DEATH OF JESSE D. BRIGHT.

Scarcely had the ink dried on our pen after writing an account of the death of Jno. C. Breckenridge until we are again called upon to record the departure of another Democratic statesman, Hon. Jesse D. Bright, formerly United States Senator from Indiana, who died at Baltimore last Friday.

Mr. Bright was born in New York, where he studied law and was admitted to the bar, but soon afterward removed to Indiana, where his great and varied talents, his ability as a politician, and his fidelity to his party won him unbounded popularity with the Democrats. He became successively Circuit Judge, State Senator and Lieutenant-Governor of the State. In 1845 he was elected to the United States Senate, and continued a member of that body until 1862. Mr. Bright was a Democrat of the ultra State Rights school, and when the civil war broke out his sympathies were with the Confederates. In the early part of 1862, being then a member of the Senate from Indiana, he was charged with disloyalty to the Government. In support of the accusation it was shown that on the 1st of March, 1861, he wrote a letter addressed to "Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States," recommending to him a gentleman who was anxious to sell arms and munitions of war to the Confederacy. This proof was considered sufficient to sustain the charge, and he was expelled from the Senate on the 2nd of February, 1862, by a vote of 32 to 14. Soon afterwards he removed to Kentucky and was elected to the State Senate. Several years ago, we understand, he removed to Baltimore, where he has since resided.

Mr. Bright was a man of very marked characteristics. A lawyer by profession, without being very profoundly versed in legal lore, he was, nevertheless, very successful in obtaining verdicts favorable to his clients. He possessed a vast amount of sound common sense, which, combined with great energy and strength of will, enabled him to retain a high place in the regard of his followmen. He was a gentleman of pleasing manners and fine personal appearance, devoted in his friendships, an estimable citizen, and the noblest work of God—an honest man.

MEMORIAL DAY IN THE SOUTH.—A telegram from Memphis, Tennessee, says business was entirely suspended last Monday, in observation of the memorial services at Elfwood Cemetery, and the streets were crowded with people. The procession was the largest ever seen except at the funeral services of Gen. Lee. Ex-Confederate soldiers almost to a man turned out, and in the ranks were seen the tattered battle flags of both Federal and Confederate armies. At no time since the close of the war has there been such genuine intermingling of the blue and gray as was presented on this occasion.

A man has just been sentenced to imprisonment for eight days and a fine of 100 francs, for having interrupted a marriage ceremony in the Church of Notre Dame des Victoires. He was a disappointed lover of the bride, and by way of revenge he had strewn the floor of the church with a quantity of fulminating pellets, which exploded at each movement of the bridal party and the spectators with so much noise at some moments as to compel a suspension of the service.

FOREST FIRES IN PENNSYLVANIA.—The telegraph gives accounts of terrific forest fires in Pike, Carbon and other counties in Pennsylvania in which millions of dollars worth of property is destroyed and a large area of crops burned. One town, Osceola, is entirely destroyed, and a large number of people rendered homeless. Everybody for scores of miles around were out at last advices fighting the fire.

LAST Sunday Jacob Young, living in Brooklyn, N. Y., murdered his second wife by chopping off her head with an ax, and then went to the cemetery and dashed out his brains on the grave of his first wife. He was evidently on the ragged edge of despair.

DUDLEY is fifteen years old and never had but one breach-of-promise suit, and that was settled by giving the plaintiff's father a pair of cowhide boots with red tops.

DEMOCRACY STRAIGHT FOR US.

Just now that the rumblings and mutterings of the approaching national conflict are beginning to be heard in the land, there comes mixed with its sounds the question of "what will we do with the Liberal element of 1872, and what will be the political affiliations of the men who went with Greeley, and made that splendid but vain attempt to break the ranks of the dominant party? What will be the status of the great Liberal leaders, and where will their followers be found in the coming great struggle?" Already in some quarters there is talk of Liberal alliances, combinations with disaffected Republicans and a fusion of all the elements of opposition under some great liberal chief, some relic of the great disaster in 1872, Chas. Francis Adams is mentioned, as is Judge Davis, of the Supreme Court, and others of that political school. The effort in certain directions seems to be the question of trying another amalgamation, another union of incongruities and unnatural political affiliations, a repetition of the well-meant, but foolishly weak organization which ended in such a complete overthrow of the opposition. We fully believe that we speak the sentiments of four-fifths of the Democracy of Oregon when we heartily echo the words of an able Eastern Democratic paper, which, in reviewing this important subject, positively avers that it "is in favor of and will support and advocate nothing but straight Democracy." We will not run off on another wild goose chase in the coming presidential campaign, as we did in the last one because a lot of policy dodgers sniped the party into that disastrous move. We will not give the influence of this paper—if it has any—to the support and advocacy of a heterogeneous combination formed of men with a variety of opinions uniting upon no essential feature and differing perhaps widely upon great political truths. We want no more liberal campaigns The Democracy can never win under any banner but its own, and its prestige to-day entitles it not only to public leadership, but popular confidence. The doctrines of Jefferson, Jackson and the great lights of the party are yet living in the hearts of thousands who followed its grand principles to a succession of glorious triumphs, and shorn of the objectionable features which contributed to its final overthrow, and which were the natural consequences of an agitation that could not be prevented, there is no reason why the same great fundamental truths in political economy cannot be made popular again, and they can be and will be under pure and able leadership.

We have had defeats enough. It is unnecessary to recount the causes, for they are known to all students of political history, and that they were to a large extent deserved and merited, admits of no contradiction. It is presumed failures have made us wise, especially since they were made against good judgment, not to mention ordinary common sense. But the day of defeats is over. While remembering its stings of disappointment and pain, Democracy also remembers its many and splendid victories, and while the men who were distinguished in Democratic councils, and whose brilliant talents were equal to any emergency, have passed from off the stage of political action, the signs by which they conquered are neither dead nor forgotten, and the Democratic party can and will remember their lessons of wisdom, and enter again upon a series of national triumphs.

The signs of these times are favorable for, and unmistakably point to a Democratic restoration, and it is not wisdom to seek strange alliances, and split the growing power of the party by the introduction of questions that can but divide and destroy it. We listened to the voice of the liberal leaders in 1872. They were given, as far as it was possible to give, the machinery and power of the Democratic party, and those who meant to do their duty in the effort, did it like men, and fought as they never had fought before. Groaning under a burden which was not natural, and having to fight elements which was not reasonably theirs to combat; placed on the defensive, when they should have been the aggressors, they fought under a banner which inspired no enthusiasm and awoke no popular feeling, and knowing the odds which confronted them, they stood up to the rack and did all that courage could expect or duty demand, and yet they marched on to a disastrous and crushing defeat. We want no more forlorn hopes, no more fights in which the ranks of the enemy are emboldened and strengthened by our divisions, and where success is only possible under the most fortunate circumstances. Let the liberal leaders seek homes most congenial to them, to their political tastes and party affiliations. If they are Republicans at heart and only want to work with us to gratify some personal grudge or party wrong, they had better return to their friends and do the best they can. We cannot afford to use the Democratic party as a club wherewith to belabor objectionable Republicans leaders, and the sooner they discover that, the better it will be for all concerned. If however they broke with their old political affiliations, and are honestly desirous of effecting great and needed reforms and can find a home in, and are willing to work with Democracy to effect this, we give them cordial welcome and shall be glad to have their counsel and assistance. But we don't want any more liberal movements to lead the Democratic party. That it was perhaps a desirable thing to consider in '72, is an open question and we will not stop now to discuss it. Certain it is, however, that it was illy conceived and bunglingly managed, and very naturally failed. We would like to accord to the men who led it, credit for an honest purpose, but they either lacked political wisdom or very thoroughly misunderstood the great heart of the Democratic party. We want a distinctive line of policy, Democratic in tone and tendency, and if Charles Francis Adams, and that class of men, can find a resting place for their political hopes within the pale of a straight Democratic organization, we will gladly receive them, and award them such prominence and recognition as may be possible, but no more entanglements. The natural place for the liberal elements in the country is in the ranks of Democracy, and it will go there, if the party maintains an unbroken front and presents the genuine evidences of thorough and practical reform. Let the Democracy of Oregon—whose hearts never were in accord with this Dolly Varden, Greeleyized sort of Democracy—stand firm and be true to their convictions and principles, and the party they love and whose record they admire will assert itself again and lead the country into a new path of honor and national greatness.

THE OPPOSITION.

We have it from the most reliable Radical sources that Mr. Richard Williams will most likely be their candidate for Congress. So it seems the ring fellows were not content with killing Dick off last year, but they want to bury him beyond even the reach of the trump of the political Gabriel.

And it is also currently reported that the great flap-doodle reformationists of Independent proclivities will nominate that mournful funereal procession, Tim Davenport, to lead them "to victory or to death." So it seems that we are to have "Tim-buctoo" over again. Well, the Democratic candidate, whoever he may be, will have an easy-going thing, and we don't blame Bedrock Shep. and other aspiring youths for wanting the nomination. With those fellows to run against it would be just like picking up a certificate of election at the first cross-roads.

WORK FOR THE PRESS.

The Oregonian of Tuesday has the following:

A friend on the Washington Territory side, whose good judgment is generally vindicated by the results of any enterprise he undertakes, suggests a plan by which the newspaper press of Oregon and Washington Territory could give very effectual assistance to the Board of Immigration. His suggestion is that the newspapers make a combined effort to raise funds for the cause of immigration, and that contributions be received and transmitted by any newspaper through which the contributor may choose to send his contributions, the amounts so received by any paper to be published in the next issue after receipt thereof. The good faith of the gentleman proposing this plan is demonstrated by an enclosure of $5 currency, to be handed by us to the Board of Immigration.

The suggestion is a good one, full of practical sense. By these means the newspapers can add greatly to their services to the cause. Why not take up this plan at once, brethren of the press, and thus help directly to "row the boat along?" Let every man contribute through his family newspaper office what he feels able to give to help our State and the people of other States, by bringing these people to our goodly country, and let the amount of each contribution be acknowledged through the paper making the remittance, giving the name of the contributor or not, as he may desire. Is there any objection to such a plan? We see none.

We most heartily concur in the foregoing suggestion and assure our readers that any remittences forwarded to us for this purpose will be properly applied to the object named.

A DISPATCH from Sedalia, Mo., says three members of a family named Finley died of starvation near that place last week. Verily, those people of the older States are afflicted in divers ways. What with grasshoppers, drought, floods, fires, famine, debt and starvation, they have a demnition hard row to hoe!

A KANSAS CITY, Missouri, dispatch says the grasshoppers have penetrated the heart of that city, moving in a vast army, going south. Trenches are being dug and millions slaughtered, but nothing can stop the red-legged pests in their march. The depredations are becoming very serious.

THE sexton of a Boston church last Sunday outraged a young lady named Mabel H. Young, while they were in the church together. Her injuries were so severe that she has since died.

TWENTY-FIVE buildings were burned at Lexington, Ky., last Monday.

CENTENNIAL COMMISSION.

A Philadelphia dispatch of May 21st says:

Creigh, California; Robt. Lowry, Iowa; Thomas H. Caldwell, Tenn.; John McNeil, Missouri; Wm. Gurney, South Carolina, John L. Campbell, secretary; John C. Shoemaker, counselor and commissioner,; executive committee. Daniel J. Morril, Penn.; Alfred T. Gashoon, Ohio; N. M. Beckwith, N. Y.; Alex. R. Boteler, W Va; Richard G. Longfellow, of Massachusetts; reader of Declaration of Independence, Ralph Waldo Emerson, of Massachusetts; grand marshal, General W. T. Sherman; master of ceremonies, General Joseph E. Johnston. The commission adjourned till to-morrow morning, when it will adjourn finally. The executive commission organized to-night, by the election of Dan'l J. Morrel, as chairman. A. T. Goshoon was elected director general, and Meyer Arch secretary.

EXQUISITE DROLLERY.

Landaulet Williams is not much given to joking, and yet, it appears, he has a keen sense of the humorous. In a Western newspaper we find a dispatch from Washington in which the following statement is made: "Judge Williams explains his resignation as Attorney-General by the heavy expenses attending the life of a Cabinet Minister in Washington, and says that he found his salary entirely inadequate to meet his outlay, and that he was constantly getting behindhand." To appreciate the exquisite drollery of this, remarks the New York Sun, it is necessary to know that when Williams first went to Washington he was as poor as a church mouse, and for economy's sake occupied narrow apartments near the roof of a public hotel, while now he resides in an edifice which nearly approaches Little Emma Stewart's pagoda in the pretentiousness of its appearance, the ownership of the house being vested in his wife, while his style of living for several years has been proportionately ostentatious. That he has been able to accumulate real estate in his family which has cost great sums of money, while living at the rate he has, all on a salary of $8,000 for the most of the time he has been in office, indicates either that he is overflowing with fun, or else that he has peculiar ideas of the significance of words when he talks about getting behindhand. If ever there was what is called a forehanded man in office in Washington, Williams is the individual.

MRS. JANE SWISSHELM got disgusted at the Brooklyn kissing, and wrote an article for the papers warning all ladies against the dangers of osculation. "Kate," in the New York Graphic, replies after this savage fashion: "Mrs. Swisshelm's letter is quite enough for me. I can understand just what a dreadful old person she must be. She wears trowsers, I am told, besides that preposterous garment, the 'chemiloon.' If I was a man I would no more kiss such a woman than I would kiss a pair of tongs that had been left out over night in a snow bank. Kissing, when done innocently, is as relishable as strawberries and cream, and as nice If Mrs. Swisshelm could only grow young and pretty, and take off her trowsers and dress like a Christian, she would soon change her mind about kissing. Her letter is the expression of a cross old woman's envious mind, and she ought to be ashamed of herself."

THE San Francisco Chronicle—most Radical of Radical papers—closes an article on the death of John C. Breckenridge with the following generous paragraph: "Let us forget the one mistake of this most gallant and gifted American. Let the remembrance of his error be buried and forgotten in his early grave, and the memory of his distinguished virtues be ever green in the hearts of the people of the whole Union."

BREADSTUFFS IN EUROPE.—A telegram from London, dated 25th inst., says:

The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the breadstuff market, says: A drought has been felt in France and a poor yield is probable. This, coupled with the abundance of grasshoppers in the United States, will make low rates of short duration, notwithstanding continental markets are down sixpence to a shilling.

THE Bulletin is much improved since it became an evening paper. It contains much more reading matter and of a better class than previous. Politically, of course we don't go a red on it, but in a journalistic sense we are glad to see its present evidences of improvement and prosperity.

THE Governor of Missouri has set apart June 3rd as a day of fasting and prayer against the ravages of grasshoppers. Why couldn't he have included the pestilential carpet-baggers in the same boat with the red-legged hoppers?

LITERARY women in Nevada also take a hand in business. Misses Clapp and Babcock, principals of the Sierra Seminary, have taken a contract to furnish iron fencing for Capitol square at Carson for $5,500 in gold.

PACIFIC COASTERS.

Oregon crops never better.

Scarlet fever rages in Sacramento.

Big picnic in Jefferson to-morrow.

Olympia has two ladies' boat clubs.

A circus threatens to invade Oregon soon.

The Dallas land office will be opened next month.

Silver City enjoyed a nice snow, storm on the 16th inst.

A Woman's rights convention will be shortly held in Idaho.

Gen. A. Redington, of California, died last Sunday, aged 73.

Regular Sunday street preaching in Portland; and they are well patronized by passers by.

Owing to the late rains the picnic crop of Oregon was very backward until the last week.

Grasshoppers have appeared in Southern California and are making havoc with the crops.

A big gang of Nevada Indians have gone to Utah to be baptized and join the Mormons.

A Los Angeles man has decamped with $8,000, leaving a wife and $13,000 in debts behind him.

Harvesting has commenced in some sections of California, but in most places the crop is very light.

The Black Hills delegation to Washington consists of nineteen chiefs and Mrs Spotted Tail.

The body of J. D. Locey, who was blown up on the Senator, has been recovered and properly buried.

To-morrow is Memorial Day and the Oregon Grand Army will celebrate and decorate at Portland.

Seven persons are in the Jackson county Jail awaiting trials for murder They will all be tried before Judge Prim.

Hill Beachy, the great Pacific coast man, was last Friday stricken with paralysis, in San Francisco, and died on Sunday.

A party of prospectors about Quartzville, on the North Santiam have struck diggings which pay 15 cents to the pan.

Jackson and Josephine county mining prospects very promising. So are some of our delinquent subscribers but they don't pay.

The Salem Farmer asks: "What causes the scab?" A row at a spelling school would probably breed one as quick as anything else.

The great Palace Hotel in San Francisco has a ladies' billiard saloon. We suppose for a time, at least, Miss Cue will be the champion player.

The son of an Italian nobleman is a waiter in a Petaluma restaurant. He is probably in a more respectable business than his father ever was.

That pestilential fraud, the drummer, has been ruled out of Port Townsend, and the town has had to take up a collection ever since to live.

Another victim of the exploded steamer Senator was found floating in the river at Portland, last Sunday, but it could not be recognized or identified.

It was not Naught, but Knott, and Knott was not killed, as was at first reported, but only bruised in the row with Burrows, near Amity, Yamhill county, last week.

Nevada ice-dealers are already preparing to double their prices next summer, upon the ground that the crop will be almost entirely eaten up by grasshoppers.

Three hundred more immigrants arrived by "Ajax" Wednesday. If this thing keeps on much longer we won't know whether we are one of these or one of those.

"Poor Tacoma!" is the disrespectful way in which the Olympia papers speak of the Sound terminus. Why in thunder can't they let a starving mendicant die in peace.

Mr. Yancy, who lives in Coast Fork precinct, Lane county, has a calf about three weeks old that was born blind and tailless. There are creases in the skin where the eyes should be.

Wm. Preman, if these few lines meet your eye, please "come forrid," as your devoted wife is in a paroxysmal state of grief about you. She is in New York yet, where you know you left her.

General Michler, of the United States Engineer Corps, will examine the Willamette as high up as the terminus of Spring navigation, with a view of estimating the cost of contemplated improvements.

Jerry Luckey, of Ochoco, came down last Friday via the Dalles. He brought to the Dalles 192 head of beef cattle, selling at that point for 4¼@4¾ cents a pound net. One of the "beef critters" weighed 1,704 pounds.

Ireland, of the Astorian, puffed Mattie Gaylord, and Mattie puffed him in return, and now since he has found that Mattie was a fraud he wants to crawfish on his puff and dissolve that little mutual admiration society.

Harbor Commissioner, John J. Marks, of San Francisco, has just been convicted of embezzlement and sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary. Served him right. He didn't make the right sort of a Mark as Commissioner.

The placer diggings at the head of Ochoco are paying well. Uncle Jimmy Douthit and a Mr. Foster own the lion's share of the paying ground, having bought up the claims. They have put in a hydraulic, and have some 15 men at work. A partial clean up of a few days run showed $200. Uncle Jimmy says he has ground enough to afford him work for the next ten years, and the only draw-back is the lack of water, the water affording work for about six weeks only.

Edward Ashley! Whar is ye? Your sister, Mrs. Sarah Ann Crabtree, of Baxter Springs, Grasshopper suffering and bleeding Kansas, wants to hear from you. You better trot yourself in sight or there will be trouble in the Ashley-Crabtree family.

A Portland man named Warnekros last Sunday saw a boat sinking which contained four little boys, and plunging in the water and swimming to them, by his bravery and presence of mind he succeeded in saving them all from a watery grave, although he was compelled to make two trips to do it.

The Portland Evening Journal, in alluding to steamboat explosions on the Willamette river, relates the following interesting story connected with the loss of the steamer Gazelle, at Canemah, April 8th, 1854. It says: "Lieut. Grover had just come to Oregon, and was at Canemah on his way to Salem, when the fearful accident occured. Of course the Lieutenant rendered every assistance possible, and did all he could to save the wounded and drowning. He saved several and among them was a baby girl. This was twenty-one years ago, and only a few months ago Lieut. (now Colonel) Grover, led this same infant he had rescued to the altar and made her his wife.

Last Saturday an astounding plot to arm the prisoners of the State Penitentiary, thus enabling them to overcome the guards and make their escape, was divulged by a prisoner named Wilson, a partner of the notorious Schultz, who gave Superintendent Watkinds the particulars of the scheme. A young man by the name of Arthur Cox had charge of a gang of prisoners employed in the blacksmith shop, and according to the statement of this man Wilson, had already furnished a number of revolvers and one shot-gun, and was to furnish more during Saturday and Sunday nights; and Monday morning the revolt was to commence by threatening the superintendent with instant death if the gates were not opened and they allowed to escape. It is surmised that the friends of a prisoner named Alexander furnished the money to buy the guns, and Cox was employed to bring the arms into the inclosure by climbing over the fence near the brick yard and disposing of them where the prisoners would, by previous arrangement, know where to find them.

DRIFT OF TRAVEL.

We find in the San Francisco Bulletin of the 10th instant, the following statistical information concerning the movements of population.

It is now six years since through railroad connection between California and the Atlantic States was effected. The through business of the line has been steadily increasing from the start. The principal revenue is from passengers and freight. The number of through passengers carried to and from San Francisco is annexed:

| Years. | Arrived. | Departed. |
| 1869-70 | 27,200 | 15,100 |
| 1870-71 | 30,600 | 24,300 |
| 1871-72 | 28,700 | 20,700 |
| 1872-73 | 38,100 | 22,800 |
| 1873-74 | 59,900 | 36,100 |
| 1874-75 | 65,300 | 25,700 |
| Totals | 240,000 | 134,700 |

It will be seen that the railroad has added nearly a quarter of a million to our population. It is noteworthy that while the arrivals during the past year have been 9,000 larger than in 1873-74, the departures have been actually less. The immigrants which have arrived have been generally of the character wanted to develop the State.

A larger number of passengers arrived at San Francisco last month than for any corresponding month in the history of the port. The steamers brought us nearly 5,000 and the railroad over 8,000. The number by rail is larger than for any previous month, and would have been still greater but for the interruption by the floods. Of those by ocean routes, 3,470 came from China and Japan, 1,100 from New York and Panama, 130 from Australia, 125 from British Columbia and 65 from Mexico. The immigration from China has set in a month earlier than usual, and hence the large number from that section of the world. The departures by steamer numbered less than 900, chiefly to China, Panama and British Columbia, while the departures by rail were 2,443. The net gain for the month is nearly 10,000.

THE Sioux chiefs, now in Washington, left the Tremont House and went to another hotel because the former was a temperance house and would not let the poor Lo's have any whiskey.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE, in his "Saxon Studies," says: "To be a thorough German cook requires only a callous conscience, a cold heart, a confused head, course hands and plenty of grease."

A mastodon skeleton weighing 1,600 pounds, the largest ever found, has been sent to Yale College from Otisville, in Orange county, N. Y., where it was dug up two years ago.

BESSIE TURNER says she'd rather wash for a living than marry a literary man. We s'pose Bessie thinks such a husband would Turner out a washer-woman in the end anyway.

THE argument of the counsel in the Beecher-Tilton case still continues. It will probably be two weeks yet before the case will be submitted to the jury.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

PRIVATE MEDICAL DISPENSARY

QUICK CURES MODERATE CHARGES

DR. W. K. DOHERTY'S PRIVATE MEDICAL & SURGICAL INSTITUTE

(FOUNDED IN 1853.)

No. 649 Clay Street,

Between Kearny and Montgomery st's,

SAN FRANCISCO.

DR. DOHERTY'S Largely and Steadily Increasing Practice, which has necessarily kept pace with the unexampled increase and steady growth of the Pacific Coast, induced his removal from his long established and well-known quarters, on the corner of Sacramento and Leidesdorff streets, to this city, to more commodious and elegantly located apartments, at No. 649 Clay Street, where he has a spacious suite of handsomely fitted up and conveniently arranged Examination and Consultation Rooms, occupying the whole of the two upper stories which patients may at all times reach, and see only the Doctor and his assistants.

With the most grateful sentiments of regard for the liberal patronage bestowed on him for the past thirteen years, at his old office, desires to inform the General Public, and especially all those laboring under all forms of Chronic Complaints, that he can be consulted at 649 Clay street, on every variety of Disease of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive and Genito-Urinary Organs, and all of which the list is numerous, and which are more closely connected with the general health than the majority of people are aware. Unhappy invalids for years persist in concealing their condition from a motive originating in mistaken delicacy, and so suffer in silence until their miseries become too acute to be repressed, or have assumed a form that renders healing both difficult and expensive. This latter type of affliction manifests itself in the complaint professionally known as Syphilis, in all its Primal and Secondary Seminal Weakness, and all the distressing forms of Self-Abuse, or Onanism; Gonorrhœa; Stricture; Nocturnal and Diurnal Emissions, Sexual Debility, Diseases of the Back and Loins, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, etc., etc. The number of persons suffering from these horrible Diseases, in whom the Doctor has effected a radical cure, can be counted by the thousand, and the voluntary certificates in his possession, received from persons he has relieved, are enough to satisfy all that the Doctor's skill in the treatment of the affections, enables him to cure all curable cases, and in every instance give relief. Diseases which formerly baffled the medical skill of the most learned and experienced Practitioners of the healing art, and were regarded by the majority of Physicians as utterly incurable, now readily yield to modern remedies, when prescribed by the intelligent Practitioner, who makes the human system, and these special ailments, his constant study and subject of observation.

DR. DOHERTY

In no case is publicity permitted except at the express wish of the patient; and the Doctor confidently trusts that his long experience and successful practice will continue to insure him a liberal share of public patronage. By the practice of many years in Europe and the United States, he is enabled to apply the most successful remedies against diseases of all kinds.

He cures without mercury, charges moderate fees, treats his patients in a correct and honorable way, and has references of unquestionable veracity, from men of known respectability and high standing in society. All parties who may consult him by letter or otherwise, will receive the best and gentlest treatment.

To Females.

When a female is afflicted with disease, as weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, irritability, nervousness, derangement of digestive functions, general debility, all diseases of the womb, hysteria, sterility, and all other diseases peculiar to females, she should go or write at once to DR. W. K. DOHERTY, at his Medical Institute, and she will receive every possible relief and help.

Let no false delicacy prevent you, but apply immediately, and save yourself from painful suffering and premature death.

To Correspondents.

Patients (male or female) residing in any part of the country however distant, who may desire the opinion and advice of Dr. Doherty in their respective cases, and who think proper to submit a written statement of such, in preference to holding a personal interview, are respectfully assured that their communications will be held most sacred.

The Doctor is a regular graduate, and may be consulted with every confidence.

If the disease be fully and candidly described, per mail communication will, in most cases, be necessary, as instructions for diet, regimen and the general treatment of the case itself (including the remedies,) will be forwarded without delay, and in such a manner as to convey no idea of the purport of the letter or parcel so transmitted.

Should your condition require immediate attention, send ten dollars in coin, (or that value in currency) by Mail, or Wells, Fargo & Co's Express, and a package of medicines will be forwarded to your address, with the necessary instructions for use.

Consultations, at the office or by letter FREE. Address W. K. DOHERTY, M. D., San Francisco, Cal.

The "Bonanza" for all.

Invalids, by persons debility, dyspepsia or acute feelings in relation of health and the system, should take a few bottles of Dr. HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED U. S. A. BITTERS; one bottle is taken they will feel the first step to restoration, or returning health. In cases of dyspepsia, indigestion, loss of appetite, rheumatism, kidney or liver disease, has proved itself its restorative power. Every organ in the human system requires and should receive sustenance and support from the stomach, regulated by the liver. If the stomach cannot supply the element required, the whole system languishes. Twenty years' organs of life use these bitters, and in a few days you will find your whole system invigorated; for every disease arising from disordered liver, stomach or bowels, it is invaluable; it will revive the shattered system. Dyspeptics and persons of sedentary habit should keep it within reach; they value health and ease. n6m3
