

NOTICE TO THE PEOPLE OF MARSHFIELD

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

You are cordially invited to graphophone recital at the Taylor Piano House on Broadway this Saturday evening, between 7:30 and 9. We have special selections from Mme. Patti and Enima Esmes. This is a rare treat.

You have no need of sending away for your records. We handle the full catalogue of Victor and Columbia records, and can save you postage, express and time.

ARGUMENTS IN FORD CASE

Evidence in and Talkfest Has Judge and Jury's Attention.

EXPECT A HUNG JURY

Belief is Prevalent That Jury Will Not Agree—Little Evidence Adduced.

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—Notwithstanding the Ford defense today subpoenaed Abraham Ruef as a witness, when the time came for introduction of evidence in behalf of General Ford, attorneys for the defense refused to offer any testimony, thus blocking any intent the prosecution may have had to make Ruer a rebuttal witness, and both sides went to argument without having adduced a particle of direct evidence connecting the accused with commission of the crime charged and the defense without having offered a sworn word in its own behalf. Assistant District Attorney O'Gara made the opening speech for the prosecution. Following him Attorney Moore opened for the defense. Moore will conclude in the morning and be followed by Earl Rogers who will close for Ford. Assistant District Attorney Henev, in the afternoon will close for the prosecution. Judge Lawler will charge the jury and the case should be in the hand of the jury at 6:30 o'clock. The general belief prevails that the jury will fail to reach a verdict.

CHICAGO NEGRO ADMITS MURDER

Twisted Garment About Neck of Lillian Grant Until She Died.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Richard Walton, colored, who was arrested in Springfield and brought back to Chicago yesterday, charged with the murder of Mrs. Lillian W. Grant in her room last week, confessed to the police tonight that he was guilty of the crime. In a previous confession Walton connected Marcus DeHorn with the crime, but when confronted by De Horn last night, Walton broke down and admitted that DeHorn had no hand in the affair.

Walton told how he tied the under vest about Mrs. Grant's neck and strangled her. He said that when he raised the window and entered the room she screamed. Walton placed his knee on her breast and choked her until she became unconscious.

WESTGATE SURVEYOR GENERAL

Senator Fulton Recommends Albany Man for Office.

Baker City, Or., Oct. 3.—Senator Fulton today wired the department at Washington recommending the appointment of G. A. Westgate of Albany, to the office of surveyor general for the state of Oregon. The majority of the delegation from this state have expressed to the department at Washington the preference for Westgate, and it is probable that he will be appointed at once. Congressman Ellis favored T. N. Hurlbert of Portland.

ESTIMATES OF HARVEY BROWN

Portland, Ore., Oct. 3.—"Very probably in his capacity of detective, Harvey Brown discovered evidence which caused some one to dynamite him," said ex-Representative William Grace, of Baker City, today. "Baker City is now the only place in Oregon where gambling is running. It is the only wide-open town in the state, and is the rendezvous of the criminal element, attracted there by the absence of a lid. To this element the people who made the attack on Brown's life will naturally look for and receive protection."

"Mr. Brown served two terms as sheriff, and succeeded in suppressing gambling and closing saloons on Sunday. He was in favor of a closed town, and in his capacity as sheriff enforced the laws to clear Baker City of the undesirable."

"I knew ex-Sheriff Brown well," said Rev. Everett Merrill Hill, pastor of Taylor-Street Methodist Episcopal church, who was yesterday transferred to Spokane. "He was a man all through. A rough and ready fellow, he was equal to any emergency. He had powerful convictions. I tried to get him to unite with the church when I was pastor of the First M. E. church in Baker City two years ago, but he said: 'No, I'm in this closed town to fight now and it would not do.'"

"Mr. Brown was a real Roosevelt Republican. He admired the president very much and I believe his attitude in the Sunday closing of saloons and the suppression of gambling was due to a feeling that he would be following the Roosevelt example in enforcing the law."

"Here is a story that will show the spirit of the man. After he had closed gambling a bunch of prominent citizens were caught by Brown gambling."

"Why, you wouldn't arrest me, would you?" said one of the most influential of these men.

"Arrest you? I'd arrest you if you were Governor Chamberlain," he said.

"He had the real frontiersman's spirit. He roved around a good deal before settling down and marrying, and had seen some rough experiences. Yet he was not a rough man himself. He was quiet and quietly spoken."

"The whole Republican machine got on his back when he undertook to close the town. It left him and Prosecuting Attorney Harry Lomax absolutely alone. The machine leaders told him he would ruin the party's chances, but he told them he didn't believe it and that it wouldn't make any difference."

"When he ran for the gubernatorial nomination in the primaries, it will show how the people stood back of him when I say he got the big majority of votes at home, even with another home candidate."

"Ex-Sheriff Brown's father and mother raised him near Baker City. They were devout Methodists and named their eldest son for a pioneer Methodist circuit rider, Harvey K. Hines. The father died several years ago, the mother is still living on the farm, seven miles from Baker City, eastward. 'Harve' Brown, as everyone called him, was raised in the church. He was a trustee of the First M. E. church, though not a member, and his wife and child belong to it."

"The ex-sheriff did not return to the farm after leaving the sheriff's office, but remained at his home in Baker City, looking after his placer mining interests in Stice's gulch, between Baker City and Sumpter, and elsewhere."

"He was in Portland a week ago, stopping off on his way to the state fair. He came down alone."

Will Seek Health in Arizona.
Mr. John Jenkins of Prosper is in Marshfield bound for Arizona where he goes with his son Will, who accompanies him. The trip is made with the hope that the Arizona climate will have a beneficial effect on the son's health.

Dance at Summer, October 5th.
Summer and Tioga leave Marshfield at 7 o'clock sharp.

GEO. WASSON
Fine Tailoring
A ST.
Marshfield, - Ore.

The contract has been let to Oakley & Arnold for the new Coal Bank Inlet Draw Bridge

It will be completed in 60 days

Get in on West Bunker Hill

Now

Remember = = Easy Terms

John W. Flanagan

Phone 33

Office over McArthur's Pharmacy

WILL DISCUSS MATTERS OF MUCH INTEREST

Chamber of Commerce Meeting Tonight Will Be Worth Attending.

John B. Goddard of Portland will deliver an address on "Marshfield Compared with Other Northwestern Cities," at the Chamber of Commerce tonight. Frank Fay Eddy of Salt Lake, in an address will compare "Life on a Farm in Oregon with Life in Salt Lake City." J. A. McDonald, who arrived from Bellingham this week with 12 laborers, will discuss the "Labor Problem, or How to Secure Laborers on the Bay."

The meeting will be called earlier tonight than last Friday night as the time has arrived when dark comes earlier than during the summer months. The meeting hour has been set for 7:30. The doors are open for everybody, new-comers and old residents alike, and ladies as well as men, at all times.

The meetings will not be prolonged, and to get the benefit of the addresses, everybody should be on hand promptly.

The number of families in quest of houses, registering at the Chamber of Commerce, are on the increase. In response to the agitation by the chamber of the question of building houses, two men have proffered to erect eight buildings. But this is only a mere start in the direction of meeting the demand. With one hundred new houses erected, it would be but a short time until still others would be needed. A man connected with the C. A. Smith Lumber Co. stated yesterday that the rate of accessions to the town may be expected to continue for ten years any way. Marshfield cannot longer be measured by her former pace of growth. The need for more living quarters is now urgent and will grow more so. The opportunity for remunerative investment in the building and leasing or selling of residences is apparent and it is something of a mystery that a greater building crusade is not started.

MAILS ARE NOW ON WINTER SCHEDULE

The winter schedule for mails to the outside went into effect on October first. The mail now leaves Marshfield for Roseburg at 7:30 each evening. This arrangement is an improvement over the summer schedule, as it allows a large part of the mail which used to go out in the morning to leave 12 hours earlier. The return service is about the same, and for the present the contractor is getting it through in good time and in fair shape. But the old familiar sign, "Mail has not arrived," will soon be with us, and we shall feel that winter has caught us again.

The Breakwater Leaves.

The steamer Breakwater, which was scheduled to leave yesterday at 3 o'clock, did not sail until late in the evening. She carried the following passengers: W. A. Booth, A. L. Young, Mrs. T. J. Spooner, Mrs. Spooner, Miss Fairchilds, Mrs. M. O. Plank, Wm. Cox, H. Temple, Mrs. Raines, F. A. Rogers, J. D. Rogers, W. Warner, Mrs. Warner, Mack Doig, T. J. Zimmerman, Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Eaton, G. A. Jackson, C. M. Belleu, Ray Dell, J. L. Whitaker, O. R. Spirits, C. H. Simpson, A. Bebb, J. A. Houston, J. C. Marshall, G. D. Smith, R. Marsden, Mr. Lawler, Ira Johnson, F. Dusey, C. A. Reynolds, W. A. Herry, George Kruse, Herman Nabb, Mrs. Nabb, R. E. Hussy, E. Hume, Yost Bilitches, H. F. Mooner, G. F. Hardy, Mrs. E. S. Fliterop, Miss Emma Fliterop, J. W. Dressler, Elgin Barton, C. W. Woodward, D. O. Williams, J. F. Ralls.

Will Spear Salmon.

Ray Moore and John Nasburg have gone to Ten Mile lake supplied with all sorts of fishing tackle, including everything from a brown hackle fly to a salmon spear. They make this trip annually, and camp at the outlet of the Ten Mile creek where they employ the primitive method (spearing) for taking salmon. They always have an enjoyable time and take enough fish to satiate the most enthusiastic fisherman. They will be gone 10 days.

MALHEUR PEACHES.

Measure a Foot in Circumference and Weigh Nearly a Pound.

J. T. Logan of Willow Creek, is the champion peach raiser of Malheur county, and has produced at this office peaches that outweigh the famous Malheur county peaches that took the first prize at the irrigation convention in California. We weighed four of his peaches, and they tipped the scales at 2 7/8 pounds, the largest weighed exactly three-quarters of a pound, and measured 1 1/2 inches. He brought into the office 10 of these luscious Malheur giants, and the smallest measured 10 1/2 inches. Malheur is new in the fruit industry, but she is certainly there with the goods, and Willow Creek is king pin of Malheur county. When that country is thoroughly covered with an irrigation system the Garden of Eden will be like a wilderness in comparison, and poor old Hood River will sink into oblivion. Malheur county is the next largest county in Oregon, but she is the best of them all.—Ex.

Apostolic Faith Meetings.

Religious services are being held every evening in the Lutheran hall on B street, between Third and Fourth. Evangelist B. H. Irwin of Los Angeles, Cal., is in charge. Mr. Irwin preaches the full gospel "with the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven," and "speaks with tongues," according to Acts 10:46. Everybody is invited to attend. Come and hear "the gospel of God."

AT THE HOTELS.

Blanco—W. H. Harrington, A. O. Freeman, Portland; Lewis McMullen, A. L. Young, F. Houser, J. D. Castro, W. Willett and wife, J. C. Whitaker, Los Angeles; Robert Turrell and sons, H. C. Hunter, Portland; Judge D. Woodruff, M. A. Tupper, Coquille; J. B. Ferguson, Ben McFaulin, J. C. Yale and daughter, C. M. Harmon, Portland; J. F. Elliott.

Central—C. Waters, Alfred Signalness, B. Warren, Portland; R. W. Davis, San Francisco; E. B. Norris, San Francisco; F. H. Beck, Elkhart, Ind.; I. R. Jones, J. O. Hill, Washington, D. C.; Newt Compton, John V. Morris, Tom Riley, C. E. Whitworth, Charles Underwood, J. W. Foss, A. McDonald, J. F. Elliott, Fred Messerle, T. F. Rice.

Will Ship Coal to Eureka.

J. B. Snedden, foreman of the Riverton coal mine, was in town Saturday and reported that the work of sinking an incline to tap the vein will begin next week. It is the purpose of the company to mine and ship coal to Eureka, California. L. C. Collins is general manager for the company.—Coquille Herald.

—Lots in West Bunker Hill at $160 to $210. See J. D. Johnson & Co.