

IDENTIFIES REV. CLARK AS MAN WANTED IN TEXAS

Jack Parrott Swears That Gardiner Preacher Is the Offender.

SAYS WOMAN WITH HIM IS NOT WIFE

Gives Sensational Testimony at Hearing in Roseburg.

ROSEBURG, Ore., Nov. 23.—The iron grip of the law fastened itself more securely around Rev. George "Clark," of Gardiner, in Justice Long's court, when Jack Parrott, a recent arrival at Gardiner, positively and emphatically identified the minister as Rev. George C. Summers, who is wanted at Throckmorton, Texas, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

"It is impossible for the Almighty God to make two different men exactly like Rev. Summers," declared Parrott, on the witness stand; "and it is more impossible in the case of the woman at Gardiner whom he calls his wife." Besides Parrott's statement, there was introduced in evidence a periodical published by a Des Moines detective bureau, containing a picture of the accused man, together with a personal description that tallied to the most minute detail.

District Attorney Brown also introduced in evidence a telegram stating that the sheriff of Throckmorton county, Texas, J. C. Sherlock, was now en route to Salem, Oregon, armed with requisition papers. He is accompanied by Judge Massie, also of Throckmorton, whom Parrott says is the father of the woman living with the minister at Gardiner.

Parrott stated that he was employed by the Gardiner Mill Company, although he claimed Throckmorton as his home. He said he first met Rev. Summers in Throckmorton in the fall of 1902, and that on numerous occasions, afterwards he had either heard him preach or engaged with him in personal conversation. His first meeting with the minister occurred at the house of his (Parrott's) uncle, whose wife, he said, is a sister of the woman living with "Clark" at Gardiner.

"When I heard his voice in prayer," declared Parrott, "I heard the same voice that I knew at Throckmorton. When I saw his walk and met that peculiar look in his eyes, then I was sure he was the man. It is impossible for me to be mistaken. His so-called wife I recognized as quickly as I did him, and she is not the woman that she is his wife in Texas. In that state he had three children, the ages ranging from 21 to 8 years; at Gardiner he has two children, one 3 years of age and the other about one-half as old."

Parrott then went into details about his correspondence with his uncle in Texas, which led up to the

"SYSTEM" NOT JOHN D'S PLAN

Rockefeller Testifies That He Did Not Conceive the Scheme.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—John D. Rockefeller testified today that he did not conceive the plan of the formation of the original Standard Oil Trust in 1882. "I am sorry to say I did not," said Rockefeller, "I cannot claim any credit for that as Mr. Fluzier and S. C. Dodd conceived it." During the examination, Rockefeller said the oil business is hazardous "even up to the present time." This statement will afford Attorney Kellogg for the government an opportunity to examine Rockefeller on the conduct of the company since 1882. It had been understood that Rockefeller would not be examined on the details since that time, but Mr. Kellogg maintains that Rockefeller's gratuitous statement that the business is hazardous "up to the present time" opens up to him the whole period of Standard Oil's history.

telegram to Sheriff Fenton for the minister's arrest. On cross-examination by Attorney Cardwell his story did not vary in the slightest particular.

He denied that he was actuated in this case by the reward of $200 offered for the minister, and in response to one question said that he knew of no Rev. Summers while in Texas other than the man now on trial. Parrott's demeanor while on the stand was one of absolute confidence, and he told his story without a hitch. The effect of his damaging statements was not apparent on the defendant at first, but as his testimony progressed gradually the accused man became very nervous and seemed relieved when the ordeal was over.

Before continuing the hearing, Justice Long ruled on the copy of the Throckmorton indictment, to which objection was made by Attorney Micell, of the defense, Wednesday, on the ground that it should bear the certificate of the Governor of Texas in order to make it admissible as evidence. The court denied the objection.

LOS ANGELES MYSTERY UNSOLVED

Identity of Young Woman Whose Dismembered Body Was Found On Railroad Track Cannot Be Established.

(By Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23.—The police and detectives are endeavoring to fathom the mystery of the death and identity of the body of the young woman whose decapitated and dismembered remains were found on the Southern Pacific tracks between this city and Pasadena yesterday. All efforts thus far have been futile. She was a young woman of about 25 years of age plainly, neatly dressed and evidently was unaccustomed to hard work. There was no money or valuables or anything on the body to establish the identity. The circumstances either indicate murder or suicide, as a hand bag, a parcel and a bag containing luncheon were found lying on a pile beside the fence some distance from the track where the body lay. The train had cut her head and arms off.

NORTH BEND CAUCUS WARM

Strenuous Campaign Being Made For Control of Tuesday Night's Meeting.

The municipal campaign that has been in progress in North Bend for the past ten days, has been growing in intensity and today reached a red-hot state, indicating that the caucus to be held there tomorrow night will be one of the warmest the town has ever seen. There has been little change in the lineup since the resume of the situation was printed in The Times the other day. About the only new developments are told in the following letter from a number of North Bend citizens:

Editor Times,— Two new candidates for the office of councilman have arisen in North Bend, who promise to make a very strenuous fight still more exciting. These men, F. W. Bode and Tom James, are running independently of each other and of any faction simply because so many of their friends have asked them to enter the fight. The realization is growing that the future of this progressive little city largely depends on the quality of the men elected for the next term, the matter of valuable franchises, water works and, more particularly, the first bond issue, being instant and requiring men of sound judgment, proven business ability and unprejudiced minds to handle them, there is also a growing dislike for factional politics for the secret meetings where a few interested parties get together and nominate a ticket and foist it on the people ready made, and this dislike is a most pleasing evidence of civic wideawakeness and progression, it being difficult to credit that men so nominated are chosen for their personal beauty or disinterested qualities. The spontaneous uprisal of these two candidates is most promising for they are men in intimate daily contact with the people, actively engaged in business and very far removed from the distasteful type of street-corner politicians.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Claiming to have the backing of European capitalists to the extent of $200,000,000, according to the story told by the police, Montefiore Meyers, who spent the last few months in Pittsburg endeavoring to interest capitalists in that city in various plans requiring large amounts of money, was brought to this city today charged with the larceny of five bonds valued at $4,500. Meyers, it is said, claimed to be acquainted with many prominent people in this country, and at the clubs and that he was dined by Pittsburg financiers whom he interested in his various plans.

MADE LONGEST CANOE TRIP.

Journeyed From Minneapolis to New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 21.—Ben Gissel, of New York, is in the city after having completed one of the most novel trips ever taken in this country, coming by canoe from almost the source of the Mississippi to the Crescent City, a short distance from the mouth of the Father of Waters.

Gissel left Minneapolis on Aug. 23 and arrived in New Orleans fifty days later, most remarkable time, considering that that his canoe only measured seventeen feet and was loaded with over 116 pounds, counting the clothing and cooking utensils which Gissel carried, not to mention his own weight of 145 pounds.

Gissel said that the trip was an admirable one, and that he was treated royally by every one with whom he came in contact at every city and town and at some of the plantations where he stopped while on his way down the river.

The only unpleasant incident of the trip was when Gissel was in Donaldsonville on Sunday, Oct. 4. While he was looking in a show window one of the sheriffs of the town attempted to arrest him for being a dangerous character.
