FIND RATTLER ABOARD SHIP

Reptile Found Dead In Hold of Alliance After Vessel Was Fumigated.

The Portland Telegram says: "A live rattlesnake three feet long was aboard during several voyages of the steamship Alliance, running regularly out of Portland in the coastwise trade. More than that, the reptile was free to prowl about the steamer wherever his inclination took him."

"But his snakeship is now dead. The Alliance was fumigated and his remains were found neatly coiled in the bottom of the hold, where the rattler probably fled to escape inhaling the sickening fumes. But the incense proved too much for him and he died. The body was hurled into the river, but not until eight rattles and a bottom were clipped from his tail and saved as souvenirs."

"His presence aboard the ship was not known until after the steamer had been fumigated. The dead reptile was stumbled onto while a search was being made of the hold to see if any rats had been killed by the fumes."

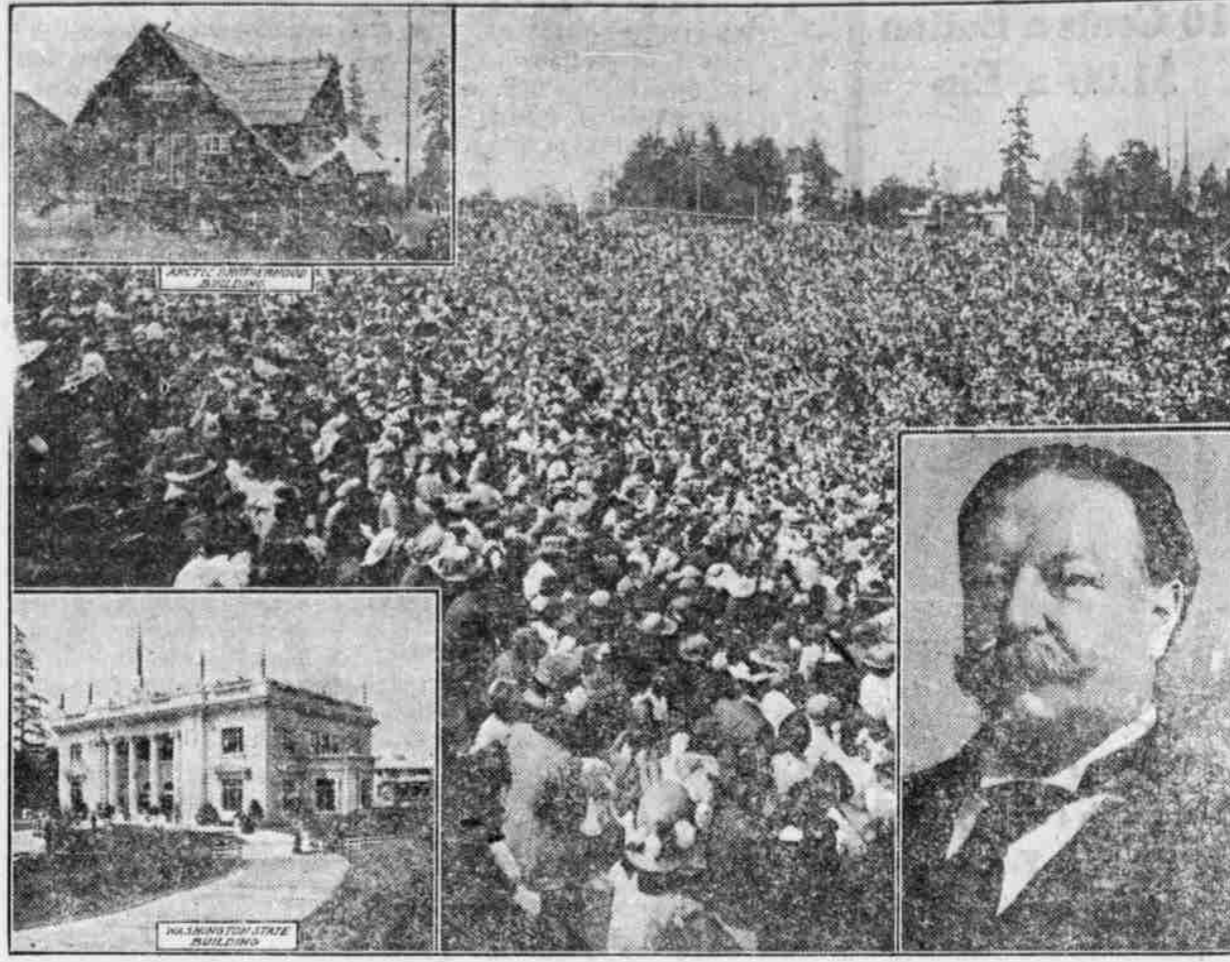

"How the rattler got on the steamer can only be surmised. About three weeks ago it is said a snake charmer took passage for a port down the coast. It is not known definitely, however, that he had any of his 'pets' with him. But in the face of recent 'findings' it is believed that he smuggled them aboard in some manner and during the voyage one of them made his escape."

"And since then he had been making his home on the steamer, and probably venturing into the various berths after night. That he expired before fastening his fangs into a passenger, or even keeping in the dark where he could not be seen, likely saved the owners from being sued for heavy damages. At any rate there is great rejoicing that the rattled passed over the Great Divide without leaving his marks behind."

President Taft to Visit the A.-Y.-P. Exposition Sept. 29 to Oct. 1.

THE PRESIDENT WILL ADDRESS A MONSTER CROWD IN THE NATURAL AMPHITHEATRE DURING HIS VISIT TO THE EXPOSITION.

PRESIDENT WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT is to be the principal actor in a varied interesting program, which awaits him upon his arrival at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition in Seattle from September 29 to October 1. From the moment Bill Taft sets foot on the paved walks of the exposition he will have to keep pace with the various events in which he is scheduled to take part. His activities will have a wide range, too. And, then, the president's good nature is proverbial and his lieutenants have sent on word that the president will do his part to make the day a big success. His most formal appearance on the exposition grounds will be at a reception in the Washington state building at the official banquet. Following in line will be his initiation into the Arctic Brotherhood, the Alaska fraternal association. The president will also find time to address a monster crowd in the Natural Amphitheatre, mush down the Pay Streak, attend an elaborate luncheon, visit the United States government buildings and the Igorrote village.

September 30 at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition will be one of the president's busiest days in the west and the people will be given every opportunity to see and hear him during his visit to the fair.

CUT OFF WORD "SOUTH."

Methodist Conference at Portland So Decides.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 27. — By a unanimous vote of the members of the Columbia Conference of the Methodist church, South, which is in annual conference in the First Methodist church, South, the General Conference of the denomination was memorialized to change the name of the church, leaving off the word South, so that the denomination will be known as the Methodist church. The introduction of this resolution struck a popular chord, and not a dissenting vote was raised against its adoption. It was explained that the word South no longer had any meaning, as all sectional strife had been obliterated, and that the church had organizations in all the states and nations of the world, and that the church should hereafter be known as the Methodist church.

This is the third conference on the Pacific coast which has adopted such a resolution. The other two were the Montana and the East Columbia conferences.

Rev. C. H. Cleaves of Coquille, who has served his probationary period in the conference for two years, was taken into full membership.

THERE IS NO DANGER OF A CONTEST

from the Insurance Companies on your policy if your building burns and the lights in use were electric, why take chances on anything else. Gasoline, etc., raises your rate and if your policy does not have the permit attached and some one should happen to tip over the lamp, what you would get on that policy would not build many electric lines to North Bend or Empire. The safe light does not cost any more than the hazardous. The electric light is no bother and does not emit any odor. More than nine dollars out of ten collected by the local gas and electric company is paid right back into the city in wages and supplies.
