BENEFITS OF FRUIT UNION

H. GEDDES POINTS OUT ADVANTAGES OF GROWERS FORMING AN ASSOCIATION.

Editor Times:

An association of the fruit growers would give the members a chance to exchange ideas regarding the pruning of the trees, the kind of spray needed for the different insects and fungous diseases, also the making of the spray for in the making of the lime and sulphur spray the making is the most important part as the failures of the past season's spraying to clean the trees of moss is due more to the manner the spray was made than the spray itself.

The fruit growers through an organization could be of great assistance to the fruit inspector in forcing the careless ones to clean up their trees.

In the buying of spray pumps there could be a great saving to the fruit growers by them buying through a central agency. Also to the horticultural reports the Hood river fruit growers saved $500 on one car of spray material, which shows the wisdom of buying in large quantities.

One of the most important duties of the fruit growers would be when the Gravenstein apple trees blossom in the spring to see what other varieties of apples that blossom in the same time as the Gravenstein and then report the result of their observations so that we would know definitely what variety would be best to plant with the Gravenstein for pollinating purposes, as the Gravenstein needs a tree that is a strong pollenizer planted with it.

Another very important matter that should cause the fruit growers to unite is the question of having all the fruit shipped in here to be inspected by a well qualified person. Last summer there was on one farm two or three apple trees infected with the San Jose scale that undoubtedly was caused by taking home infected fruits. As the San Jose scale is considered the second worst fruit pest it is time for the fruit growers to make a determined effort to prevent any more of the scale being carried from the town to the orchards and also to thoroughly eradicate what is already here.

Another matter that should be taken up by the fruit growers is the thinning of the fruit on the trees while it is small, it is done by every fruit growing region that has made a name for itself and we should do it here our aim should be a few first class apples instead of allowing the trees to be loaded down with second or third class apples, there are too many of the young trees practically ruined by allowing them to split and break down with the weight of the fruit. Then, after taking the pains to grow good fruit the all important part is the marketing of it, here is where the union is an absolute necessity to the fruit grower. Each of the fruit growers has only a few boxes not enough to justify a man to travel around to gather up. But by having a union and having a skilled packer to pack the fruit and shipped here to Marshfield then the buyers of fruit would have enough fruit to justify buying and paying a good price for it as they would know that the fruit was uniform in quality. At the present time the large buyers of apples look to those places that have unions as they know that the apples will be just as it is represented.

AN APPRECIATION OF CHAMINADE CLUB

Editor Times:

After remaining on tip-toe of expectation last summer, until the last hope was dashed by the failure of every effort of the gentlemen managing the fair to induce some celebrated singer to favor us with a visit, the modest little announcement in The Times a few evenings ago, that Mrs. May Dearborn Schwab, one of the brightest stars in the Portland constellation of artists, would appear in concert in Marshfield soon, was to one reader and perhaps to many others like the occasional announcement of a new railroad or harbor appropriation.

Hope deferred maketh the heart sick, but joy cometh in the morning. We are going to have a railroad soon, and deep sea harbor as well, but we are going to have Mrs. Schwab too--and what is more, we are going to have her first. And why so sure? Because the ladies are doing it! And what ladies? The ladies of the Chaminaide Club. The writer of this communication took the trouble to investigate, and there is no doubt about it.

Of course, everybody is going to hear her; nobody is going to miss the opportunity of hearing one of the fairest songstresses of the West. Occasions like this only once in several years, and the music thirsty soul is inclined to quote the governor of North Carolina in his sage remark to the governor of South Carolina: "It is a long time between drinks." But where are the ladies of the Chaminaide Club going to come out? In taking the responsibility of bringing this great artist here they are assuming large expense and will barely come out whole even if the Opera House is packed, as it probably will be, and this is where the writer comes to the object of this epistle.

We need a railroad and other things--how can we get them? By doing two things; first, get people here; second, keep them here.

Our Chamber of Commerce is doing great work and is bringing thousands of people here, but in order to keep the class of people we want as citizens, we must have organizations that will furnish advantages of art and education which they have always been accustomed to and which they cannot live without something more than the attractions usual to a mining camp or a logging camp.

Now, what is the Chaminaide club, and what is it doing?

It is the one musical organization of this part of the state. It is made up of the leading talent of this locality, vocal and instrumental, is affiliated with The National Federation of Music Clubs, and is taking its regular course of study. It is rehearsing each week choral music of the highest order under a directress who is a genius in her art and indefatigable in her efforts, purely for the sake of music in her native city. It is giving once a month a choice program to its patrons. It was just such a club as this, formed and developed by ladies with Miss Amy Foy as a leading spirit, that developed Chicago into one of the greatest music centers in the world. They were the means of bringing Theodore Thomas, whose wife is Miss Foy's sister, and establishing an orchestra second to none in the world.

Encourage this club. Do not merely buy tickets to this concert, but become an associate member and attend the monthly musicales. The moderate fee of four dollars entitles a person to two tickets to the coming attraction and also to another grand concert later in the season, and in addition the privilege of the monthly musicales.

HENEY SAYS HARRIMAN IS ARCH CARRUPTIONIST

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 9.—Speaking before the City Club Francis J. Heney, of San Francisco, declared that E. H. Harriman, through his control of the Southern Pacific railroad, was responsible for the graft and corruption that has been found in the Golden Gate City. With Abe Reuf and Harriman was linked the head of the United Railways corporation of San Francisco by Mr. Heney, but the real boss, he said, sits in New York and has one of his agents in California, W. F. Harrin, general counsel of the Southern Pacific Railroad.
