ELKS ARE ENTERTAINED

Four Special Trains Stop in Ashland Yesterday—Visitors Treated to Auto Ride Over City.

The arrival of four special trains of Elks in Ashland yesterday heralded the approach of the big convention that convenes in Portland this week. The specials came from Sacramento, San Francisco, the Orange Belt and Alameda county. With the exception of the Sacramento train, each stopped here thirty minutes, and thirty automobiles were on hand at the depot to see that the visitors received a thorough view of this city and its surroundings. The Sacramento train was the first to arrive and remained in the city the longest, arriving at 4 and departing at 9. The Sacramento Elks were entertained at the spacious lodge rooms here and were given a luncheon at 6 o'clock. All the visitors were loud in their praise of the enterprise manifested in every hand and especially of the magnificent Elks building. The New Orleans train arrives this evening and the visitors will be royally entertained by the local fraternity.

A large delegation left last evening for Portland to attend the convention and others are leaving today.

CLASS WORK POPULAR

More Than Usual Interest Marks Study of Economics, Literature and Others.

Interest in the various classes of this season's Chautauqua has been greater than usual, every department reporting large attendance. Professor Larimore states that he has a larger class than he has ever had and the interest is at a high pitch every day. Boys and girls are working hard for the circus that is the crowning feature of the assembly so far as they are concerned, and if the spirit with which they have entered into the games and exercises means anything, the circus will be about the biggest event of the year. Every hour of every day is occupied with some form of athletic endeavor and the boys and girls are in love with Professor Larimore. Swimming parties in the natoriums are among the attractive features of this work.

Dr. Wilkinson is receiving wonderful encouragement in his Bible work. The hour has been changed from the morning to 1:15 in order to avoid conflicts. Every day's work has elicited greater interest. Dr. Wilkinson handling the subject in a masterful manner. The book of Isaiah has been the subject of consideration.

In the economics department, under the guidance of Professor Gilbert, labor, railroad and industrial problems have occupied the attention of the class, which has grown daily. Those who have attended the discussions have come away with a broader conception of the great problems confronting our nation today, the meetings proving of great interest and of greater profit.

The W. C. T. U. has considered important subjects daily, including the coming national convention, "Why am I a White Ribboner?" Good Literature. Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh, state president of the organization, has been present and has added much interest to the meetings. She will remain throughout the session.

Tuesday of this week is W. C. T. U. day at Chautauqua. The lecture of the afternoon in the auditorium will be given by Mrs. Florence Ewell Atkins of Nashville, Tenn., one of the most popular Chautauqua speakers in the country. The subject of her address will be "The Twentieth Century Woman and Reform." She will also speak at the round table following the afternoon program, at which time initiative measure No. 1 will be discussed. Those who oppose this measure are urged to bring their questions.

Mrs. Atkins will also be present and take part in the morning program at 10 o'clock. At this hour in the grove daily meetings are held by the W. C. T. U. The topic Tuesday will be "The Modern Woman." Those who think the present day woman or the present day girl is not equal in all particulars to those of the past generation will do well to come and hear her.

Topics of live interest will be presented each day, that on Wednesday morning being "Equal Suffrage." Thursday a "mothers' meeting" will be held, and Friday the topic discussed will be "The White Slave Trade." The awful increase in this modern and awful traffic makes this topic one of unusual interest.

The meetings the past week have been full of interest, as W. C. T. U. meetings always are.

The mission tent has had all the guests it could accommodate every afternoon of the session. Much interest in the pictures and literature has been manifest and those in charge of this tent are highly gratified with the results being attained. The different societies of the city are in charge.

Round table, which meets every afternoon, is proving very profitable. Every day topics under the efficient guidance of Professor Briscoe are being discussed. Today Professor Larimore is leading and the subject presented is physical culture. Tomorrow Mrs. Unruh will lead in the discussion of woman suffrage. On Wednesday Rev. Robert McLain of Grants Pass will present socialism from the Bible standpoint. Thursday Professor Gilbert will deal with an economic subject, and Friday will be devoted to the parent-teacher movement. These meetings are free to all and open discussion is earnestly desired.

Professor Berchtold continues to interest literature enthusiasts, a large number of whom meet with aim daily for consideration of some of the masterpieces of English and American literature.

Sunday services were of a high order. The large chorus class of Professor Isaac was on the platform morning and evening and rendered several gospel songs besides special numbers. Dr. Wilkinson occupied the pulpit in the morning and Rev. Robert McLain of Grants Pass in the evening. The building was full for both services. In the afternoon, Miss Dougherty, who is holding the fort among the children as a story-teller, read Van Dyke's "The Other Wise Man" before a packed house. A song service before the reading created lively interest and a number of special numbers were greatly appreciated.
