DISABLED SOLDIERS TAKE UP LIFE AGAIN

According to the summer school news of the Oregon Agricultural College amputated legs, lost eyesight, shattered arms and many other injuries are but trifles now to the disabled soldiers being educated at the college by the government.

Most of them say they were much discouraged while in the hospitals, but since undertaking work to fit them for a useful service in their various communities they are happy and enjoy life as much as ever.

Two weeks to live was the decree of specialists. That was seven months ago. Today Lorain R. Markle is active and interested in his horticultural studies.

"Injuries received while in France seriously affected my heart," he said. "Physicians say now I may live to a ripe old age with care and exercise. I was doing active physical work before entering the service and to be a student of theories and books at first seemed hard."

Mr. Markle is enthusiastic over his work and optimistic about the future. He is married and his home is in St. Louis.

With total blindness almost inevitable in the near future Homer R. Fleming, injured soldier of Joseph, keeps his courage steadfast and is cheerfully confident that whatever happens he can make good at something. While in service in France he received injuries causing blindness. His sight returned but oculists have told him it will be only a matter of time until he will be totally blind. He is taking a regular course in agriculture.

Fleming admits he was much discouraged for a time but he feels now that if he is unable to continue his agricultural work other work suitable to his abilities can be found. His optimism and determination are an inspiration to those about him.

Standing on a wooden leg most of the day does not bother Ralph S. Boyer of Philadelphia who chose O. A. C. for his training at the expense of Uncle Sam. He is studying farm mechanics and likes it better than anything he has ever done.

While on board a ship in search of submarine mines near the Hawaiian Islands Boyer's leg was cut off by an automatic anchor. He said life looked dismal the nine months he was in the hospital but everything is fine now. He takes great pleasure in discussing the merits of his wooden leg. He expects to be in a machine shop after his course at the college is finished.

Robert V. Stephens is studying butter and cheese making. Stephens was wounded four times in his right arm and lost his right eye thru injuries received from mustard seed shrapnel.

He owned and lived on a ranch before entering the service. He likes dairying and expects to work in a cheese factory or creamery after his course at the college is finished. Stephens is married. His home is Tacoma, Wash.

William H. Hill of Eugene is taking advanced tractor mechanics and animal husbandry. Hill was in the navy and an electrical explosion on shipboard madly burned him about the left hand and arm. He was in the hospital nine months and lost his thumb and the use of his wrist.

He says he likes the work and expects to be a tractor salesman or manager of a farm when his course is completed. Hill is a quiet chap and a hard worker.

To get married and settle down on a farm of his own after his vocational work at the college is finished are the plans of Alexander Brander of Heppner. Brander was injured by shrapnel in the second battle of the Marne. He is studying general farm work and specializing in animal husbandry. A piece of shrapnel taken from his back he has made into a watch fob. Brander is a merry hearted Scotchman and cheers up everyone around him.

E. M. Barrett of Ashland, disabled while in service in France, had "pop" enough to return to high school one week after his arrival home. His trouble is a strained heart. He is now specializing in animal husbandry.

The other disabled men taking work at the college are James J.

Eaden, Emil F. Koskanvaca, J. J. Jennings, H. W. Markart, Horace D. McGirr, Albert B. Underwood, Nicholas Schneider, Jesse A. Neal, Simon M. Hochstetter, Ralph R. Ferry, George Billings, John Beattie, Clyde M. Alexander, Wilbur E. Rife, Paul A. Gunter, Almon A. Warren, Francis J. Sullivan, and Ross E. Haynes.

PREFER COMPENSATION TO ANOTHER HUSBAND

Oregon women who are left widows by the deaths of husbands in industrial accidents are not strongly prone to re-marriage, as shown by statistics of the state industrial accident department. Of a total of 563 women who have become widows since July 1, 1914, when the compensation act became operative, only 34, or 6.04 per cent have remarried. When a widow remarries her compensation under the act ceases, but she is allowed a lump sum of $300 at her marriage, while the compensation allowed children by her deceased husband continues.

Of the 34 widows who have remarried the figures show that 10 remarried before one year had elapsed after the husband's death, 14 under two years following the accident, seven under three years and three under four years. Taken year by year the following figures are shown:

July 1, 1914, to June 30, 1915—Widows left by fatal accidents, 71; married under one year, 2; under two years, none; under three years, 3; under four years, 2; total remarriages, 7; per cent, 9.86.

July 1, 1915, to June 30, 1916—Widows, 7; remarried under one year, none; under two years, 4; under three years, 2; under four years, 1; total remarriages, 7; per cent, 9.72.

July 1, 1916, to June 30, 1917—Widows, 90; remarried under one year, 6; under two years, 5; under three years, 2; under four years, none; total remarriages, 13; per cent, 13.33.

July 1, 1917, to June 30, 1918—Widows, 172; remarried under one year, 3; under two years, 5; under three years, none; under four years, none; total remarriages, 8; per cent, 4.65.

There have been no remarriages from July 1, 1918, to June 30, 1919. Of the 34 widows 11 were without children when remarried, eight had one child each, seven had two children, four had three children, three had four children and one had seven children. The average refund in each case was $6033.43.

PLANS STARTED FOR ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL

William Boyce Thompson of New York City, president of the Roosevelt Memorial Association, has appointed Dr. Henry Waldo Coe of Portland as chairman of the Oregon State Committee to cooperate with the National Committee in a nationwide campaign, October 20 to 27 for a $10,000,000 Memorial Fund. The purpose of the campaign is to raise funds for the erection of suitable monuments for the perpetuation of the memory of Theodore Roosevelt, the great American.

The fund is to be expended in erecting a monumental memorial in Washington, D. C., the one city which belongs to all Americans and which was so long the scene of Roosevelt's great labors for public welfare. Also, for the purchase and maintenance of a park at Oyster Bay, including at some future date the Roosevelt home at Sagamore Hill and the formation of an association for the development and application of Roosevelt ideals.

The memorials are to be the gifts of the nation, the tribute so many thousands of men, women and children have so ardently desired as a means of expressing their recognition and appreciation of the ideals and noble teachings for which Theodore Roosevelt lived.

CLUB WORKERS ADOPT PROGRAM OF 14 POINTS

Oregon girls' and boys' club programs, like President Wilson's peace aims, have 14 points, explained by Miss Alice Joyce, assistant club leader, as follows:

Call to order by president; music in charge of leader; reading of minutes previous meeting by secretary; announcement of plans by president; roll call of progress; address by special speaker; surprise—leader in charge; club clippings and reports; consideration of new projects; demonstration team; local leader's remarks; special entertainment; games.

GRAVES OF DOUGHBOYS PHOTOGRAPHED BY SCOUTS

Out on the silent battlefields of France, at Lille, St. Quentin, Soissons, Rheims, Sedan, Vongoes, and other shellscared places where Americans lie buried, little boys, clad in khaki, are seen daily, exploring the cross-covered graves, placing flowers upon them and carefully taking photographs of the grass-covered mounds where doughboys sleep.

Poppies bloom there, and birds sing overhead while these lads, to whom the booming of the 65's and the flashing of night-fires are still vivid memories, move carefully thru the rows of tilting crosses. Now and then, they may be seen to stop, to look at a piece of paper, move off a few feet, pull out a camera, photograph some grave, then, from a basket slung over their shoulders, produce some flowers with which they tenderly deck the "final slumbering-places."

They are French Boy Scouts, who, as National Scout Commissioner Beigbeder of Paris writes to Chief Executive James E. West of National Headquarters, have chosen this way to pay homage to Boy Scouts of America or their brothers or other relatives who have died for France.

Families of Boy Scouts in this country are sending the name, rank, and regiment to Commissioner Beigbeder, together with an idea of where the graves are located. And this information is promptly dispatched to local troops whose members find the biers, hallow them with flowers, perpetuate them with photographs, and send them on to the Commissioner who forwards them to the relatives of the Boy Scouts in this country.

EXTENSION OF TIME ON TRADE AGREEMENTS

The United States Grain Corporation announces an extension of time on the acceptance of trade agreements from July 31st until August 20th. Grain dealers, millers, flour jobbers, bakers and terminal elevator operators who have not yet signed their respective Form of Agreement may still secure blank forms of Agreement and have them accepted, provided they are signed and returned to this office on or before August 20th.
