and interesting.

Professor and Mrs. Lucien E. Becker entertained Wednesday at an informal dinner for two personal friends, members of the San Carlo Opera Company—Signorina Stella De Mette, soprano, and Signor Francesco Lianze, manager of the orchestra. Miss De Mette is a former piano student of Mr. Becker's at St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Haak were also members of the dinner party and later took the guests and party to their home on East Fifty-eighth street.

Portland Matron whose wedding to well-known attorney is surprise to their friends.

Mrs. Mary Covey and Fred Heilig gave their numerous friends in this city a big surprise by the announcement of their marriage. The ceremony was read on November 19 in Seattle, Rev. M. A. Matthews officiating. Not until a few days ago did the news of the betrothal reach Portland relatives and friends of the couple, who now are making their home in the Heilig Theater in attractive apartments.

Mr. Heilig is a brother of Calvin Heilig and for years has been associated with John F. Logan, well-known attorney, in business, looking after the Heilig Theatrical Corporation affairs, the booking offices of the company being in Seattle, where Mrs. Covey has made her home since the divorce from her former husband, Edward Covey, of the Covey Automobile Company, of this city.

Mr. Heilig was one of the attorneys who procured her divorce. He is a former newspaper man and miner, having been owner and editor of the Fairbanks Times during the booms days of a camp in the interior of Alaska, where Mr. Heilig has extensive interests. For a number of years he has been a member of the Arctic Club of Seattle and of the Alaska bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. He also is a member of a number of the leading civic, social and military organizations of Portland. His bride is well known in social circles in Portland, San Francisco and Seattle.
