TRICKY ADVERTISING.

It is just as well for colleges to be honest in their advertising. People seldom expect circuses to come up to the promises of their show bills, but educational institutions are supposed to be imbued with a higher moral sense, and it is not expected that they will resort to deception and tricks in order to increase their attendance.

When the regents of the Agricultural College advertise free tuition they mean it. The student of the O. A. C. has to pay no tuition whatever, whether called tuition, incidental fee, or any other name; and not only is the tuition free, but the students in the agricultural and mechanical departments can, if they will, earn almost, if not quite, enough money, by working on the farm or in the shop, to pay their expenses through school.

A tuition fee of ten or fifteen dollars per annum of course is considered but a nominal fee by a great many students whose parents can and do pay all expenses, but it means considerable to those who must make their own way through college.

The Lincoln County Leader takes the acquittal of M. M. Davis very much to heart. It seems that Mr. Davis, who was cashier of the Yaquina branch of Hamilton, Job & Co., transferred all the funds at Yaquina to the parent institution upon its failure, acting under the direction of the court.

EVILS OF SENSATIONAL JOURNALISM.

The San Francisco newspapers not only reflect the peculiar and deplorable moral condition of the California people, but they feed and foster the morbid appetites of their readers. The San Francisco Examiner is the leading type of those papers that consider it enterprising to spread before the people highly colored and sensational details of every revolting crime that its reporters can scent out.

The leading paper of Oregon is the Oregonian. In fact it is the paper of the state. It contains daily all the important news of the world in a plain, readable shape. The paper has always taken a high stand on public questions. It is often on the unpopular side, for the masses are not always alert as to what are really their best interests.

When the regents of the Agricultural College advertise free tuition they mean it. The student of the O. A. C. has to pay no tuition whatever, whether called tuition, incidental fee, or any other name; and not only is the tuition free, but the students in the agricultural and mechanical departments can, if they will, earn almost, if not quite, enough money, by working on the farm or in the shop, to pay their expenses through school.

There is small hope for newspaper reform in California. The appetite of the people for sensationalism has been so built up that the successful gratification of it is a paying business. They want the "dime novel" style of a newspaper and of course they will be able to get it. It is easier to corrupt people than to reform them.

A PRACTICAL INSTITUTION.

The Oregon Agricultural College is thoroughly a practical institution. It aims to give its students a practical education—an education for use. It does not neglect the esthetical nor the mental sciences, but everything that is taught is intended to have a direct bearing on the actual condition of life. The merits of the institution are not yet fully known throughout the state.

Corvallis is a good, moral town. Her citizens are such as one would naturally expect to find in a college town and are alive to the fact that the best interests of the college are identical with the interests of the city. The Agricultural College is not a reform school, but it is the constant endeavor of the faculty and citizens of Corvallis to remove any undue temptations to students from abroad. The college can be commended to those parents who wish to give their boys and girls a practical, useful education.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder World's Fair Highest Award.

SINCE January 1st the imports at New York are about $48,000,000 greater than during the corresponding period last year. The world is still getting our markets instead of our getting "the markets of the world," as was promised as a result of the Wilson-Gorman tariff.

The Washington Star says that Mr. Cleveland's particular friends at the capital are very close-mouthed on the third-term question, but there is a very general opinion among those known to be in the confidence of the administration that Mr. Cleveland very strongly desires a renomination.

THE Cleveland administration has already increased the national debt $297,412,011 by the deficit, the principal and interest of the item bond sales.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

An accident attended with fatal results occurred last Thursday afternoon on the Thurston farm, near Wells. Charles Suber, who lost his life, was driving a bundle wagon with a threshing crew. When near the machine, with a load of grain, one of the wheels of the wagon which was driving struck a stump with such force as to throw him headlong off the load onto the double trees. This frightened the horses and, as they started to run away, Suber dropped to the ground, one of the front wheels of the heavily laden wagon passing over his legs, and one of the hind wheels over his body. The injuries sustained by the unfortunate man were of an internal nature and though a physician was summoned from Buena Vista immediately after the accident, he only lived about twelve hours.

The deceased was about thirty-eight years of age, a native of Germany, and unmarried. Previous to last November, he had been in the employ of Geo. W. Smith for a period of six years, and was regarded as faithful, honest and industrious. The remains were interred in the cemetery at Buena Vista Thursday afternoon.

Small Beginnings

Make great endings sometimes. Ailments that we are apt to consider trivial often grow, through neglect, into atrocious maladies, dangerous in themselves and productive of others. It is disregard of the earlier indications of ill health which leads to the establishment of all sorts of maladies on a chronic basis. Moreover, there are certain disorders incident to the season, such as malaria and rheumatism, against which it is always desirable to fortify the system after exposure to the conditions which produce them. Cold, damp and miasma are surely counteracted by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. After you have incurred risk from these influences, a wineglassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters directly afterward should be swallowed. For malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaint, kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness and debility it is the most deservedly popular of remedies and preventives. A wineglassful before meals promotes appetite.

A SUNDAY MORNING FIRE.

Sunday morning fires are abominable. A blaze at any time is bad enough, but ten times worse is it when your regular Sunday morning snooze is interfered with by the clanging of the bell, which serves notice that you must up and dress and proceed instant to the scene of the conflagration or pay the penalty. This penalty to members of the department is fifty cents for each offense and it serves splendidly as a medium for bringing out a full attendance whenever an alarm is turned in, no matter what day or hour.

Perhaps this was not the cause for bringing out so many of the boys last Sunday morning, but devotion to duty alone will hardly cause the average citizen to forego his Sunday morning's nap, so it is believed that the fear of the penalty was a potent force in getting the fire laddies out last Sunday.

The alarm was turned in a few minutes after seven o'clock and the blaze proved to be at the old planing mill on First street. This is the second time this structure has been on fire during the past month and each time it has been saved from serious damage by the prompt arrival and efficient service of the department. The blaze is thought to have been of incendiary origin, from the fact that there had been no fire about the premises after the mill was shut down the evening previous. Mr. Sheagreen, one of the proprietors, says that before leaving the building Saturday night, he looked carefully around the boiler and engine room for evidences of fire and is certain that there were none. The fire started in the northeast corner of the building, only a few feet distant from the boiler, and ran up the siding to the roof, but the damage was only slight. However, the supports of a large beam which held the boiler in place, was burned away, allowing it to drop slightly out of position. The repairing of this took some time, but the mill is now running as usual.

IN JAIL ON A SERIOUS CHARGE.

Last winter a young man, hailing from Southern Oregon, was expelled from the Agricultural College. At the time it was not generally known for what cause he was requested to leave, but it was understood that his offense was a grave one. Since leaving college his whereabouts have been unknown to his former friends in this city, but it was the general impression that he had drifted into the southern portion of the state. His name was Garland Stenler.

The following item taken from last Thursday's Examiner, dated at Yreka, California, probably refers to the same young man and shows that his career of crime did not end upon leaving Corvallis, but that he had developed into one of the worst of criminals:

"The two prisoners in the county jail, Louis Marnio, a Spaniard, and Garland Stenler, an American, charged with the attempted robbery and murder at Bailey Hill, Monday night, refuse to make any statement, except to assert their innocence.

"Stenler, who was arrested in Pokenaga this morning and brought here, was immediately taken to the county hospital, where he was fully identified as one of the robbers by one of the victims, who lies seriously, but not necessarily fatally, wounded, having been shot twice in the head and once in the neck. On his way to the jail, the officers questioned Stenler as to how he got blood on his coat. He claimed it was from a squirrel he had killed.

"Marnio was also identified by Miller. Marnio had a wounded hand, which he claims was caused by an oyster can, but the doctors this morning pronounced it a pistol wound. Marnio has written to the Spanish consul. He claims he has wealthy relatives. He has engaged Lawyer Frazier as his attorney, and, as the evidence against him is circumstantial, he will make a hard fight.

"George Sears, the other victim, still lies at the point of death at Bailey Hill, with no hope of his recovery. He has survived two serious shooting scrapes. The officers are confident they have the right man."

DEATH OF MRS. A. LEUILLING.

Tuesday morning, at the family residence in Linn county, adjoining the farm of Joseph Yates, after a lingering and painful illness, Mrs. A. Leuilling died of internal cancer of the breast. The deceased has been a resident of Oregon but two years and was a comparative stranger outside of the immediate neighborhood in which she lived. But with those with whom she was associated, she was regarded as a person of more than ordinary refinement. She displayed those noble characteristics which go to make up the life of a loving mother and devoted wife. Prior to coming to Oregon, her husband practiced law in Kansas. He is the only brother of Ex-Governor Leuilling, of that state, and at one time figured quite prominently in politics there. He came to Oregon and settled, in hopes of benefiting the health of his family by the change. In response to a telegram, Mrs. Etta Frank, their only married daughter, arrived from Kansas only a few hours previous to her mother's death. The deceased leaves a husband and three children, one son and two daughters, who, with a large circle of friends, will mourn her demise.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of Testimonials. Address, F. J. Walked with Crutches

Rheumatism—Eczema—Swelled Neck—Hood's Cured.

"For two years I have been sick, having been confined to the house for a year. I had had eczema for nine years, having skilled physicians, but received no benefit. Last winter I caught cold and became Afflicted With Rheumatism, which put me on crutches. Last July I commenced to use Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had finished one bottle I laid the crutches aside. After taking two bottles the eczema had left me and I was almost entirely free from the effects of a swelled neck. I know that it was Hood's Sarsaparilla that cured me and I think it cannot be recommended too highly. Although 57 years old, I feel young again." Mrs. S. P. SIMMONS, East Springfield, Ohio.

A BUTTER FRAUD.

EDITOR OF GAZETTE:—

The following words are from a circular that is being circulated over the state, and I think best to call attention to it as being one of the many frauds that are being perpetrated in these days. I also desire to caution your readers against being led into the purchase of the stuff, which is doubtless nothing more nor less than the now well-known "black pepsin," which analysis proves to be 84 parts common salt, 14 parts of anato and two parts of rennet and organic matter. Two ounces of the material is sold for $2.50 and is really worth about 3 cents. There are several other mixtures of a similar nature and for a similar purpose being foisted on the people. The words referred to are: To whom it may concern: I am able to demonstrate to any person that one pound of creamy butter can be increased from twenty-five to fifty per cent, both in weight and volume, by the addition of sweet milk. One pound of butter is capable of taking up one half pound of milk. This is done without lowering the grade. No trace of foreign matter is left in the butter thus treated." The family right for the use of this method is offered for the small sum of $5.

Persons who are so "penney wise, pound foolish" as to purchase any of the so-called rights should bear in mind that by its use they become fit subjects for dealing with the state food commissioner, by rendering themselves liable to prosecution. Besides, such practice is bound to act as a boomerang and destroy what reputation for good butter making the users of the article may have previously had. Farmers should not be deceived into buying the mixtures, for the material (we cannot call it butter) made with its aid soon spoils and is unfit for trade. The claim that the yield of butter is increased is simply false. The so-called increase is brought about by incorporating with the butter fat the casing, milk sugar, and other constituents of the milk, and the decomposition of the nitrogenous matter soon renders the entire mass rancid. Our attention has been called to samples of this material, and no doubt the parties using it will cease after being acquainted with the facts. G. W. SHAW, Chemist, Oregon Experiment Station, Corvallis, August 9, 1895.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS.

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful Speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR Invested can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system. It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousands.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

Write for Convincing Proofs, also our Manual on successful speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success. For further information address
