ENTERTAINING for out-of-town guests continues to furnish the principal motif for the few social affairs which are being given this summer. Portland has been fortunate in having a number of distinguished and delightful visitors who have been complimented with charming luncheons, teas, dinners and motor parties, which their hostesses, in most cases, insist are "very informal."

Although many are out of town for the summer, arrangements usually are made to motor back to Portland for these affairs. Several parties are being planned for the theater to see Jane Cowl the latter part of this week and a number of persons are planning to motor from the beach to spend the week-end in town.

Popular members of Portland society as well as returning, and the departure of Mrs. Carlton Walter Betts for Buffalo, and Miss Kathryn Hoyt for France, on Wednesday, will be much regretted by their many friends here.

Miss Virginia McDonough returns today to Portland after nearly a year spent in travel in the east and in Europe and will be entertained to celebrate her home-coming this week.

Week-end house parties, especially for the younger set, at the beaches or mountains or at various delightful country homes, continue to be a popular form of summer entertainment.

Many brides-elect are setting the dates for their marriages and social affairs are being planned for the late August and early September brides.

Mrs. Carlton W. Betts (Ruth Teal) who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nathan Teal for the summer, will leave Portland Wednesday for her home in Buffalo, N. Y. Mrs. Betts has been the inspiration for much delightful entertaining during her visit here.

Miss Genevieve Thompson entertained in her honor at a theater party Monday evening at the Heilig. The party included Mrs. Betts, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Squires, Miss Rhoda Rumelin, Miss Eileen Collingwood, Miss Katherine Hart, Miss Kathryn Hoyt, Miss Lillian Moss, niece of Mrs. Dickson, who is visiting her, and the hostess.

Mrs. Betts entertained at tea Friday afternoon for a few of her most intimate friends.

Mrs. John Forest Dickson was hostess for a charming luncheon honoring Mrs. Betts Tuesday at Forest Hall, on the highway. Covers were placed for Mrs. Betts, Mrs. Evelyn Carey Donworth, Mrs. R. M. Dooley, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Miss Rhoda Rumelin, Miss Eileen Collingwood, Miss Katherine Hart, Miss Kathryn Hoyt, Miss Lillian Moss, niece of Mrs. Dickson, who is visiting her, and the hostess.

Mrs. Betts entertained at tea Friday afternoon for a few of her most intimate friends.

Miss Kathryn Hoyt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Hoyt, will leave Portland Wednesday for France, where she will aid in the relief work being carried on by the American committee for devastated France.

Miss Hoyt will stop at various eastern cities to visit friends and will sail from New York September 14. She plans to stay in France at least six months.

She is a popular member of the younger set and her many friends here will miss her greatly. She entertained in her honor at her most intimate friends yesterday afternoon at the Waverley country club at tea.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ayer for a few days, left Portland Friday with her two sons. They will motor to their home in Palo Alto by way of The Dalles and central Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover arrived in Portland Tuesday evening and Mr. Hoover left the next night for Minneapolis.

Hoover while she was here, since she preferred to rest from her trip and visit informally with a few close friends.

Mrs. Hoover is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, sorority from Pi chapter at Leland Stanford Junior university. Mr. Hoover is also a Stanford graduate.

Miss Virginia McDonough, attractive daughter of Mrs. G. C. von Eglloffstein, who has been traveling since last September, will return home today. Her host of friends here welcome her return.

Miss McDonough spent the winter at Palm Beach and after spending several months in New York and other eastern cities, went abroad in May with a party of friends. She visited in London and Paris and saw many of the battlefields of Europe. She is bringing with her to her home, Miss Vida Dodge of New York City. Miss Dodge's home was formerly in San Francisco.

Mrs. von Eglloffstein has planned a bridge tea in honor of her daughter and her guest for Wednesday afternoon. A number of other friends will be asked to call during the afternoon at the tea hour.

Miss Alice Cole of Boston, the house guest of Mrs. William C. Alvord, is one of the popular out-of-town visitors this summer.

Mrs. Holt C. Wilson was hostess at an attractive luncheon at the Waverley Country club on Wednesday, complimenting Miss Cole. Covers were placed for the honor guest, Mrs. Samuel M. Mears, Mrs. William D. Wheelwright, Mrs. Helen Add Cobbett, Mrs. George Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Marvin, Mrs. Joseph N. Teal, Mrs. W. C. Alvord and the hostess.

Mrs. Frank E. Hart entertained in honor of Miss Cole with an informal supper party at her home last night. The guests were a few of Miss Cole's old friends.

Mrs. Wilson Johnston was a charming hostess on Wednesday at her home on Westover Terrace, when she entertained with a luncheon in honor of four out-of-town visitors. The honor guests were Mrs. W. C. Bardsley and her daughter, Miss Ruth, of Los Angeles, who are the guests of Mrs. E. P. Nichols; Miss Lillian Moss, niece of Mrs. John Forest Dickson; Mrs. Lacey Johnston, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Preston W. Smith. In addition to the honor guests, covers were placed for Mrs. E. P. Nichols, Miss Faye Nichols, Mrs. John Forest Dickson, Mrs. Roy Payne, Mrs. Preston W. Smith and the hostess.

FURS AND MYSTERY
By N. M. Ungar.

There are many following these articles who may have gained the impression that we believe this store is the only store dealing honestly with the public in the matter of furs.

We are glad to say that this is not the case—there are concerns who feel about the fur business just as we do—that the public should be protected through the ignorance of some of his salespeople.

Aside from the determination to be strictly honest, these fur dealers know that to remain in business for long it is absolutely necessary that the public get exactly what it pays for and that while for the time being sales and profits might be larger if they reported to deception—in the end they will profit far more greatly if they treat the public honestly.

If you are buying a substitute, or imitation fur, what interests you most is what you pay for it. In good fur shops you pay its real worth. It is of real value for its own sake. But if the dealer begins to refer to it as some special kind of seal, or other costly skin, put it down in your little book that there are other furs in the same collection being offered for what they are not. It's like "Japanese crab meat," which is a goodly quality of cod-fish.

Of course there are many concerns, both large and small, which will never be entirely honest till compelled to be by law. These same firms prefer to sell their garments by deception whenever necessary to make the sale, either making an adjustment or taking back the garments when the purchaser has learned of the deception.

We can suggest but one way to avoid this latter class of fur dealers—when you start out to shop for furs, choose your fur dealer much as you would a security for the safe investment of your money.

been executive secretary of Reed college for the last nine years, left Portland Friday evening for New York City, where she has accepted a position with the Rockefeller foundation. Miss Read was the honor guest at a farewell reception given at Reed college Tuesday evening. About 150 of her old friends and students of the college called during the evening. The affair was informal and planned so that Miss Read's friends would have an opportunity for a farewell chat with her.

Miss Read will stop at a number of cities on her way east. She will visit her brother in Hoquiam, Wash., another brother in Michigan and her mother in New York state.

Another of the out-of-town guests in the city is Mrs. N. Vehlslage of Newark, N. J., who is the house guest of Mrs. George Lawrence Jr. Mrs. Lawrence is giving a house party in her honor this week-end at her country home in Hood River. The party includes Mrs. Vehlslage, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Peacock, Mrs. Willis Dunaway, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Marion Peacock, George Lawrence and Miss Anne Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs.

Lawrence. Mrs. Vehlslage will be here for two or three weeks.

Mrs. Samuel Perkins of Tacoma and her daughter, Miss Virginia, are the guests of Mrs. Perkins' sister, Mrs. Harry Hemminghouse, at the Mallory hotel.

Dr. and Mrs. John Forest Dickson entertained in honor of Mrs. Perkins and her daughter at dinner Friday evening at the Waverley Country club. Covers were placed for ten.

Mrs. MacDonald Mayer (Louise Bradley) of Milwaukee, Wis., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley. She has returned to Portland with her mother, who has spent the last several months in Texas and New York. Since her marriage four years ago Mrs. Mayer has resided in New York City until recently, when Mr. Mayer's business took them to Milwaukee. Mrs. Mayer is being informally entertained by her friends.

Miss Dorothy Sanford was hostess for a delightful tea Thursday afternoon at her home on Lovely street in honor of Miss Marjorie Campbell, who has chosen September 15 as the date of her wedding to Wilson B. Coffey.

Mrs. Jay Coffey and Mrs. Thomas Metcalf (Dorothy Parsons) presided at the tea urns and assisting about the rooms were the Misses Genevieve Butterfield, Elizabeth Boyd, Laura Jerard, Catherine Macey and Maurine and Lucile Elrod. About 60 friends of the bride-elect called during the afternoon.

Several other affairs are being planned for Miss Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Powell were hosts at a dinner dance given Monday evening at the Portland hotel, the affair being in honor of Mr. Powell's birthday. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Greath, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thornton, Miss Evi Richmond, Dr. McCorkle, Mr. Solly and the hosts.

Mrs. P. M. Heron of Chicago, who is visiting friends and relatives in Portland, entertained Saturday evening at the Portland hotel with a charming dinner party. The table was lovely in a basket of asters and ferns. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Pier, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Pier Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Stanhope Pier, Stanhope Pier Jr., Miss Lulu Trueblood, Marion Pier and the hostess.

One of the interesting engagements of the summer season made known Monday evening at a dinner given by Mrs. J. L. Greene was that of Miss Mazie Cartman, daughter of Mrs. E. Cartman of San Francisco, and Hirsch Harold Bromberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Bromberg of this city. The guests were limited to a few close friends of the young couple.

Miss Cartman is a gifted pianist and classic dancer and during the war devoted much of her time to Red Cross work and the entertainment of wounded soldiers. She is a young woman of rare personal charm and during her two months' visit in Portland has won many friends.

Mr. Bromberg is a graduate of the Washington high school and later attended the Oregon Agricultural college. For the last three years he has been a member of the business staff of the Oregon Journal and is now editor of the automobile department of that paper. He saw 11 months' overseas service. The wedding probably will take place this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hayhurst have returned from a motor trip to Mount Rainier national park.

Mrs. Margaret V. Allen, principal of the Allen college preparatory school, has returned to Portland after a month in California. She spent some time at the University of California and was there for the registration day, which was the largest in history. She also visited Mills college on registration day.

Mrs. Benjamin Weaver has returned
