The Alcazar revival will be sumptuous in every detail and assured, and a brilliant company, perhaps the best singing organization of its kind ever to present the musical plays in this country, will be perfectly suited for the various roles, and an all-star performance may be expected. Since "The Mikado's" first presentation in London in '84 it has been a classic of the musical stage. It is by far the funniest, brightest and wittiest as to book and lyrics, the most tuneful as to score, and to say that it is the best of all such productions is not too much. The cast of "The Mikado" will be: Tum-Yum, Mabel Wilber; Pitti Sing, Eva Olivanti; Pooi Bo, Peggy Martin; Katisha, Marie Horgan; The Mikado, George Natanson; Nanki Poo, Henry Foote; Pooi Bah, Detmar Poppert; Ko Ko, James McElhenn; Fish Tail, Edward Sedas; Knee San, Lee Daly. For the role of Katisha, Miss Marie Horgan has been especially endeared. Miss Horgan was with the De Wolf Hopper all-star revival of "The Mikado" in New York, and is considered the best Katisha on the American stage. Although she has retired from the stage and living in Los Angeles, it was after much persuasion that she consented to journey from Los Angeles to Portland and play the part.

ALCAZAR BILLS "FANTANA"

Wholesome Humor and Catchy Music Are Features. The attraction to follow "The Mikado" at the Alcazar theater will be the Japanese-American comic opera, "Fantana," which opens Monday, December 1. It was in "Fantana" that Jefferson De Angelis starred for several seasons and it was considered by far his best starring vehicle.

In many respects "Fantana" is a most remarkable comic opera and contains more genuinely wholesome humor and more catchy music than any of the most recent musicals. The book and lyrics were written by Robert B. Smith and Sam S. Shubert, who is one of the famous theatrical firm of Shubert Brothers and the music is by Raymond Hubbell. A magnificent production is assured, the scenery and costumes will equal any New York production.

"HER REGIMENT" AT ALCAZAR

Latest of Victor Herbert Operas Makes Impression Here.

The final performance of "Her Regiment" will be tonight at the Alcazar theater. "Her Regiment" is the latest of Victor Herbert operas and this is the first presentation west of Denver.

It was Miss Mabel Wilber's starring vehicle of last season and gives her ample opportunity for singing and acting. Lee Daly in the comedy role is exceedingly funny and the Alcazar company as a whole is an unusually good one.

COHAN COMEDY AT BAKER

Stock Company in "It Pays to Advertise," With Extra Matinee.

One of the most familiar of all late comedies in Cohan & Harris' "It Pays to Advertise," in which the Baker Stock company will be seen for the week starting this afternoon, with a special Thanksgiving day matinee Thursday. It is familiar because of its immense popularity and the fact that it is founded upon a modern idea, the value of original advertising methods. It is the story of an exceptionally clever young woman who is private secretary to a millionaire soap manufacturer, who has a spoiled and useless son who absolutely refuses to make anything of his life. Noting that the boy seems a bit interested and influenced by the secretary, the old man engages her as a business proposition to try to arouse his ambition. The result is a wonderful surprise for everyone concerned, even the boy himself. Along comes a whirlwind circus press agent full of ideas and conversation, who suggests wonderful advertising plans and they organize a company and go into the soap business in opposition to the old man. This starts all kinds of things and high finance with a vengeance marks the action of the new corporation, which, after hitting the high and low spots, finally wins out, making the old man come around and naturally ends in wedding bells. George Taylor will be seen in his former success as the press agent with both Miss Felton and David Herblin in parts for which they are particularly suited. "It Pays to Advertise" will run all week at the Baker with the usual matinees and the Thursday matinee in addition.

POLLYANNA COMING TO BAKER

Comedy With Universal Appeal to Follow Present Week.

One of the most eagerly-looked-forward-to plays of the season in stock is "Pollyanna" which will go on the boards at the Baker for the week following "It Pays to Advertise" and opening next Sunday matinee. Like "Daddy Long Legs" this is a comedy that appeals to old and young and one that no theater goer should miss seeing upon this, its initial appearance in Portland at popular prices. Laughter and pathos run side by side through the delightful story which everyone knows is going to have one of the happiest of all happy endings in spite of the tears that lie so close to the surface at times. Pollyanna is a little "poor relation" wished on a rather high spirited and immaculate aunt, whom the child is shocking every hour of the day by her unseemly (in the eyes of the severe old aunt) actions. When she breaks into the castle of the terrible old bachelor all that happens there makes "Pollyanna" seem somewhat like a fairy tale of old.

"DANCE AROUND" COMING

Midnight Rollieck to Be Pantages Attraction.

Perhaps the most astonishing offering in vaudeville is presented by Slatko's Midnight Rollieckers in a vaudeville sensation, "Dancing Around," the leading attraction on an exceptional program at Pantages for Thanksgiving week, commencing with tomorrow's matinee. Bringing with them an augmented orchestra under the direction of Albert B. Prough, the Rollieckers will present a startling replica of the gay night life along the great white way before the shadows started to fall over this historic thoroughfare. The scene of the production is laid in the Bohemian garden at midnight and all the features of the cabaret are given. One of the principal numbers is that of the world's fastest whirlwind dancers.
