Man's Inhumanity to Himself.

The most inhuman outrage, outrage which would disgrace the savage, man perpetrates upon himself by swallowing drastic purgatives which convulse his stomach, agonize his intestines and weaken his system. Many people constantly do this under the impression that medicaments only which are violent in their action, and particularly cathartics, are of any avail. Irreparable injury to health is wrought under this mistaken idea. The laxative which most nearly approaches the beneficent action of nature is Hostetter's Stomach Bitter, which is painless but thorough and invigorates the intestinal canal instead of weakening and irritating. The liver and the stomach share in the benign discipline instituted by this comprehensive medicine, whose healthful influence is felt throughout the system. Malarious, rheumatic, kidney and nervous complaints succumb to it.

Leo Gerhardt, "Cupid" Warren, "Tex" Stouffmeyer and Bert VanCleave, all charter members in the order of Native Sons of Never Work, forgot their obligations to the society the other day and for a few minutes joined the street cleaning gang under the superintendency of Gang Boss M. H. Kriebel, also a member of the order. After a brief period at this violent exercise, large beads of perspiration began to rise on their many foreheads when each came to a realizing sense of his obligation taken when initiated into the order and promptly threw down his shovel and jumped the job.

Harry M. Holden and Mr. Matlock arrived here yesterday morning at 9 o'clock from Eugene, having come on their wheels from that place a distance of 43 miles, in a little over four hours.

A sample of barley, 70 inches in height and well headed out, was brought into this office yesterday morning by Sol King, which he claims is a fair sample of a crop of several acres now growing on his farm north of town.

Lawyers J. Fred Yates, J. R. Bryson and W. S. McPadden, of Corvallis, were at Toledo this week, attending circuit court. Owing to the absence of Judge Fullerton in Coos county, Judge Shattuck, of Portland, presided. The docket was very light, a few references were made and one indictment was found by the grand jury.

The Corvallis carriage factory, under the very efficient management of Mr. C. H. Gleim, is far exceeding the most sanguine expectations of the new owners. All payrolls and bills are paid promptly and orders are coming in reassuringly, indeed. Dray loads of vehicles are passing daily—in transit to all local and southern markets.

An opportunity will be afforded Corvallis next Sunday by the Oregon Pacific to spend some hours on the beach enjoying the fresh ozone. The weather is delightful there now and one should miss the opportunity. The train will leave Newport at 7:30 a. m.; returning, leave Newport at 6:30. Fare for round trip, $1.50, including steamboat fare between Yaquina and Newport.

Senator B. F. Alley, of Lane county, who alone succeeded in defeating the bill creating the county of Blaine, and to whom the residents of Benton county feel under everlasting obligations for the success he attained in town, accompanied by Geo. M. Brown, the republican nominee for prosecuting attorney. Both of these gentlemen have been traveling in the different counties comprising the judicial district, and say that wherever they go, indications are most favorable for a republican landslide.

Why the people of this county should be called upon to vote for Virgil Watters for recorder is a mystery. When elected two years ago he was residing at Yaquina. His home and his interests are in that district, and say that to build up the interests of this county, and if defeated in June, will move away from here either to Portland or Yaquina. So far as Mr. Watters' fitness for the office of recorder is concerned, he is nothing but a blank. He has done nothing to build up the interests of this county, and if defeated in June, will move away from here either to Portland or Yaquina. He has done nothing to build up the interests of this county, and if defeated in June, will move away from here either to Portland or Yaquina.

The Times has another of those spells. Its edition of last night again misquotes the GAZETTE regarding the infamous resolution adopted by the democratic county convention. Files of this paper are kept constantly on hand that any taxpayer in the county may peruse what we have said on the subject referred to. In these articles the sentiment is nowhere expressed that we are opposed to electing a man to the office of recorder who is constantly on hand that any taxpayer in the county may peruse what we have said on the subject referred to. A McMinville dispatch, under date of May 22, says: Howard Shadden, the 9-year-old boy burned in the Shadden residence this morning, died today. His abdomen was torn open by striking on a picket fence when he leaped from the window. A 6-year-old girl was also burned to death, her head, feet and hands all being burned off. The firemen reached her bed by ladders, but found it vacant and they were driven back by the flames. Scores of cartridges were exploded in the fire, sending out bullets and scattering the firemen. Nettie Guild, a servant girl, sleeping with the little girl, jumped from the bed, screaming for the little girl to run for her life. She ran down stairs, through the flames, alarming the other sleepers in time to escape.

The nomination of Judge Lord for governor calls to mind an amusing and possibly prophetic incident that occurred some years ago on the Bull Run and Sandy stage. He had been out on the line and was returning to Portland, when the driver, Leon Cohen, being in some what of a hurry to reach the city before dusk, touched up his horses with the whip and put them through at a lively rate. The wheels touched the high and low places in the road in such rapid succession as to severely test the springs and keep the occupant of the stage bouncing about the interior like a rubber ball. Finally the driver slackened his speed and Judge Lord thrust out his head to expostulate; but just then the whip cracked again, the horses jumped into a run, and as the judge was jerked violently back into his seat he heard the driver shout, "My Lord, sit still and you will get there."

Public School Commencement.

Next Thursday night the graduating exercises of the Corvallis public schools will be held at the opera house. The program is one full of interest and patrons and friends of the school are cordially invited to be present. The class is the largest of any in the school's history, numbering 39. OBITUARY.

Mr. Millard A. Beach died at his home Saturday morning, May 19th, at 6 o'clock, aged 45 years.

Mr. Beach was born in Hamilton, N. Y., where he grew to manhood, and in 1877, married Miss Anna Sticker, daughter of Mr. John Sticker of this city. In 1888 he came with his wife to Oregon and made Corvallis his home. A genial, unpretentious man, he soon won the confidence and respect of all who became acquainted with him by his honorable and upright life. He had been an invalid before coming to Oregon, and while this health-giving climate for a time seemed to restore his strength and give him a new lease of life, yet the fatal disease still held its grip and after weeks of intense suffering he bravely, submissively, and with Christian faith and hope yielded to the inevitable. His death, though not unexpected, has fallen with crushing force upon a faithful and devoted wife, sister and brother who are left to miss the kind presence of a loving husband and brother who, through weeks of pain, was patient and solicitous of those who, even while ministering to his weakness, were objects of his anxious care.

The funeral took place at 2 o'clock, Sabbath, from the Presbyterian church, and was very largely attended. Rev. E. J. Thompson, D. D., officiated. The remains were taken to the Odd Fellows' cemetery for interment, and many a token of love and respect was laid upon the grave of him so universally esteemed. The bereaved family and friends have the sympathy of the entire community.

"Lincoln county," says a GAZETTE reporter who has just returned from there, "is infested with a terrible contagion, now found very plentiful in all its several degrees, from the acute to the convalescent forms." We do not know but will leave our readers to judge what stage the writer of the "notes" which our reporter copied as the train came by Little Elk, which may have been a campaign dodger of their regular official printer for all we could tell: "Notes For Spaking, Little Elk, Oregon, 1894—Their will Bee Spaking at—Nashville School House Bye the Candidates on the poppest tikit of the County speaking commences May 28th 2 p. M. Every one sould bee present." This "poppest's" disease had undoubtedly taken such a hold of the writer that he was unable to sign his name. Dear fellow, you'd better get out of that now while you can, or else you'll not be able after June 4th.

A new feature of the present canvass is several ladies who are working industriously against Ed. Bryan. It is to be regretted that a nomination has been made to which the ladies so seriously object, especially as many young ladies acting as school teachers are necessarily brought into contact with the school superintendent. Mr. Bryan may be innocent of the charges brought against him but it is unfortunate that it is possible that any one may be elected to that important office whose reputation may injure that of young ladies with whom he must officially communicate.

Dr. Thompson will conduct memorial services at the Oak Ridge Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock. The graves of soldiers and friends buried in the Oak Ridge cemetery will be decorated at that time. An earnest invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

Regarding Geo. M. Brown.

The scurrilous attacks made against George M. Brown, the republican candidate for prosecuting attorney were begun at the convention by W. H. Cottle, of the State insurance company. It is claimed that this was done at the instance of the company to get even on Mr. Brown for prosecuting very vigorously some claims against them, and compelling that concern to pay its honest losses. We have the assurance of the business men of Roseburg that Mr. Brown is a man of the highest honor and integrity, and that the charges made against him are wholly false. The people of that county have asked for his nomination; they guarantee his fitness for the place and we have no reason to doubt their sincerity. Mr. Brown is all right and will secure the full support of his party in this county. The following is Judge Fullerton's opinion: "George M. Brown, the republican nominee for district attorney, has resided in Douglas county all his life. He read law in my office. He was admitted to practice law in 1891; and at once secured a fair share of the business of this county and his practice has steadily increased, until at this time he has about as much business as any attorney in the district, and with one exception, the largest business in the county. He has the reputation of an honorable man and a good lawyer."
J. C. FULLERTON,
Judge 2nd Jud. Dis.

Osborn Resorts to Slander.

The attitude of the Times, when taken in connection with the reports which Dave Osburn's friends are circulating about George W. Smith, leave a little doubt, that, as a last resort, it has been decided to elect Dave by the most unfair means a candidate can employ—that of slandering his opponent.

Osburn deserves defeat for the manner in which he is conducting his campaign, if for no other reason.

Circumstances, purely accidental, placed him in office two years ago; those circumstances do not exist and cannot avail him at this time. Therefore, he has abandoned the humble attitude, which characterized his campaign two years ago, and employed such tools to conduct his canvass, as would disgrace a Digger Indian.

The suit at law, recently instituted against George Smith, seems to have been instigated solely to injure his chances in the election.

Let no republican be deceived by this and other underhanded means being used against Smith. He is much the better man for the place and is making a straightforward manly fight for it, he has refrained from publishing statements of facts about Osburn, which are known to be true and which are much more damaging in their nature than those in circulation about Smith.

Give Smith the majority he deserves and put a stop to campaigns in which slander predominates.

Neglecting His Duty.
Having heard that Mr. Bryan denied the charge of neglecting his official duties, the GAZETTE man called at the court house yesterday morning and with the assistance of Deputy Clerk Wilson, carefully overhauled the records and official reports of the county court, but failed to find any trace of Bryan's annual financial report which the statute plainly says the county superintendent shall file the 30th day of June each year.

It was discovered, however, that he had by no means neglected to file his quarterly bill for salary and fees. For the year ending June 30th, 1893, he drew from the county exchequer $357.70, and for the fiscal year has already received $73.20. In July he will draw from $150 to $300 more. Thus it is seen that this official receives nearly $1,000 annually, yet it is claimed that at least a dozen schools in the county have not been visited by him during the past year. Do the taxpayers wish to continue a man longer in office and pay him a thousand dollars a year when he utterly fails to perform the duties incumbent upon him?

Philomath Excursion.
A grand basket picnic, under the auspices of the Benton county republican club, will be held at Philomath on Monday, the 28th inst. A special train will leave Albany at 8:30, Corvallis at 9 a. m., returning, leave philomath at 5:30 p. m. Tickets for the round trip from Corvallis only 25 cents. Hon. C. S. Hannum will address the meeting at 11 a. m.

Bring your big baskets of chicken pie and other good things and spend an enjoyable day in the cool grove by the babbling, purring brook.
Go to the Delmonico for the best meal in the city.

Our County Superintendent.

The time is now at hand when conscientious, intelligent voters should be giving the object of their votes due consideration. As intelligent men interested alone in the welfare of your homes and county, I appeal to you. What kind of men do you want in office? You will agree with me when I say one of the most important offices on the ticket is that of school superintendent. The time has come when our children must have better educations and a deeper knowledge of learning than ever before, to cope with the business world and stand in the social circles of our present advanced age. To give our children the advantages they should have, we must necessarily have the proper power behind the throne. At the head of our schools we must have a man that is refined; that has a good moral character; one that when our girls or our children's names are associated with his, it will be an honor to them, not a degradation. Furthermore, he must be interested in his school work. Law is all right in its place, but its place is in a law office, not mixed up in our public schools. Fast horses are a treat to the eyes of those who admire the beautiful, but they have a place on the race track and no school money should back them. Such things are entirely foreign to the interests of our children and should not be tolerated by an intelligent public. A superintendent who is interested in his work and the rising generation, will visit his schools, look to the moral character of the teachers and properly perform the duties for which he is paid. He will not express his abhorrence for teaching—neither will he state he would as soon starve as to follow it for a vocation. Not far back in the history of the Benton county schools, we can find a superintendent who was interested in the welfare of the pupils, providing they were girls and had reached the age of 18 summers. But under such rule and discipline our poor boys and our little girls who are unfortunate enough to rank beneath the age which inspires interest, must forgo the hallowed influence and tender sympathies of a school superintendent. Fathers, you have daughters who are teaching—girls who need your protection in this none-too-friendly world. Are you doing your duty as fathers—as voters? Do you put the right man in office over your girls? Do you want a man who will be an honor to your homes, your county, your schools? Such I am proud to tell you comes from the little town of Philomath in the person of R. F. Holm. Investigate for yourselves. He is a man of good moral character and is fully qualified in every way to fill the position and is and has been for years interested in school work as a teacher. I trust the intelligent class of people who read this will ponder it seriously. And may the time soon come when our leading men in office will be men of refinement and high honor; then we will be proud for our children to copy their examples.
L. DEE.

THE GAZETTE is in receipt of a letter from Mr. F. A. White, of Philomath, denouncing Ed. Bryan as a man unfit to be school superintendent. He also sends a copy of a libel which he says was written by Mr. Bryan, and which he tried to get White's wife to sign in order to clear his name from some stain upon it. Mr. White evidently believes that his family has been wronged by Bryan and says most men in his place would have gone for Bryan with a shot gun instead of exposing him to the public. We do not know what there is in Mr. White's complaint, but as he requests that his letter be published, we make this reference to it because if we declined to mention such a matter when it is sent over the signature of a reputable citizen who is willing to stand the blame and take the consequences, we might be thought to be in sympathy with conduct such as Mr. Bryan is accused of.

Tired and Run Down.

O. W. R. Mfg. Co., 315 Front street, Portland, Oregon. Dear Sirs: I was completely worn out from overwork; could not sleep at night, and felt that I was approaching a serious condition; but, thanks to Dr. Grant's Sarsaparilla and Grape Root, I am almost an entire new person, as I never felt so well in my life; and it was the cheapest doctor's bill I ever had, as I only took five bottles. I cheerfully recommend it to all afflicted.
Yours respectfully,
MISS EMMA LEE,
237 Eleventh street, Portland, Oregon.

Bropsy and Heart Disease.

Gentlemen: For two years I was afflicted with Dropsy and Heart Disease, and my sufferings were terrible. I commenced taking Dr. Grant's Sarsaparilla and Grape Root, and by degrees my pain seemed to leave me. After taking nine bottles I was restored to my former health, and now feel as though I never had been ill.
Yours truly,
JOHN CURRIN,
Spokane, Washington.
