

Read It All More Tungsten

The light giving power of two 16 C. P. carbon filament lamps is the same as one 40 WATT TUNGSTEN. But the difference in life and current consumption is so great that it demands attention.

Two 16 C. P. CARBON FILAMENT LAMPS:

Current consumption 112 watts per lamp hour
112,000 watts per 1000 hours which equals
112 Kilowatt hours.
112 Kilowatt hours at 12c per K. W. $13.44
Cost of two carbon lamps 40

One 32 C. P. TUNGSTEN:

Current consumption 40 watts per lamp hour
40,000 Watts per 1000 hours which equals
40 Kilowatt hours
40 Kilowatt hours at 12c $4.80
Cost of one TUNGSTEN lamp 1.60

Saving if 32 C. P. TUNGSTEN lamp is used in the place of two 16 C. P. Carbon Lamps $7.44
SAVING IF 100 TUNGSTEN LAMPS ARE USED $744.00

WIFE IS REPENTANT.

Roseburg Woman Elopes to Ten Mile But Wishes She Had Not.

The Roseburg News says: "The second of a series of elopements to occur in this city during the past few weeks occurred when Mrs. Vera Bartlette, wife of a local Southern Pacific engineer, and Bert Neely, employed as stage driver on the Roseburg-Marshfield line, eloped from here taking the stage to Marshfield. At Ten Mile, Mrs. Bartlette wrote her husband stating that she had repented and wished to return. As yet her wishes have been ignored, the husband feeling inclined to allow her to paddle her own canoe.

"Neely, the 'man' in the case, has been employed by the local stage company for the past three years and still maintains his position. Mrs. Bartlette was formerly a resident of Camas Valley, Oregon."

BANE—To Mr. and Mrs. John F. Bane, a nine and one-half pound son, Monday, February 1, at their home in Flagstaff.

Council Tuesday Night.—The Marshfield city council will meet Tuesday evening to take up street matters and other improvement projects.

Get Pensions.—Pensions or increases in pensions have been granted to the following: Mary Divilbiss of Port Orford, $12; Sarah E. Palnter of Marshfield, $12; Walter St. Clair of Coquille, $15; Chas. W. Tower of Marshfield, $12.

Was Evergreen Club.—Mrs. W. P. Murphy entertained the Evergreen Whist club at her home Saturday afternoon. In referring to it in the social department Saturday, The Times erroneously used the name of the A. N. W. club. A week ago Saturday, the club was entertained by Mrs. J. T. McCormac.

Use Alice Street.—Alice street is now open for traffic and is proving of great benefit owing to the bad condition of Broadway between 'C' and Queen. While the north approach to the elevated roadway of Alice street is a little steep, it will not be long until 'D' street and the intersection is raised to grade.

Says Bill Passed.—Representative R. E. L. Bedillion has sent a note to the Marshfield Chamber of Commerce announcing that the bill authorizing the organization and incorporation of port commissions to improve harbors and waterways in Oregon, passed the House all right. An emergency clause was attached, and it is hoped that Governor Chamberlain will sign the bill immediately so that it may become a law at once.

Breakwater Delayed.—Agent W. F. Miller received another telegram this morning from Portland announcing that the damage to the Breakwater's rudder will not be completely repaired until late tomorrow. Owing to this further delay in Portland, it has been decided that the vessel should not leave there until her regular schedule Wednesday evening. This will mean that she will simply lose a trip and henceforth run on her regular schedule.

Gordon Fights Extradition.—W. F. Gordon, the piano salesman accused of embezzling funds of the Sherman, Clay Piano Company while their agent here recently, and who was arrested in San Francisco, is said to be fighting extradition for trial here. Sheriff Gage who left for San Francisco to get him was delayed en route by the bad floods. Prosecuting Attorney Liljeqvist and Marshal Carter have instructed the Sheriff Gage to get him and arrangements can be made to secure his extradition.

Keane Company Disbands.—The James Keane Company has disbanded, the local theatrical circuit being found inadequate to support such an organization as they had secured. Saturday night "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" was presented to a fair sized audience at the Masonic Opera House and Mr. Keane showed up well in the stellar role. Mr. Johnson, the new manager of the company, failed to respond to his call for his second entrance on the stage and a little mixup followed, which, however, was adjusted before there were any serious developments. There is much regret among Mr. Keane's admirers that his efforts to put up a good show here could not be made a financial success.
