It's Much Easier
To iron when you use the electric iron. Its advantages are many. Here are a few important ones. First, it has an even temperature at all times. Second, it saves time and labor by not having to run to the stove every few minutes. Lastly, it does away with that roaring hot fire that is necessary with the old way.
Consult us now about the cost of using electricity.

THE DUTCH FARMHOUSE.
Family and Cattle Find Quarters Under the Same Roof.
The typical Dutch farmhouse is square, one storied, with a pyramid shaped roof. The space between the apex of the roof and the ceiling of the dwelling part is generally used as a storehouse for winter food for the cattle. The living room door opens into the stable, for the cattle are invariably housed under the same roof as the family. The homes vary little in their furnishings. One always sees bright strips of carpet, a highly polished center table, where the family Bible is displayed, and a glass dresser, with its shelves filled with rare old brass and delft ware. The most curious thing about the houses are the sleeping quarters—unique and certainly unhealthy from the modern viewpoint, which requires plenty of fresh air in the bedrooms.
The cheesemaker's family sleeps in beds built in cupboard-like recesses in the wall and as far from the window as possible. There is a door similar to that of a cupboard, and this is kept closed during the day in order that the bed may be hidden from view. The stuffy condition of this walled in bedroom can be readily imagined. The lens is always snowy white, and the whole makeup presents an attractive appearance even to the decorated strap suspended from the ceiling and used to assist the occupant of the couch to rise.
The visitor is always welcome at the cheese farms, but the visit must be made early in the morning if the cheesemaking is to be seen.—Mrs. C. H.
Miller in Leslie's.

THE SWISS PRESIDENT.
His Powers Are Quite Limited, and So is His Salary.

The president of Switzerland is so hedged about by the constitution that, except for official purposes and to facilitate the exchange of courtesies and of amicable understandings with foreign nations, he has no more standing than the other six members of the council of which he forms a part. He is elected for one year, has no official residence, and his chief business is to sign the documents of the bundesrat or council of seven. His salary is in our money equal to about $3,000 per annum, and there is no provision for private expenses, such as traveling or entertaining. He is expected to live in the capital of the country during the year he holds office. His associate members in the bundesrat get $2,000 a year, and they are elected for three years, their votes having the same force as that of the president.

As a rule, the president of Switzerland is before election a member of this council and is elected to the high er office without opposition, but in 1883 he had a rival, and, though he won in the election, he was unable to support what in his country is looked upon as an affront and committed suicide before his inauguration.
In this connection it might be well to note, too, that Switzerland is the one country on the globe where it costs nothing to die, as in certain cantons rich and poor are buried at the expense of the state.—Harper's Weekly.

A Chance of a Lifetime.
"Have you any cheering news?" asked the boarding house landlady when her husband got home.
"Dearie," he cried, "I have more than that. I have a happy surprise."
"Huh! Are you sober?"
"Better than that, dear heart."
"Well, tell it to me. Did you earn two bits spading up somebody's peony bed?"
"Aw, say! This is the real thing."
"Tell me the worst."
"You know that milliner you got a $90 hat from?"
"I do. Don't tell me she's dead."
"Better than that. She's coming here for two weeks' board."
"Henry, you can have that trip to Monte Carlo you've been wanting."— Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Cocaine.
Travelers in Peru and countries where coca grows chew the leaves of this plant for the purpose of allaying the sense of hunger and the feeling of exhaustion that accompanies it. At first the leaves were thought to possess food elements, but now it is known that the cocaine they contain merely alays the irritability of the nerves that produce the sense of hunger. Cocaine is an alkaloid made from the coca leaf, which has the effect of completely destroying the sensibility of nerves. The discovery of this active principle of the coca leaf explained fully and satisfactorily the effect produced by chewing the leaves.

Trouble.
The worn, gray haired man met a mysterious stranger.
"And who might you be?" asked the man.
"My name is Trouble," replied the stranger.
"Strange that I got these gray hairs dodging you and never met you before," said the man.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PLATFORM ADOPTED AT CHICAGO

Merchant Marine.
We believe that one of the country's most urgent needs is a revived merchant marine. There should be American ships, and plenty of them, to make use of the great American interoceanic canal now nearing completion.

Flood Prevention.
The Mississippi river is the nation's drainage ditch. Its flood waters, gathered from 31 states and the Dominion of Canada, constitute an overpowering force, which breaks the levees and pours its torrents over many millions of the richest land in the Union, stopping mails, impeding commerce and causing great loss of life and property. These floods are national in scope and the disasters they produce seriously affect the general welfare. The states, unaided, cannot cope with this giant problem; hence, we believe the general government should assume a fair proportion of the burden of its control, so as to prevent the disasters from recurring floods.

Reclamation.
We favor the continuance of the policy of the government with regard to the reclamation of arid lands, and for the encouragement of such settlement and improvement of such lands we favor an amendment to the law that will reasonably extend the time within which the cost of any reclamation project may be repaid by the land owners.

Rivers and Harbors.
We favor a liberal and systematic policy for the improvement of our rivers and harbors. Such improvements should be made upon expert information, and after a careful comparison of cost and prospective benefits.

Alaska.
We favor a liberal policy toward Alaska to promote the development of the great resources of that district, with such safeguards as will prevent waste and monopoly.

We favor the opening of the coal lands to development through a law leasing the lands on such terms as will invite development and provide fuel for the navy and the commerce of the Pacific ocean, while retaining title in the United States to prevent monopoly.

Philippine Policy.
The Philippine policy of the republican party has been and is inspired by the belief that our duty toward the Filipino people is a national obligation which should remain entirely free from partisan politics.

Immigration.
We pledge the republican party to the enactment of appropriate laws to give relief from the constantly growing evil of induced or undesirable immigration, which is inimical to the progress and welfare of the people of the United States.

Safety at Sea.
We favor the speedy enactment of laws to provide that seamen shall not be compelled to endure involuntary servitude and that life and property at sea shall be safeguarded by the ample equipment of vessels with life-saving appliances and with full complements of skilled, able-bodied seamen to operate them.

Republican Accomplishments.
The approaching completion of the Panama canal, the establishment of a bureau of mines, the institution of the postal savings bank, the increased provision made in 1912 for the aged and infirm soldiers and sailors of the republic and for their widows, and the vigorous administration of the laws relating to pure food and drugs, all mark the successful progress of the republican administration and are additional evidence of its effectiveness.

Economy and Efficiency.
We commend the earnest effort of the republican administration to secure greater economy and increased efficiency in the conduct of the government business. Extravagant appropriations and the creation of unnecessary offices are an injustice to the citizen.

Civic Duty.
We call upon the people to quicken their interest in public affairs, to condemn and punish lynchings and other forms of lawlessness and to strengthen in all possible ways a respect for law and the observance of it. Indifferent citizenship is an evil from which the law affords no adequate protection and for which legislation can provide no remedy.

Arizona and New Mexico.
We congratulate the people of Arizona and New Mexico upon the admission of those states, thus merging in the Union in final and enduring form the last remaining portion of our continental territory.

Republican Administration.
We challenge successful criticism of the 16 years of republican administration under Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft. We heartily reaffirm the indorsement of President McKinley, contained in the platform of 1900 and 1904, and that of President Roosevelt, contained in the platforms of 1904 and 1908.

We invite the intelligent judgment of the American people upon the administration of William H. Taft. The country has prospered and been at peace under his presidency. During the years in which he had the cooperation of a republican congress, an unexampled amount of constructive legislation was framed and passed in the interest of the people and in obedience to their wish. That legislation is a record on which any administration might appeal with confidence to the favorable judgment of history.

We appeal to the American electorate upon the record of the republican party and upon this declaration of its principles and purposes. We are confident that under the leadership of candidates here to be nominated our appeal will not be in vain; that the republican party will meet every just expectation of the people whose servant it is; that under its administration and its laws our nation will continue its advance; that peace and prosperity will abide with the people and that glory will be added to the great republic.

irregularity in passage. As soon as I commenced taking Doan's Kidney has been sentenced in the federal court at Portland to six months in

The federal grand jury returned
