RAIN OR SNOW IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST

Leaders of Various Parties Make Hard Struggle to Get Out Vote.

Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times. WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—A special election day weather bulletin issued today by the weather bureau. It says: "On Tuesday the indications are that the weather will generally be fair throughout the East and the South, the Plains States and the Southwest. In Western Montana, Western Wyoming and Idaho there will be rain or snow, and also probably in Washington, Oregon and extreme Northern California. The temperatures will be moderate for the season in practically all parts of the country on Tuesday."

ALL WORKING HARD.

Party Leaders Working Hard to Get Out Full Vote Tomorrow.

Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Reports at several western headquarters of all political parties today indicated that the leaders, both state and national, were making a strenuous effort to get out the vote tomorrow. Joseph E. Davies, manager of the Western Democratic headquarters said: "I have received direct reports from nearly all of the 29 state chairmen in my division and will keep in touch with them throughout the day and night. From reports already in hand it is apparent that there never was greater co-operation among the Democrats and they will be out to fight everywhere."

David W. Mulvane, director of the campaign in the West, asserts that the eleventh hour trend toward Taft standard.

Madell McCormick, of the Progressive national committee, said he had received satisfactory reports from 24 states.

KNOW RESULT BY 9 O'CLOCK

New York Expects a Quick Count on President—Expect Big Vote.

Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The vote for president at tomorrow's election in the United States will be the most closely fought in the history of the country, according to predictions from all states indicate an election day of unusual activity by party leaders to get out the vote. The statement of Roosevelt that he would accept the nomination if the Republicans vote for Wilson, and the defeat for Roosevelt, are generally expected that the result will practically be known by 9 or 10 o'clock tomorrow. Although in some states where communication is slow, as in portions of the west, and where the election is lengthy, the result might be in doubt if the voting is close.

OREGON COUNT WILL BE SLOW

Prediction of Rain Tomorrow Throughout State—Gloom Over Political Camps.

WEATHER FORECAST. (By Associated Press.) OREGON—Occasional rain in west tonight and Tuesday, rain or snow in east portion tonight or Tuesday. Southerly winds.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 4.—Predictions of rain tomorrow cast a gloom over the political camps today. The campaign is practically closed, speech-making, except for a few street corner addresses, is over and candidates are ready for the verdict of the people. The ballot in Oregon is so long and will be so difficult to count that if the race is close between any of the candidates or for or against any of the numerous initiative measures to be presented to the people, it may be a week before the final results are known.

The ballot covers exactly one-half of a square yard, mostly in very small type.

RALLIES IN SEATTLE.

Whirlwind Finish for Campaign in Washington Tonight.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 4.—Rain is forecast for all parts of the state tomorrow. Every band and every large hall in Seattle has been engaged for tonight's rallies, closing a campaign that was featureless until the democrats saw a chance to elect their candidate for governor, Ernest Lister. Each of the three big parties claim victory in sight for its national ticket.

TAFT GOES TO OHIO TO VOTE

President Will Arrive in Cincinnati Tonight—Hot Finish There.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—With the arrival of President Taft tonight, the preliminaries to probably the most strenuous campaign that Ohio has every known will come to an end and while the state campaign will wind up with the democratic gubernatorial nominee, James Cox, addressing a meeting in Toledo, the democrats will keep up the campaign until the minute the polls open. Taft is expected here at seven p. m. and he will go to the home of his brother, Chas. P. Taft.

WILSON HURT ON AUTO RIDE

ECHO OF GROVER CLEVELAND'S VICTORY

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Woodrow Wilson will receive the election returns tomorrow night on the same telegraph instrument that ticked off victory to Grover Cleveland in 1892.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Woodrow Wilson forgot his lacerated scalp today and continued with his correspondence. He said he was not bothered by the injury received yesterday when he was knocked against the roof of a closed motor car in which he was riding. He will speak tonight at Patterson, N. J. Wilson will also speak at Pasco tonight.

LET US TALK IT OVER

A MIGHT all the turmoil and talk and the avalanche of political matter advocating this or that measure to be voted on tomorrow, Coos Bay electors should not lose sight of the fact that there is one in which every citizen and tax payer of Coos Bay is particularly interested. This appears on the ballot as Number 314 YES and Number 315 NO. This measure gives the state railway commission control of public utilities, such as waterworks, electric light, etc. New York has such a bill and it has proven very popular with the people. City Attorney Gons is awaiting the result of this election to commence action to enforce the improvement of the local waterworks. No one should be surprised if they vote Number 314 YES.

HERE should be governmental regulation and supervision of public utilities—i. e., the power should be lodged in some proper government agency to compel the ownership of public utilities, which include light, water and transportation, to furnish adequate service, charge only reasonable rates, and treat all patrons fairly and without unjust discrimination. To secure these objects is the honest purpose of the so-called "Malarkey Bill." Under it the necessary power is given to the existing railroad commission without the creation of any new board or officers.

This bill was most carefully considered by the 1911 legislature; and after a more thorough investigation by that body than any other measure before them received, it was passed by the overwhelming affirmative vote of 75 out of 90 members. Then Governor West, who, by reason of his previous service on the railroad commission, was peculiarly well qualified to understand the merits of the measure, gave it his endorsement. With such an enviable record the bill comes before the voters of Oregon for approval or rejection by reason of a most unworthy referendum invoked by politicians who hope to profit by substituting separate local commissions for each city and town for the regulation by and with the power of the state which the bill provides.

That such local commissions, each with its own salaried commissioners and subordinates, would largely increase the taxpayers' bills and cause conflicts in rulings and confusion of authority, and produce weak and unsatisfactory supervision and regulation must be manifest to any careful student of the question.

Public utilities are satisfactorily regulated by state commissions in many other states—most of them of more population and containing larger cities than Oregon. Why can not the same be done in Oregon?

Voters should approve this bill by voting 314 X Yes. Then, with the principle of regulation of public utilities by a state commission firmly established, the law can, from time to time, be amended by addition or omission so as to increase its efficiency, as experience and study may show to be wise.

DEATH BREAKS DEADLOCK IN HOUSE

Fate Gives Democrats Control in Case Representatives Have to Select President This Year.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

MAKES MUDDLE WORSE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The throwing of Rhode Island to the Democratic column would not permit an election by the house, because the constitution requires a majority of the states. This would be 25. Utter's death, however, does not break the equal division between the Republicans and Democrats.

BIG VOTE IN COOS COUNTY

Everything Ready for Balloting Tomorrow—Hours Polls Are Open.

It is expected that Coos county tomorrow will poll the largest vote in its history. The polls will open at 8 o'clock and will not close until 7, the judges being allowed to take an hour off at noon for dinner if they so desire.

The South Marshfield precinct will vote near Second and Hall, the Central Marshfield precinct near Fourth and Central, or at the Finnish hall, and North Marshfield at the city hall, probably.

Many today are marking sample ballots to take to the polls with them so that they can just copy it on the official ballot and thereby vote more quickly. Some of the election officials are in doubt as to whether to permit voters to take marked sample ballots into the polling booths with them or not.

COURT RULES ARE CHANGED

Granting of Injunctions by Federal Courts Restricted by New Regulations.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—Revolutionary changes in procedure in equity cases in federal courts throughout the United States are affected in revised rules promulgated today by the Supreme Court of the United States. The objection is to reduce the cost of litigation and eliminate delays.

The new rules were announced from the bench by Chief Justice White. One of the tasks undertaken by him when he was appointed Chief Justice was to reform the procedure of the courts. He has revised the rules of the supreme court itself. For seventeen months, the Chief Justice and Justices Lurton and Vandevanter have been working on the equity rules. The present rules came down from the courts with only one or two revisions, since the beginning of the republic. The other revision was about fifty years ago. Chief Justice White particularly thanked the Lord Chancellor of England for suggestions in the present revision.

Among the rules is one who prohibits the issue of preliminary injunctions without notice to the opposing party, and also restricting the issue of temporary restraining orders.

THOUGHT THEY SAW A BODY

Life Preserver From Osprey Is Found on Beach—No Bodies Found.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

A report was in circulation today that a fishing boat had been overturned in the lower bay or washed out over the bar and that Herman Hansen, who lives near the stove mill, and Alexander Brown had been lost. George Wilson of the launch Wanderer said he had seen Hansen in his boat this morning and he was all right.

NAME TRIPLETS FOR ALL THREE

Texas Couple Names Three Boys in Honor of Presidential Candidates.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kyler of Denison, Texas, sent a telegram to President Taft today at the White House, announcing the birth of three sons, named William Howard Taft Kyler, Theodore Roosevelt Kyler and Woodrow Wilson Kyler. The president telegraphed his congratulations.

Parties who were on the beach near the old jetty yesterday claim that they saw the body of a man, presumably one of the victims of the Osprey, floating out near the jetty. It appeared to be supported by a life preserver. After a few minutes the object sank and was not seen again. However, a life preserver later floated in.

This is about the only development in the Osprey wreck today. No trace of any of the bodies of the victims has been found.

Bits of the wreckage are washing ashore and the Osprey has apparently been ground to pieces as parts of the hull are constantly coming in.

N. H. Leach, the Wedderburn manager of the MacLeay estate, arrived here Sunday night, coming up overland. He is deeply grieved over the tragic fate of the crew of the Osprey. Mr. Leach is unable to throw any further light on the accident. He will probably arrange for another schooner to ply between here and Rogue River at once as it is necessary to get supplies for the winter in there soon. Mr. Leach is inclined to believe that the Osprey must have met with some accident before she started in over the bar. He says that reports from the lighthouse keeper indicates that the load must have shifted.

Sultan's Appeal Will Be in Vain Because European Nations Differ.

DOUBT THEIR RIGHT TO DEMAND ARMISTICE

Ottoman Troops Will Have to Keep Up Unequal Struggle for a Time.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Balkan nations and Greece are persistent in their determination that Turkey must arrange directly with them the terms of peace without the intervention of European powers.

The powers thus far consulted have responded to Turkey's appeal for mediation by declaring they could make only proposals for peace and could not approach the Balkan nations with a request for an armistice. Some of the governments have pointed out that Turkey's proposal for a cessation of hostilities would offend the Balkan victors. The other governments take the position it would be an infringement of the international law for the moment. The war must therefore continue and the Turkish army must keep on with their unequal struggle against the victorious invaders. It is hoped and believed still that the powers will find a formula under which they can offer their good offices.

WAITING FOR REQUEST

Germany and Austria Give Stand on Intervention.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—Germany and Austria will not join in intervention in the Balkan war without a request to take such a step coming directly from one of the belligerents. The German foreign office has not received any confirmation of the report telegraphed from Constantinople by several newspaper correspondents that Turkey has asked the powers to mediate.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Turkish army, occupying the line from Tchortu to Istrandia was repulsed today by the Bulgarians, according to a news agency dispatch from Sofia.

(By Associated Press to The Coos Bay Times.)

LONDON, Nov. 4.—A railway official who escaped from Lule Burgas told of the atrocities of the Turkish soldiers and declared it would go hard with any Christians who fall into the hands of the Turkish irregulars who are entirely beyond the control of their officers. The loss of life has been appalling, he said.
