NOTICE OF SALE OF IMPROVEMENT BONDS.

Notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received by the Finance Committee of the Common Council of the City of Marshfield, Coos County, Oregon, at the office of the City Recorder of said City of Marshfield, in the City Hall of said City, until 4 o'clock P. M. of TUESDAY, the 29th day of March, 1910, for the purchase of street improvement bonds of the said City of Marshfield, Coos County, Oregon, to the amount of $5,334.97.

All of said improvement bonds to be in denominations not exceeding $500 and bearing interest at the rate of six per centum per annum from date thereof, payable semi-annually; said bonds to be dated the day of issuance and to mature in ten years thereafter, with prepayment option thereon at face value and accrued interest to date of any semi-annual coupon interest period at, or after, one year from the date of said bonds, upon giving notice by publication in a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in Coos County, Oregon, such notice to be published not less than twice during the month preceding such semi-annual period at which such prepayment thereof will be made. The right is expressly reserved to reject any and all bids and upon all or any of such bids, or proposals, being rejected, if there should remain any bonds unsold, the said bonds may be thereafter sold at private sale by said Common Council of said City of Marshfield, Oregon; but in no event to be sold at less than par and accrued interest. Said bonds are authorized by the laws of the State of Oregon and ordinances of the Common Council of the said City of Marshfield, Oregon.

Assessed valuation of said City of Marshfield, Oregon, is $1,791,549.
Bonder indebtedness is $54,000.
Population—Estimated at 5,000.
A certified check for 5 per centum of amount of bid, or proposal must accompany each bid to be forfeited to said City of Marshfield, in case bid is accepted and bidder fails to accept and make payment for said bond or bonds, covered thereby, within ten days from date of acceptance of said bid, or bids.

Each bid, or proposal submitted to designate the denomination of said bond, or bonds desired.
Bids or proposals received for any amount of said bonds; small bidders being given preference of purchase.
Proposals, or bids, with certified checks, to be enclosed in sealed plain envelopes without distinguishing mark, or writing thereon, except the words "Bids for Improvement Bonds of the City of Marshfield, Oregon."
Dated this 19th day of February, 1910.

$3.50 RECIPE CURES WEAK KIDNEYS, FREE.

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc., Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.
Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage of urine; the forehead and the back of the head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?
I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K1491 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.
It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

The fool killer never neglects his duty but he is always behind on his schedule.

The anvil chorus is fine on a phonograph, but let the phonograph reader the selection.

Really, now, who is the youngest grandmother in this city? Don't all speak at once.

Kind words and words of appreciation go a long way in this world. Give flowers now, for after while 'twill be too late.

A professor in one of the eastern colleges claimed he can produce colored eggs by feeding certain kinds of dyes to hens. The manufacturers of Easter egg paints might find it profitable to buy him off.

Thirty-three years ago a piece of property at the corner of Tenth and Stark street, Portland, was purchased by the German Evangelical Reformed church organization for $1,445. Now it is about to be transferred to new owners for $100,000. Fortunate is that religious body, surely.

Almost ever since the Shasta Limited train of the Southern Pacific was made a through train to Seattle it has been experiencing difficulty by wrecks, as about two weeks ago it ran into a couple of stray box cars near Roseburg, a few days ago it was ditches near Jefferson, and one morning this week it left the track at Sutherlin station. Much of this might be avoided by building that long delayed coast line by way of Coos Bay.

A shipment of raw silk from the Orient is being hurried overland from Tacoma to New York, its value being about $1,000,000. It is expected that the train will be a fast one in the way of freight transportation, the time to be made being less than five days. No doubt some of this will be coming back to the Pacific coast merchants in the form of silk dress goods and socks before many months. Some day Coos Bay will be the stopping place of raw silk and the finished product will be shipped east from the factories at this port of entry.

TUCKIN' 'EM IN.

Tuckin' 'em in at night's the way, Keeps us from lettin' our hair turn gray; Kissin' good night to their lips of fun Keeps us from spillin' the golden sun Out of our hearts of the yesterday— Tuckin' 'em, kissin' 'em one by one!

Tuckin' 'em in at night, you see Tuckin' 'em in is a heap to me, Unto whose spirit the night has rolled; Keeps us from gettin' so stiff and old Hearin' their giggle of good-night glee Smoothin' their ringlets of silken gold.

Tuckin' 'em in at night to dream Bloomy meadows and silvery stream, Romp and laughter and song and light— Father in Heaven, tuck me some night Under the covers of star-sown gleam In the golden chambers beyond our sight.

"It was all over in a minute," might refer to a railway accident or to a wedding.

In these times of high prices everybody has to pay. Even the oyster is compelled to shell out.

There are some great inventors on Coos Bay when it comes to inventing excuses for not working.

People look upon a six-footer who weighs over 200 pounds as a big man—until he proves that he's little.

Just think of the clothes some Coos Bay men's wives could buy with the money they squander for cigars!

The man who gets something for nothing pays the highest price going, and the only price which yields nobody a profit.

We may look down on the microbe but it often gets into good society.

Some Coos Bay men are such poor business men that they don't even collect their thoughts.

Jealousy is deplorable, but it may be said for it that it occasionally prevents gadding, which is worse.

The idea that what you don't know won't hurt you is frequently a mistake; it may cost you your job.

You are an industrious citizen if your garden looks as well next summer as it does in your imagination now.

A man never looks as well as he does after he has been dead three or four years and you see him in his photograph.

The things an old man becomes most thoroughly tired of is grumbling, although he does a good deal of it himself.

Mary had a little lamb, As all the people know, But if the price of meat stays up The lamb is sure to go.

"A Missouri cow has produced 110.2 pounds of milk in one day." She would make a great companion for the hen that lays three eggs in one day.

There are some Coos Bay men who, while ever ready to share their troubles with their wives, manifest a strong disinclination to share their pleasures with them.

A Chicago man says the love germ is located at the center of the nervous system. Recently somebody declared the liver to be the seat of affection. There is no end of opinions.

BETTER THINGS AHEAD.

The wind is cold and the sky is gray, and the world is bleak and sad; but the clouds so leaden will drift away, and the sun will shine, my lad! And the spring will come with its fragrant breeze, and its garden sass and its bumble bees, and the birds will sing in the dad-binged trees,—life isn't so awful bad. The night is long and its breath is chill, and the stars no longer shine, as though in mourning, the world is still, the wind has a weary whine; but soon we'll welcome the joyous morn, with its good old sun, and its breakfast horn; and the world will seem like a world just born—and tell me, won't that be fine? The road is long and your feet are tired, your robe with the dust is gray; and the hour of rest you have long desired seems ever so far away; but the sun sinks low in the purple West, and the hour is at hand when you'll have your rest in the balmy groves of the Islands Blest, where the wings of the angels play.

In the very best, most friendly and hearty relations, flattery and praise are essential, even as grease is necessary that the wheels should keep going.
People talk about the provincialism of small towns. There is no worse provincialism than that of high society.
Ambition becomes a shortcoming and a vulgarity when the man is no longer in a position to gratify this passion.
Vanity, vanity and vanity, everywhere, even at the brink of the grave, and among people who are ready to die for the sake of lofty conviction. Vanity! It seems that it is the characteristic trait and the peculiar malady of our age.
At the bottom of every man's soul there is the spark that may make a hero of him; but the spark cannot burn brightly all the time—when the critical moment arrives, it flares up and illumines great deeds.
