OUR SCHOOLS.

We gladly call attention to the interest now being taken in the schools of this county. But a few years since, the school funds, small as they were, accumulated in the county treasury from year to year unless used for other than school purposes, so little was the interest taken in schools and such the character of our early settlements. How vastly different now! Our county is rapidly filling up with families, induced to come here on account of our rich soil and healthy climate, not as formerly, to remain a few years only, in the interest of some speculation, but they are locating permanently; completing settlements and building up schools in all parts of the county; so that now the school funds, though much increased, fall far short of making up half the amount paid to teachers alone. There are now between thirty and forty schools in active operation in the county with a total of about 1200 pupils. A nation's destiny may be read in the character of its schools; the more generally educated its votaries, the better are they prepared to fill its various departments of office, to prevent usurpation of power and to perpetuate its existence. History proves the perpetuity of any Republic to be in ratio with the education of its subjects. Much more might be done than is done in our own county, in building up and sustaining our schools. Parents are to apt to regard dollars and cents to too great an extent in the education of their children; while they employ skilful and experienced workmen to make their clothing, build their houses, etc., at advanced wages, yet they are satisfied to trust their children to the care of a cheap teacher without any normal training or experience whatever; it is not uncommon for a man to pay fifty dollars for the training of his horse for a week, and then object to paying ten dollars for the training of his child for twelve weeks. Too generally is education held to be a subordinate matter, to be attended to when we have nothing else to do and yet can get a cheap contract.

THE WALLOWA TROUBLE.

The telegraph furnishes the following outlines of the report of the commission consisting of Jerome, Barstow and Stickney of the board of Indian commissioners, and Brig.-General Howard and Maj. Wood of the U. S. Army, appointed in October last, to inquire into the status and claims of the so-called non-treaty Nez Perces, and to effect a settlement on a permanent basis of the difficulties existing between them and the settlers. Several councils were held with the Nez Perce Chief Joseph and his band, in which he was urged to relinquish his claim to the Wallowa valley in Oregon, and to settle on the Nez Perce reserve in Idaho, under promise of receiving good agricultural lands there, with aid in opening farms and building houses; but Joseph refused either to go on any reservation or to settle permanently in Wallowa valley, and insisted on his inherent right to roam wherever inclination prompted, and to his ownership of Wallowa valley in particular, to the exclusion of white settlers. The Commission therefore recommended that, unless Joseph removes voluntarily to the Nez Perce reserve within a reasonable time, he be forced to remove thither by the military, if necessary or that depredations committed by him or his band be made the occasion for placing them on the reserve by military force; and that meanwhile troops be stationed in Imnaha valley; also that all leaders of the sect called Dreamers, who have a powerful influence over Indians in Oregon and Washington and Idaho Territories, in teaching them to despise civilization and ignore the authority of the United States, be required to go upon their respective reservations, or in case of refusal, that they be removed by force to the Indian Territory. The Commission were also instructed to consider the subject of reduction in the number of reservations and agencies in the above State and Territory, but owing to the lateness of the season, were unable to take the long journey necessary to a proper understanding of the matter. They are, however, of the opinion that fourteen agencies in the department of the Columbia may be reduced to five, the proceeds of the sale of reservations to be used to defray the expense of removal of Indians and of establishing them in new homes, provided that heads of families have the privilege of remaining where they are and taking a reasonable quantity of land in the several Territories, under restrictions as to alienation, and that selections of land already or hereafter made by Indians under treaty stipulation be sacredly observed. The Commission also urgently recommends the extention of the United States law and jurisdiction of the U. S. courts over Indian reservations.

ENUMERATION OF INDIANS.

Major Cornoyer, the very obliging Indian Agent for the Walla Walla, Cayuse and Umatilla Indians, has placed us under renewed obligations for the following results of an enumeration just completed of the Indians under his charge:

Indians.	Men.	Women.	Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Walla Wallas	30	57	24	29	140
Cayuses	91	128	60	65	344
Umatillas	33	48	39	25	145
Total	154	233	123	119	629

The boys and girls are enumerated as being under 15 years of age. There are on the Columbia river belonging to this reservation but who refuse to remain on it, and now living with renegades from other reservations, an estimated number given by the Indians here, as follows:

Indians.	Men.	Women.	Boys.	Girls.	Total.
Walla Wallas	23	26	17	19	85
Umatillas	30	51	22	27	130
Total	53	87	39	46	225

The drouth California is now experiencing likely to destroy the crops, or will so reduce them that they will be a failure.

From the Capital.

SALEM, January 15, 1876.

EDITOR E. O.—As I promised you so faithfully that I would be on hand and on time last week and then failed to write at all, I thought I would be almost ashamed to write this week; but when I saw the EAST OREGONIAN I was glad I didn't, for I saw some one had favored you with a splendid letter from this valley.

In the past two weeks the diphtheria has been making fearful havoc among our little ones; it spreads destruction wherever it goes, and when it gets its horrid, horrid clutches upon little children it seems impossible to check its ravages. No less than ten children have been snatched away from this mortal world of sorrow to one immortal and where no more sickness nor pain will disturb their little bodies; and while their parents, friends and youthful companions are almost inconsolable at the loss of those held so dear, still they have escaped years of sorrow, pains and tribulations, which all must endure who live a natural life—perhaps all is for the best.

Farmers are taking advantage of the beautiful Winter we are enjoying and are getting ready for an enormous crop of grain next season. All are happy and looking for better times next season. Many have refused $1 per bushel for their next year's crop of wheat, and some have already bargained their next crop at that figure; it is now quoted at $1. There will undoubtedly be a larger amount of grain produced in Oregon next year, if nothing in the weather prevents, than there ever has been before. Acres upon acres of thick timber are being cleared, and in many places the extensive farmers have employed Chinamen by the dozens to rush ahead their work while the nice weather lasts.

FLOATING CHIPS.

The school at Albany has closed on account of the diphtheria. The disease was never known to prevail to such an extent before in Oregon.

Sawtell's troupe gave two nights' theater last week. The first evening (Wednesday) they announced to play the Two Orphans, the same play that was being performed in the Brooklyn theater when it was burned and so many lives were lost. As all the fun-loving people were anxious to see this play the Opera House was crowded, and all went home highly delighted. The second night (Thursday) Long Strike—ditto.

A few days since we noticed on the Chemeketa hotel register the following, "A Mallory and wife, Heppner." After a conversation with Mr. Mallory we ascertained that he was on a visit to his son-in-law and daughter, and would probably remain here a month before returning to Heppner.

A drunken gentleman (?) and an intoxicated squaw were arrested and consigned to the calaboose for being under the influence of a fighting class of whiskey—all happened last week.

There was a dance over in the "holler"—South Salem—the other evening, and all went off amicably: only two fights and a half dozen knock-downs. But, while I am aware that the readers of this "conglomeration" will feel as though they had lost a friend when they get through, nevertheless I'm done. R. E. PORTER.

MEETING IN LA GRANDE.

The following preamble and resolutions were passed at a meeting held in La Grande January 8th, of which Judge Alberson was President and J. T. Outhouse Secretary, and which were sent us for publication:

WHEREAS, Grave questions arising out of the late presidential contest are still pending; and whereas, there is reason to fear in the settlement of these difficulties the country's peace may be destroyed and the nation plunged in all the horrors of civil war; therefore be it

Resolved, 1. That in this hour of national trial it is the duty of every good citizen to rise above party, and act only for the good of his country in seeing the constitution maintained, the laws executed, and justice administered.

2. That the ballot box is the great palladium of our liberties; that the doctrine that majorities must rule is fundamental in all free governments; and that all attempts to corrupt the one or set aside the other must be resisted by all the means in our power: as we regard such conduct as treason to the government, which if successful must end in the establishment of a despotism on the ruins of a free republic.

3. That in the final decision as to who has been elected President the decision of the people at the ballot-box must be the test of action, and the result must be declared accordingly; and we deny the right of any man or set of men to set aside that decision, when the constitutional requirements of which have been complied with.

4. That the people, having spoken at the ballot-box, should now see that the man constitutionally elected be constitutionally inaugurated; and we pledge our support of the means necessary to be used that this end may be accomplished.

5. That the peace of the country is of more importance than the election of either Tilden or Hayes; that the maintenance of the government is of more importance than either peace or the success of men; that public justice is the foundation of public peace, and that peace cannot be maintained unless justice be done in this case.

6. That we are in favor of peace consistent with patriotism and liberty; that we will exhaust all constitutional means in carrying out the will of the people; and then should military power be called in to effect by the sword that which was defeated by the ballot, we will in the defense of our liberties oppose force to force to the bitter end.

7. That we approve and endorse the conduct of Governor Grover in his decision on the electoral vote of Oregon; that he did only what his oath and the law demanded and justified; and that all denunciations of him by a press which endorses the action of the Louisiana Returning Board is but a compliment to his honesty and regard for the constitution of his country.

FROM THE WALLOWA.

A correspondent at Prairie creek, Wallowa valley, writes the EAST OREGONIAN thus: "It is holidays, and all are happy—happy to know that here as elsewhere Christmas and New Years comes every 12-month. We understood that a commission had been appointed to settle affairs between ourselves and the Joseph band of Indians; but we are in the dark about the matter. The weather here until Christmas was fine, and stock was fat and doing well; but at present we have 6 or 8 inches of snow, and I think it will make stock "rustle" to keep up appearances if we dont get a chinook wind to lift it." T. R.

IN THE SNOW!

GRANITE CREEK, OREGON, January 9, 1877.

EDITOR EAST OREGONIAN—Dear Sir: I've nothing else to do, and a few notes from Granite may be acceptable to your valuable sheet.

Christmas was celebrated at the North Fork Bridge by a pleasant party given by T. B. Wells. Though the storm clouds were low, and the snow fell thick and fast, yet snow-shoes and cayuses combined brought the party together. A pleasant dance and a good supper rewarded them for their trips. Then on New Year night Mrs. Harvey Robbins gave a supper at the Monumental Mine; dancing was the order of the evening and they tript the fantastic toe till early dawn; all danced to their hearts content and slid down the mountain on their shoes in the morning as happy as larks. Music was by the string band, Mr. Jack Haggard, first and last fiddler, never tiring, and always in a good humor. Should he come out your way, get him for he will fiddle for you like the d—l and we recommend him where'er he may go.

The Winter so far has been unusually mild. Snow fell on the 20th of December and continued at intervals until the 1st of January, got to the depth of 14 or 15 inches then turned warm and commenced raining, and this morning the south hill sides were bare and the streets of Independence muddy. The aborigines perhaps recollect of muddy streets here at this time of the year before, but the whites don't. The road between here and Ft. Sumter, Baker county, has been traveled with teams up to the present time.

Mr. A. G. Tabor has lately returned from San Francisco looking fat and hearty. Mr. Taber started from here some two months since with three or four tons of rock from the Monumental Mine, the sale of which proved very satisfactory to all parties interested. Mr. Chas. Miller an expert in quartz is here now examining the mine with the intention of purchasing the same. He is also giving other good veins a thorough examination; he says he is well pleased so far; and I believe that we will hear the steam whistle of quartz mills playing Yankee Doodle in these mountains yet.

The majority of the placer mines in this vicinity has been worked out. The Chinese are doing the most of the work in the placers now. Mr. Stub Johnson sold his claims in Westfall Basin the other day to Chinamen, price $400, cash $200, balance 1st of July.

Mr. Win Johnson has gone to Baker city to rusticate.

Mr. Jas. Tryon has come in here from Birch creek to rusticate.

"Big Steve" says that H. H. Horse medicine beats anything to sober up on and quiet a man's nerves that he ever struck.

MORN ANON.

UNION COUNTY ITEMS.

J. Dickey, proprietor of the Blue Mountain House, has bought out the La Grande hotel.

Several important land cases were tried before the Register and Receiver of the U. S. land office during the preceding week.

The hearts of the young were made to rejoice by a Christmas tree on Christmas night, given by the La Grande Sunday School.

The bell recently hung over St. Peters Church (Episcopal) in this place is quite an improvement as well as convenience to the members.

The weather has been fine, with occasionally a little rain up to the middle of last week, when it commenced freezing and as I am writing it is snowing.

The Grand Ball given by the La Grande brass and string bands on the evening of December 25th, 1876, was a success; also the Grangers ball given on the 29th.

La Grande brass and string bands meet every Saturday evening at their hall. They are prepared to play on all occasions that the services of a brass and string band are needed.

Protracted meetings has been held at the M. E. Church by Reverend's Hines and Hayes since December 20, 1876; from all appearances it may last all Winter—no results so far.

Tom. Foster and Mr. S. Souder two of La Grande's old citizens left for Iowa a few days ago; Mr. Foster goes to visit friends and relatives; Mr. Souder to procure the services of a young lady as housekeeper and sharer of his joys and sorrows.

The second term in the present school year at the Blue Mountain University commenced January 2nd, 1877. The higher department is presided over by Prof. J. L. Carter; intermediate, L. J. Rouse; primary, Mrs. Kelley; there are about ninty students in regular attendance, quite a number of whom are from a distance.

The mill-dam belonging to W. J. Snodgrass, at Oro Dell, went out during last week. X-10D-ED.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.—The Albany Democrat of the 12th instant says: "A most diabolical attempt at wholesale murder was discovered at the Court-house last Saturday morning. One of the gentlemen at the Court-house went out to the well in the morning to get some water, and as the pump did not seem to work very well he unscrewed the top to find out the cause. There he found a small bag of white powder, which by chemical analysis was proved to be arsenic. Small pieces of lead had been fastened to the bag to keep the action of the pump from raising it, and it had then been thrust down with the aid of a small stick. What could induce a person to commit such a crime could hardly be conjectured, as its magnitude is very great when we come to remember that the Central School is supplied with water from this well. We did not suppose that our fair young city was cursed with the presence of such an inhuman wretch as this person must be, and we blush with very shame when we find it our duty to give publicity to his crime. If he could be found our people would make way with him in very short order.

"John McDevitt of the Washington police force testified that Murtagh tried to have Congressman Whitthorn decoyed into a house of bad repute." This is strange indeed, as the average Congressman dont need to be decoyed.

The Warm Spring Indians shot and beheaded their "medicine man" a few days ago because every one of his patients died. The murderers have been arrested.
