PRICE TEN CENTS

PROHIBITION DEAD ISSUE, SAYS COX

Great Silent Topic Emerges in Campaign.

"WET" ISSUE SIDESTEPPED

Liquor Question Held an Affair of Yesterday.

TWO RECORDS COMPARED

Sponsor for Governor at Seattle Meeting Holds Him Far Drier Than Mr. Harding.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 11.—Prohibition, the great silent topic of the campaign, came openly into the presidential crusade here tonight at the meeting of Governor Cox of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate.

The governor, after introduction to a large audience here at the arena in which his sponsor, George F. Cotterill, democratic candidate for United States senator, denounced assertions that the candidate was a "wet," made the following declaration:

"As a progressive in government, I know when an event has passed by and become a part of yesterday. The reactionary rarely does. The friends of world peace and the friends of progress will win this election and any attempt to divide them on any question not at issue will be unavailing."

Hot Controversy Expected.

It was Governor Cox's first direct reference to the liquor question. That it would open the doors of the campaign to further and probably heated controversy over prohibition enforcement was predicted.

In introducing Governor Cox Mr. Cotterill charged that Senator Harding, the republican nominee, had for 30 years "been a brewer, owning stock in a brewery at Marion, O., and also had voted 30 times on the 'wet side.'"

Mr. Cotterill also declared that Governor Cox's record in Ohio included a Sunday saloon closing law and general moral leadership. The "wet" charges against the governor, he said, were partisan politics.

Way Paved for Statement.

The brief statement in tonight's speech by the governor, who has been charged frequently with being a "wet" or "damp" candidate, was determined upon during conferences with Mr. Cotterill and others on his train today after a day of bombardment upon him in newspapers, telegrams and letters demanding a statement from him on the subject.

The way was paved for Governor Cox's declaration by Mr. Cotterill in introducing the Ohioan to his arena audience. Mr. Cotterill referred specifically to an attack made upon Governor Cox today by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, a republican paper, which branded Governor Cox as a "wet" and demanded that the governor declare himself and not "dodge" the question. The newspaper printed the alleged letter of George F. Carroll, president of the New Jersey liquor dealers' association dated July 22, which stated that Governor Cox was a pronounced "wet" and declared his nomination "a big victory for our interests."

Two Records Compared.

The Carroll letter also called for aid and funds from the liquor dealers in behalf of Governor Cox. Mr. Cotterill praised the record of Governor Cox on prohibition and other moral issues in Ohio, declaring that he secured in advance of national prohibition the saloon Sunday closing law. Besides charging that Senator Harding owned brewery stock, Mr. Cotterill said the republican candidate had voted 30 times "on the wet side

8 P. M.—Will go to Salem to pass night.
9 A. M. Monday—Will speak in armory at Salem.

3:30 P. M.—Will speak again in the auditorium. Speech particularly for women.
5 P. M.—Will leave for Idaho.

Governor Cox of Ohio, democratic candidate for president, will arrive in Portland this morning at 7:20 o'clock from Puget sound. He will leave Portland for the east tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock.

As no political meetings are held on Sunday, Governor Cox will devote the day to rest and, if the opportunity affords, of attending church services this morning. His secretary has notified Dr. C. J. Smith, democratic state chairman, not to make appointments of any nature for today.

To receive the nominee a committee of 50 has been appointed with instructions to be at the union station when the Cox special arrives. The committee will escort the visitor to the Multnomah hotel, which will be his headquarters while in Portland.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Governor Cox will go to Salem in his car attached to the regular train. He will remain over night at the Marion hotel. From 8 to 9 o'clock Monday morning Governor Cox will hold an informal reception for the business men of Salem in the lobby of the Marion hotel. At 9 o'clock the candidate will speak at the armory, closing his talk at 10 o'clock.

Immediately following the armory address Governor Cox will come to Portland by automobile, arriving in time for his noon meeting at the municipal auditorium. There will be no stops between Salem and Portland for all the time will be required to cover the distance and get the candidate to the auditorium at the appointed hour.

The noon meeting at the auditorium tomorrow is the big event of Governor Cox's tour in Oregon. Owing to the arrangement of his itinerary it is impossible to hold a night meeting, much as the local committee desired. The only alternative is the noon meeting and a second meeting at 3:30 o'clock, also at the auditorium, especially for women.

No Seats to Be Reserved.

At Salem Governor Cox will be introduced by B. F. Irvine. At the auditorium noon meeting State Chairman Smith will preside, while the candidate will be introduced by Senator Chamberlain. At the meeting for women the introduction will be by Mr. Irvine. There will be no reservation of seats at the meetings at the auditorium.

The committee appointed to receive Governor Cox at the depot consists of Oswald West, C. S. Jackson, Will Moore, Milton A. Miller, F. G. Worth, B. E. Haney, Lester W. Humphreys, G. F. LETTER OF WETS DAMAGING TO COX

Democrats Fail to Disprove Hays' Evidence.

LIQUOR MEN TO RAISE FUND

Interests Everywhere Called On to Make Last Fight.

LIGHT WINES WANTED

Charges of Slush Fund Fail to Divert Public Mind From Facts Inquiry Produces.

That the liquor interests of the nation are behind the candidacy of James M. Cox, governor of Ohio, and that the "wets" are raising funds to elect the democratic nominee for president, was exposed by Will H. Hays, republican national chairman. To the United States senate investigating committee, Chairman Hays submitted a letter signed by George T. Carroll, in which Mr. Carroll, as president of the New Jersey Federation of Liquor interests, makes an appeal to liquor dealers. In this communication Mr. Carroll gave assurance that Governor Cox is a pronounced "wet" and that he can be relied upon to approve an amendment to the Volstead act.

Letter Proves Bombshell.

This unrefuted letter proved a bombshell in the democratic camp and the subsequent charges of Governor Cox that a "slush" fund was being raised by the republicans to buy the presidency have failed to divert public attention from the Carroll letter. The document introduced by Chairman Hays, facsimile of which is given in another column, is considered conclusive evidence that Governor Cox is receiving the moral and financial support of the liquor interests of the country. Following is a copy of the letter:

"July 22, 1920.

"Cabain Bros.—Dear Sir and Brother: The organized liquor trade of New Jersey has set out to do its part toward the election of James M. Cox as the next president of the United States and it becomes my duty to call upon you to help. More than that we are going to fight as we never fought before to keep the hirelings of the Anti-Saloon league out of office; to elect congressmen in the 12 congressional districts of the state who will vote to amend the Volstead act so as to permit the sale of light wine and beer; to elect assemblymen and state senators who will: keep New Jersey from ratifying the 18th amendment and prevent the passage of any law concurring in the Volstead act in its present form.

Cox Nomination Held Victory.

"The nomination of Governor Cox of Ohio for the presidency by the democrats is a big victory for our interests and it can be attributed to a great degree to the activity of our trade organizations here in New Jersey and throughout the nation. Governor Cox is a pronounced 'wet' and he can be relied upon to approve an amendment to the Volstead act as suggested above. It is now up to our trade organizations to stand unitedly behind the ticket of Cox and Roosevelt and roll up such a majority as will show convincingly that the public will is in our favor. Are you going to help? Of course you are.

"This is going to be the greatest political fight in the history of the United States. Your liberty and mine has been taken from us. Our business has been unjustly confiscated. The rights of the people have been seized and they are lined up with us in the mighty struggle that is soon to be decided by the battle of the ballot.

"The recent decision of the United

POET LAUREATE NOW LABORS WITH ONIONS

VERBAL ARTISTRY GIVEN UP TO KEEP WOLF FROM DOOR.

Montenegrin Who Regaled Royalty With Heart Throbs Retains Self-Respect Despite Jump.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—From spring poetry to spring onions may be a long jump, yet Tomo Joshov Vukichevich, who used to regale hte royal family of Montenegro with heart throbs, took it without losing his self-respect. Not long ago Tomo, who was the poet laureate of the little kingdom, lost his job, and, like many budding poets, who find it increasingly difficult in these high-price times to keep the wolf from the hallroom door, decided to go to work.

It seemed to Tomo that all the jobs had been filled, but somebody suggested that he consult the Red Cross, which has a station at Podgoritza, and after looking him over they decided he would do in the onion patch. So he went to work and the onions, responding to his delicate touch, thrived like lilies in the field.

Red Cross advices today from Podgoritza indicated that Tomo was using his spare time writing an epic in Serbian blank verse, extolling American relief in Montenegro and incidentally pointing the way to struggling poets anxious to eat.

GOLD BARS TRANSFERRED

New Assay Office Receives Precious Metal Worth $900,000,000.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Nearly $900,000,000 in gold bars, said to be the largest amount of gold in any one place in the world today, is being transferred from the sub-treasury building to the new assay building next door. Most of the gold was melted from English sovereigns and French 20-franc pieces.

OREGON WILL RECEIVE $1,576,152 FOR ROADS

FINAL ALLOTMENT OF FEDERAL FUNDS IS MADE.

Money to Be Available During Next Two Years, Provided State Puts Up Equal Amount.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 11.—Oregon under the final allotment of federal road funds announced today by the secretary of agriculture, will receive $1,576,152 from the federal treasury for use during the next two years in road building, provided the state puts up an equal or greater amount to be spent along with the federal contributions.

The final allotment to Washington is $1,444,628 and to Idaho is $1,226,050. Each of the states must match the federal allotment before July 1, 1922, or its allotment will revert to the treasury and be redistributed among the states which co-operate under the federal roads act.

The amounts named above are the aggregate of allotments under the road acts of 1916 and 1919, and unless congress, within the next year, extends the provisions of those acts or enacts a new federal road law federal co-operation with the states will come to an end with the expenditure of moneys just alloted, and the whole burden of road construction will thereafter have to be borne by the states and counties.

Allotments just announced are larger than any previously made out of the federal treasury, as the law contemplated, and the states in consequence are called upon to appropriate more liberally for roads than ever before in order to receive benefits under this allotment, but the department reports that to date no state has failed to meet, if not surpass, the federal allotment, and in consequence no state allotment of past years has ever been forfeited.

COX CAMPAIGN IS FAILURE THUS FAR

Work More Than Half Over Without Result.

SCANDAL CRY DIES OUT

Three Real Issues Yet Remain for Democrats.

"WETS" STILL HAVE HOPE

Return From West Awaited by Those Who Clinched Nomination, With Faith Yet Unwavering.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Copyright by the New York Evening Post, Inc., Published by Arrangement.

CHICAGO, Sept. 11.—(Special.)—It is now exactly 66 days since the nominations ended with the naming of Cox at San Francisco. From now until the election is 53 days. Of these not more than 50 days are left for effective campaigning. We are therefore well past the middle of the campaign, and it is an appropriate time to sum up what has been done, as well as what is likely to happen.

Cox has done most. He has been the source of the greatest activity. It was expected he would be. Everybody knew the campagin would shape itself with the republicans in the more favorable position, with Cox trying to take it away from them. Cox accepted this role of the offensive; he had no choice but to accept it. In this role he has come up to expectation. I think the picture the public has of him is that of a game young lightweight prize fighter dancing about and delivering the best punches he knows how against an opponent who is more heavy and solid, but less active—an opponent who, let us also say, has a more dignified conception of the proprieties of the game.

Republicans Put on Defensive.

In this role Cox did not make any impression to speak of until almost exactly the middle of the campaign. The first time he succeeded in making the republicans take notice of him was when he made his speech at Pittsburg on campaign funds. That was the first real excitement of the campaign. Cox made the republicans notice him; put them on the defensive; started them to talking back.

During the two weeks that have intervened we have got close to the bottom of that subject. It has occupied the headlines almost every day. The newspapers, both partisan and independent, have been at more than usual pains to print large quantities of the testimony.

Poor Tactics Shown.

If Cox really thought there was a conspiracy to "buy the presidency," if he thought the republicans had, or were going to have $15,000,000, as he first put it, or even the $8,000,000 as he last put it—if he really felt sure of that, it would have been poor tactics to deliver that particular blow at this time. As good a politician as he is would have held it back until the last ten days of the campaign. If he had hoped that this campaign fund scandal was going to be as deadly to Harding as the pre-convention campaign fund scandal was to Lowden, he would have arranged it to break at the same relative time that the Lowden scandal broke; that is to say, about ten days before the election.

I think it is more likely that all Cox hoped for was to get in some kind of a punch and make his adversary take notice. He wanted to overcome, if only for a little while, the tremendous ground swell which everybody knew was running against the democratic party. He wanted to change the psychology which was fatally adverse to him. If he has succeeded in

DALY TRUST FUND WILL BE $700,000

SUM WILL BE USED TO EDUCATE LAKE COUNTY PUPILS.

Board at Organization Meeting Estimates Amount on Hand to Carry On Work.

Young men and women of Lake county, who desire the advantages of higher education in state institutions in Oregon, may go to college for many years to come at no expense to themselves, according to the provisions of the will of the late Dr. Bernard Daly, an old-time citizen of Lake county.

The board of trustees of the fund left by Dr. Daly met and organized yesterday and found that more than $700,000 is left by the will to be used to educate the young men and women of the county, which is very sparsely populated. Probably not more than 15 persons will be available to take advantage of this offer yearly, it is thought.

The board of trustees comprises the president of the University of Oregon, the president of the Oregon Agricultural college and the board of directors of the Bank of Lakeview.

The attorney-general of Oregon has ruled that an inheritance tax of about $150,000 must be paid from the fund, but this matter is being contested by the trustees. The federal government is also asking for a tax of about $20,000. Until these questions are settled, it will be impossible to have any of the money available for students and so the fund cannot be used this year.

The board will hold an annual meeting in June after the high school sessions are over to receive and consider the applications of students who desire to make use of the fund.

INFANTRY SENT TO TEXAS

Battalions at Vancouver Barracks Ordered to Camp Travis.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Sept. 11.—The 1st United States infantry, which has two battalions at Vancouver barracks and one battalion at Fort Lawton, Washington, has been ordered by the war department to Camp Travis, Texas, to become part of the 2d division. The regiment only recently was moved from Camp Lewis to make way for the incoming 4th division.

The 1st infantry will be assigned to the 2d division brigade, in which the two marine regiments served in France, the marines having been detached from the army.

It is stated at the war department that another infantry regiment, probably the 20th, from Utah, also will be assigned to this brigade.

PENDER, BRANSON GET FULL PARDONS

Governor Frees Two in Prison for Murder.

BOTH MODEL PRISONERS

Mr. Olcott Says Plans to Release Men Made Long Ago.

INJUSTICE HELD DONE

Executive Says Desire to Right Wrong Had to Be Delayed Because of Tavern Murder.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 11.—(Special.)—Governor Olcott, following his return here tonight from Cannon beach, granted unconditional pardons to John Arthur Pender and William Branson, each of whom had been sentenced to and had partially served a life term in the Oregon state penitentiary.

Branson was received at the prison from Yamhill county March 3, 1917, on a charge of having killed William Booth, a Yamhill county rancher, near Willamina, Or., October 8, 1915, while Pender was received from Columbia county November 19, 1914, on charge of slaying Mrs. Daisy Wehrman and her child in their cabin home near Scappoose, in September, 1911.

Pender at one time was sentenced to be executed, but his punishment later was commuted to life imprisonment by Governor West. Pender has been a trusty practically ever since he was received at the penitentiary and has been a model prisoner. Branson's prison record compares favorably with that of Pender.

Prison Scene Affecting.

Immediately upon signing the pardons Governor Olcott and Don E. Upjohn, private secretary to the executive, went to the penitentiary. There they were joined by Louis Compton, warden of the prison; Percy Varney, parole officer; James Lewis, deputy warden, J. O. Murray, bookkeeper, and E. C. Hawley, principal keeper. Pender was called into the office of the prison.

"I want to discuss some circumstances of your case," said Governor Olcott, as Pender entered the room and occupied a chair. Then, taking an envelope from his pocket, the governor handed it to Pender and asked that he read its contents. As Pender read the words "Unconditional Pardon" his voice choked and his eyes filled with tears.

"I appreciate your kindness," said Pender to Governor Olcott, "and I want to say that you never will regret your action."

Time and again during the conversation that followed Pender mentioned his mother, whom he said he would strive to repay for her many years of mental suffering.

Branson Not Surprised.

Branson was apprised of his pardon much in the same way as Pender.

"I had expected leniency some day," said Branson, "for the truth will come out. I had nothing to do with the murder of William Booth, and I will return to the home of my parents to start life anew."

Before leaving the prison both men expressed appreciation for the kind treatment accorded them by the penitentiary officials and said they would go out into the world with the one aim of making good.

Both Dr. R. Lee Steiner, superintendent of the state hospital, and Louis Compton, warden of the penitentiary, have long insisted that Pender and Branson were innocent, and their names were attached to the parole board recommendations asking for the pardons.

Cases Long Considered.

"When I first entered the executive office as governor the cases of John
