SATURDAY, SEPT. 1, 1877

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE REDUCED!

IN ADVANCE: 1 Year, $3.00; 6 Months, $1.80; 3 Months, $1.00

R. M. Wait, at Dayton, is paying 60 cents a bushel for wheat delivered at his mill.

Total assessment of Clarke county, W. T., $770,355. Population last March, 3,708; number of families, 781.

The Tacoma Herald says: "The hop growers in the Valley want 2,800 pickers this year, to commence September 1st."

The population of Klicitat county, W. T., is 1,341; an increase of nearly 50 per cent. in two years. There are 239 families in the county.

A man by the name of Trout was drowned here a few days ago, says a Puget Sound paper. What of it? Water is the natural element for a trout!

DIED.—In Dayton, Aug. 18th, of lung disease, Mandie Pearl, daughter of Dr. J. H. Kennedy, aged 3 months and 12 days. Wife and both children gone within a few weeks, and the Dr. is alone in the world.

A certain neighborhood in Oregon, desiring mail facilities, have petitioned for the establishment of a postal route, and give as a reason why such prayer should be granted, "that it would accommodate 28 large and rapidly increasing families." Good enough reason.

The Palouse Gazette is announced to appear about the 1st of September, at Colfax, Whitman county, W. T., by Kellogg and Hopkins. Its principal object will be the development of the agricultural interests of that section of territory, and to furnish reliable information to emigrants.

Some of the farmers in the Willamette valley think there is a wheat ring formed and forming in Oregon, made up of shippers, millers and warehouse men, and they are not slow to express their opinion. There is a plan on foot among the farmers to pool their grain and hold it till the ring is broken.

BADLY HURT.—The relatives in this city of Agent Monteith, of Lapwai Indian agency, have just received the intelligence that he has been hurt internally by being thrown from a horse. He had accompanied General Howard part of the way over the Lolo trail, and was returning, when the accident happened. He was taken to the agency to receive medical treatment, and although some better when the letter was written, was still confined to his bed. His case had been examined closely, but the extent of his injuries were not yet known.—Albany Democrat.

ROUGH ON HIGBY. The Portland Oregonian contains the following telegraphic dispatch, dated Cleveland, Ohio, August 27:

Senator Grover, Portland, Ogn: We, the undersigned members of the bar of Cleveland, without respect of party, having read in the newspapers that one Wm. B. Higby has been making affidavits tending to show that money had been used to influence your election to the U. S. senate, desire to state that we knew said Higby while here, and that we would not believe him under oath and that he is known to us as an unmitigated liar; that he was charged with the crimes of forgery, embezzlement, obtained money under false pretenses and adultery; that we know of, and was driven from here by the bar association of which we are members.

RAILROAD MEMORIAL. The following is a brief statement of the contents of the memorial to Congress for assistance to the Salt Lake railroad:

1. That the land grant on the north branch of the North Pacific be transferred and applied on the Salt Lake line.

2. That the North Pacific shall be built on the south side of the Columbia from Portland to the junction of the Salt Lake road with the Columbia.

3. That from the junction of the two roads to Portland it shall be a common road for both lines.

4. That if the North Pacific does not build this common line on the Columbia within a specified time that the Salt Lake line shall do so.

The memorial in behalf of the North Pacific simply asks for "extension of time" under the old charter, as follows:

"They therefore respectfully pray that the petition of the Northern Pacific railroad company, for an extension of time under its charter, to enable it to complete its railroad, may be granted."

SUCCESSFUL FARMERS.—The following from one of the Walla Walla papers (we forget which one) gives a truthful picture of the wealth of the Columbia basin: "We hear of three farmers living near the foot of the mountains who live this year market, between them, 36,000 bushels of wheat. The first and most extensive cultivator of the soil is Hon. John Scott, who with his own labor and that of his sons, has raised 10,000 bushels. His neighbor, Philip Yanny, Esq., off two hundred acres of land, has raised 10,000 bushels, and the third is C. Mair, Esq., whose crop is estimated at 10,000 bushels. All three of these gentlemen cultivate their own farms, and the crop of this year is the result of the labor of themselves and families. Mr. Mair also gives considerable attention to the raising of stock, and hence his wheat crop does not make as large a showing as it would under other circumstances. These farmers are representative men, and it will be seen that their aggregate income from the sale of grain alone, at 75 cents a bushel, foot up $27,000. Of course deductions are to be made for sacks and other expenses, but with all these taken off they are still left with incomes that, in other countries would be regarded as clerical fortunes.

THE INDIAN WAR.

General Joseph, like General Sherman through Georgia, is making a successful March through Montana via which-over way seemeth best to him, with no opposition.

Last week Howard's forces had a little skirmish with the hostiles, by which he lost one man killed and seven wounded. The Indians stole two hundred horses from him.

August 24 the Indians were on Madison river, Montana. They killed one man, and drove off stock. The families all fled to Virginia City.

The Indians at above date were fast making for the Yellow Stone country; also troops under command of Gen. Miles were fast moving up that river to intercept the Indians.

A dispatch dated Helena, August 27th, says: A Herald's special from Mammoth Hot Springs, Montana, of the 26th, says: Our party were attacked to-day about noon. I am the only one so far as known that escaped. Probably they will come in to-night. I will give particulars from Bozeman.

F. J. PRYSTER. The party consisted of, among others, the following persons, all residents of Helena: Joe Roberts, Andy Weikert, Richard Dietrick, and F. J. Pyster.

HOT SPRINGS, GARDENERS RIVER, AUG. 27, 1877.—To Geo. Carpenter, U. S. Assay Office, Helena: Emma, Ida and myself are alive. Cowan and Oldham are killed. Saw Cowan and Oldham shot. The balance are missing and I think all are killed, but don't know. Will send particulars when I reach Bozeman. The Helena party are all gone except one. All are missing. The Indians fired into their camp. Joseph, Looking Glass and White Bird were chiefs.

F. CARPENTER. HELENA, AUG. 27.—The following was just received from Fort Ellis, Montana, August 27th: Gen. John Gibbon, Helena—Lieut. Schofield reports he was on the top of Mount Washington yesterday. Indians appeared in Geyser basin on the 24th inst. They struck the Helena and Radersburg party, killing seven women and taking two women and one man prisoners. Just as he left Mount Washburn yesterday the Indians attacked another party, killing also of them. One scalped. The Indians released Mrs. Cowan, her sister and brother, who reached Scofield yesterday. The main camp crossed the Yellowstone on the 25th. The warriors went back to fight Howard. White Bird and Looking Glass remained with the camp. Joseph went with the warriors. They say they are going to Wind river and Camp Brown to get supplies. Schofield thinks they are going to the lower Yellowstone via Clark's ford. They crossed the river between Mount Washburn and the lakes. Schofield does not say just where he will send a courier to Sturgis.

BENJAM. Captain 7th Infantry. Granite Creek Letter.

ITS MINES, MINING AND MINERS. GRANITE CREEK, AUG. 5, 1877.

MR. EDITOR.—Work of every description is being vigorously forwarded, and are all in excellent spirits and laboring with a will.

The Monumental tunnel is moving toward the ledge at a lively rate. Rock breaks exceedingly well, and if the contractor be thus favored until the completion of the enterprise, the ledge will probably be cut in November. Great interest is taken in the tunnel by all interested in the welfare of the camp, confident that valuable and highly important discoveries will be made through its agency. Thus far several very promising veins have been cut, showing conclusively that the Monumental hill is a complete net work of small though rich ledges. Surface prospecting has been discontinued for the time being, the further development by the incorporation will be left to the tunnel.

Prof. Tiernan, a well known expert paid our camp a visit a few weeks ago, inspecting every ledge in course of development, and expressed himself satisfied with the prospect showing him, and gave Oregon the credit of possessing the richest mineral belt on the coast. This gentleman is not only a scientific but a practical miner, has watched the development of every ledge of any importance this side of the Rocky mountains, and the compliment passed on our camp by one so familiar with the many rich and extensive mineral belts is flattering in the extreme. The famous Austin mines could not at the same depth show as handsome a body of ore as can be found in the Monumental, but to-day the mines alluded to declare a nice dividend and will be valuable property. The ore found here resembles in every respect the Austin ore and must be reduced in the same manner. The development of our quartz field has been attended thus far by many difficulties unknown to the outside world; mines opened by men without capital, every expedient resorted to in order to meet their necessities, still they persevered confident in time that the tide would turn and their cherished hopes regarding the future of Granite Creek mining district realized. The realization of their great expectations will be in the immediate future, and through the medium of penniless but energetic and persevering men, an inexhaustible and fabulously rich camp opened that would do honor to proud Nevada. The development of the Monumental has fully established the permanency of that ledge, and the rich quality of ore taken from the mine surprised those who have made quartz mining a life time study.

PHIL SHERIDAN. Shaft is still enjoying a rest, and operations will not be resumed in this direction until the drain is completed. This improvement is being energetically forwarded and will soon be completed.

THE RATHER. Company were visited by fire early last Sunday morning, and the tunnel house and contents destroyed. When the 10 o'clock whist left the tunnel all was well, but about 2 o'clock they were awakened by an explosion caused by a box of caps and found the building in flames. The fire had made such headway that it was impossible to save anything whatever. No cause can be assigned for the fire, and the boys call it a case of "spontaneous combustion." This company have ever displayed great energy and the injury done will soon be repaired. It is generally customary to keep powder, caps, etc., in the tunnel shaft house, but the Rather boys have a small house some distance from the tunnel, which they use for a magazine. If the powder on hand had been in the tunnel house it would have demoralized everything within a reasonable distance, and the loss would have been seriously felt. Miners as a general thing exercise but little care in handling giant powder, keeping boxes of it in close proximity to the blacksmith shop, handling it with impunity, and that accidently from such carelessness have not happened is a mystery. The Rather tunnel was at a standstill for several days in consequence of the fire, but is now moving rapidly along. The rock at present writing is hard and tight, and works very hard. They propose to run eighty feet further and then crosscut for the ledge.

THE BUENA VENTURA. Ledge is serenely quiet, those interested are occupied in another direction, operations however will soon be resumed.

THE SUNSET. Ledge, located by J. R. Brown and John Cabell, proven to be very valuable. Cabell is sinking a shaft on his location with very flattering results. The ore taken from the shaft looks remarkably well, assays well in gold, and will make the boys a nice "stake."

Other ledges have been discovered that look well, but we will wait further development before we speculate as to the future.

Our friend T. B. Wells, of Bridgeport, "struck" the north west extension of the extensive gravel range or boulder quarry, alluded to in our last, and has commenced operations on it. We are well satisfied that it is the extension of our valuable mine, the general character of the rock being the same; the boulders however are smaller, owing doubtless to the fact that they rolled seven miles further, and the wear on the rock in traveling that distance would be considerable, and would lessen its size very materially. Ben is working his valuable discovery on a gigantic scale, and is confident of making an extraordinary profit. We can imagine the feeling of Ben when gazing on his gold bearing quarry, and while the water is performing its allotted task, we can almost read the golden idea that is passing through his mind. But a few days ago we were engaged in a similar enterprise, were looking eagerly forward to a bright future, confident that our possessions would not only enrich but immortalize us; but alas, the bright bubble burst, and we found ourselves ten feet over the "ragged edge of despair." Our former partner visited the New Eldorado a few days ago and found Ben hard at work in the race throwing huge boulders with a will, unmindful of the crashing sound of falling boulders, his mind intent on his rich possessions and his great reward. Ben being inexperienced in mining, conceived the idea of employing mining talent to operate the hydraulic, and found a gentleman named Foo Sing Whooop, in every way worthy the name of miser, to superintend the working of the mine, while Ben would content himself with a subordinate position in the race. Under such circumstances operations commenced and evening went on as a marriage bell for a portion of the day. Miners usually working hydraulic claims have some particular place to throw the pipe when their assistance is required elsewhere, or when dirt is running too fast, and from the water soaked appearance of Ben on the day Nell visited the claim, it struck him very forcibly that the superintendent used Ben's back for this purpose. This state of affairs existed for sometime and we suppose became decidedly monotonous to the party operating in the race, and he concluded to handle the nozzle while himself and let Mr. Lung try his hand on boulders. Accordingly Ben approached his worthy "Super" and made known his purpose. It seems this gentleman had inherited a feeling of pride and considered it would be placing himself on an equality with his service, if he was to make the desired change, and concluded rather than do so would sacrifice his position and exalted position. This he immediately did and left Ben "monarch of all he surveyed." This was indeed a trying position for the discoverer, but he considered himself equal to the emergency and he has assumed complete control and will henceforth conduct the enterprise himself. We are anxiously awaiting the end of the run, after which it is the intention of the owners of the two gravel ranges to consolidate with the porcelain discoverer and enter into partnership, and there so made a discovery of vast importance, one that will bring him prominently before the scientific world and hand his name down to posterity. The component parts of this matter are electro-scorpicide 30 per cent; pulverized mahogany 40 per cent; and tincture of the tincture 30 per cent. These terms are unknown to the scientific world, and Mr. Nail deserves great credit for having made this valuable addition to the already extensive vocabulary of scientific terms. Electro-scorpicide resembles very much the finest emery and can be by the method invented by the professor be obtained in large quantities at small cost, and will eventually, when its superiority over emery is fully established, be generally used in lieu of that rather expensive article. It is the intention of the above mentioned parties to consolidate under the name of the R. S. M. Co. (Rader Stop Manufacturing Company), and thereby make profitable use of the important discovery made by Mr. Nail. From the returns from the gravel range and extension we feel that we can raise sufficient capital to meet our necessities and place our enterprise on a paying basis. In this enterprise there will be no elevated sluices or hydraulics used. Frank Rack, well known in your vicinity will be traveling agent for this company, and we hope through his influence to obtain the support of the German population throughout the State. Weather has been remarkably warm for the mountains and at present we have every indication of a rain. WFM.

Mr. John Miller is now lying sick in Walla Walla.

Harvest is all over in the Walla Walla valley, but they will not get through for some time on the hills.

Our streets are full of emigrant wagons every day.

We have two meat markets. French & White is running one, Quinn & Gunno the other.

Mr. Sheets formerly of La Grande is putting up a blacksmith shop in Milton. This will make four shops in town.

Herman Creger is about to locate in Milton.

The road is full of teams hauling wheat to the railroad.

Quinn & Gunno are improving the looks of the town by putting up a new meat market.

The Fair at Walla Walla commences on the 18th day of September and continues five days.

NEW TO-DAY.
