FAST RIDING. -On last Friday af- | yields to its magic influence. ternoon two of the boys of this city undertook to run a race on the street in the lower portion of our town, and after running a short distance the horse rode by Master Maurice Abbott run over a dog, which threw the horse and unseated the boy .-The horse turned completely over the boy, and thereby saved his life -as it was he was on his horse in a few moments and rode home. The other boy, Ira Miller, was arrested on the spot and taken before the proper officer and fined, for violation of law, in the sum of ten dollars and costs, in all eighteen dollars. A warrant for the arrest of young Abbott was issued on Saturday, but he was too unwell to appear for trial. The judgment in the above case was a righteous one. A few more arrests and fines will teach the fast young fry of our city that they cannot ride through our streets as fast as they see fit, and that they will be compelled to pay some respect to the safety of our citizens who may be on the streets.

Several of the citizens east of the mountains were in our city, last Monday, on legal business.
