FIRST ONE TO VIOLATE PROHIBITION IN LANE COUNTY

Mrs. M. L. Henderson of Cottage Grove Receives More Beer Than Law Allows

A woman has been prosecuted in Lane county for violation of the prohibition law. The Eugene Guard tells the story as follows:

A woman is the defendant in the first prosecution in Lane county for violation of the prohibition law by receiving an excess of twenty-four quarts of beer or two quarts of liquor within the 28 day period. Mrs. Mathilda L. Henderson, of Cottage Grove, is alleged to have received two shipments of beer in the maximum amount in her own name and a third shipment under a fictitious name within four weeks.

Mrs. Henderson was recently acquitted on a charge of violating the local option law before the prohibition law became effective. Her husband was tried three times in the circuit court on a similar charge. Twice the jury disagreed. The third time a verdict of acquittal was returned.

BUICK CARS ARE MOST POPULAR

FOUR ARRIVE HERE YESTERDAY AND FIVE MORE ARE COMING AND AL LARE SOLD EXCEPTING ONE—ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE TO GET THEM FROM FACTORY BECAUSE OF THE GREAT DEMAND

Four new Buick autos arrives on the Tillamook and all have been sold before arrival by George Goodrum, the local representative. The purchasers are:

Dr. J. F. Montgomery of North Bend.

Cell Ireland of Marshfield.

Al Crouch of Coquille.

J. D. Barklow of Myrtle Point.

The Buick has proved the most popular car for 1916 in Coos county. More have been sold in Coos county than any other make of cars, regardless of price.

Another carload of five cars are on the way to Marshfield and they are all sold but one so anybody who expects to buy a Buick this summer will have to hurry for it is almost impossible for the agent to get them and without any question the price will be advanced soon as the price of all the materials entering into a Buick car has been advanced.

It is said that some who have other cars are giving them up and buying a Buick because they believe they will get superior service.

INDIAN MONEY IS TENDER IN EGYPT

Silver and Other Change Is Short Because of the War Conditions

CAIRO, Egypt 28.—The Indian rupee has just been made legal tender in Egypt, and large quantities of the coins have been brought into circulation.

There has for some time been a shortage of silver and other change in Egypt owing to the great influx of troops. A considerable quantity of newly minted Egyptian coin was brought from England last year, but it proved insufficient to meet the local demand. Some of the consignments brought from England were lost at sea, and since it would take some time to replace them, the Egyptian government decided for a time at least to use the Indian rupees, large quantities of which are available. The innovation is only a provisional one until sufficient new coin can be minted in England and sent out.

BUILDING IS AGAIN CROWDED BY PEOPLE TO HEAR THE TELLING TRUTHS THAT BRUCE EVANS HURTLER AT THE HEADS OF HIS HEARERS—SOME MORE GOOD PHILOSOPHY FOR EVERY DAY LIVING

EVANS ECHOES

"Many a girl has found after the ice is broken that she has fallen in with a cheap skate."

"Too many churches are like Ford automobiles—running on their reputation."

"Some of you fellows think you are a whole lot in this town because you make your living with your heads—remember a woodpecker does that."

"A lot of evangelism is like a rocking-horse—a great deal of agitation without getting anywhere."

With epigrams flying in every direction with the rapidity of a gatling gun and a house crowded to the doors, a choir loft jammed full of enthusiastic singers and seemingly about an acre of boys and girls sitting down in front listening perhaps as they have never listened to a public speaker before—their eyes as big as fried goose eggs. Bruce Evans showed his ability to draw and hold a big crowd.

The evangelist showed his displeasure at the lack of work done by some of the committees. One can easily see how the man would feel when he sees other men shirk in their duty when at the same time he is putting every drop of energy into the meetings he can muster.

The crowd was enthusiastic. They sang so as to be heard several squares away and on several occasions broke out in fervent applause to show their approval of Evans.

He spoke last night on the man who was possessed with demons. He said the devils had more sense than some men for they recognized the deity of Christ. There were enough devils in one man to fill two thousand hogs so the Bible says. As long as the man had the devils no one cared; when they entered the swine the men objected.

When the hogs went down a howl went up. They wanted lard not Lord, grease not Grace. The grease of hogs was more to them than the release of the man. The church must get closer to the man who makes his living with the sweat of his face. We must show them our interest in them, said the speaker.

Evans says a church that does not advertise is like a fellow who sits in the dark and winks at his girl—he knows what he is doing but no one else does. He speaks tonight.

K. OF P. WILL SEND MEN TO PORTLAND

Purpose Is To Attend Grand Lodge And An Excursion Will Be Arranged

A committee consisting of W. C. Chase, A. T. Morrison, and Frank Burkholder of Coquille, has inaugurated a move to send an excursion to members of Knights of Pythias to Portland August 1 says the Coos Bay Harbor. The purpose will be to attend the meeting of the Oregon grand lodge and Supreme lodge at that time. This committee believes that Coos county can send at least 200 excursionists, which will be the first excursion out of Coos Bay on the new railroad. North Bend and Marshfield lodge members have agreed to assist in forming the excursion. The plan was started a month ago but has been held in obedience until it was definitely determined that the excursion would not conflict with the railroad celebration here. Chief Engineer Wm. Hood has assured local people that the dates would not conflict.

MANY SOLDIERS DIE OF HEMORRHAGE

French Suffer Because of Projectiles Which Are Thrown In Their Midst

(By Associated Press to Coos Bay Times.) PARIS, April 28.—Hemorrhages resulting from compression and depression of air by the explosions of projectiles have become more common in the French army since the artillery fire developed its maximum intensity.

In some cases the shock is instantly mortal and in others only temporarily discommoding. Monsieur Leon Binet, interne of the Paris hospitals now aid surgeon in the army, who has made a special study of these cases, finds that the effect of the explosion is to compress the air in the case of a shell from a cannon and to depress it in the case of a projectile from a trench mortar. In both cases the hemorrhage is pulmonary.

In one case, observed by Monsieur Binet, a projectile from a trench mortar exploded within three yards of a soldier lying on the ground. The man's breathing was instantly obstructed, he began to cough and he spit half a glass full of aerated blood. A half hour later he was all right again. In another case a four inch shell fired at long range exploded directly over a cannon. Aerated blood began to flow from the nostrils and mouths of two gunners standing beside the piece and they dropped dead in their tracks. In neither of the two cases reported were there any exterior marks of wounds. In the first case the effect was from depression, in the second from atmospheric compression.
