The fastest and finest boat on the river is the Balley Gatsort, and it runs through from Portland to The Dalles, Lyle, White Balmon, Hotel River, Moffett's, St. Martin and Collins' Hot Springs, Cascade Locks and way points without change, notwithstanding false without change notwithstanding false statements to the contrary, reaching destination from one to two hours shead of any other steamer on the river. If you would link comfort with this trip, see that the Bailey Gatzert remains uppermost in your mind. The toothpick and observatory deck affords an unobstructed view of the scenery. Traveling, unless for pleasura, is in most cases tiring, but this ride, if taken on the Gatzert, never. Meals served on board and leave nothing to be desired—couldn't be better. Gatzert leaves Alder street wharf at 7 a. m. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Steamer Regulator leaves same wharf at same time every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Phone Main 914.

The Steamer Charles R. Spencer, the newest and fastest boat on the river, will be laid up next Friday and Saturday, for the purpose of cleaning up her boilers preparatory to beginning her daily round trip runs to The Dalles next Monday. After that date—July 18—the Spencer will leave foot of Washington street at 7 s. m. as usual, for The Dalles and way landings, returning to Portland the same day, at between 9 and 10 p. m. This run will afford pleasure-soekers the delightful opportunity of enjoying the magnificent scenery along the Columbia and return to the city without change of boat. Or, if desired, the passenger may disembark at any landing and get on board again upon the return of the steamer in the afternoon or evening. The Steamer Charles R. Spencer, the 261 East First street north, was run over by Assistant Fire Chief Young's horse and wagon yesteday afternoon at Fourth and Burnside streets at 5 o'clock. He was injured about the head and face. He was taken to a drug store and his wounds attended. The fire to which Young was going was at Twelfth and Pettygrove It was a pile of which Young was going was at Twelfth and Pettygrove, It was a pile of boards. Assistant Chief Laudenklaus was also going there and met Young at the intersection of the streets where the accident occurred. Young was forced to run over Gantenbein to avoid a collision with Laudenklaus.

E. H. Hatch, an employe of the firm of Woodard, Clarke & Co., was firm of Woodard, Clarke & Co., was nearly crushed to death in an elevator shaft in the building where he is em-ployed yesterday afternoon. In some manner he was caught between the iron grating and the cage of the elevator and before the elevator boy, Joseph Braden, could stop the lift it had dragged Hatch up several feet in its ascent. The space between the elevator and the grating is only about 10 inches and he was wedged into it so tight that part of the outside grating had to be removed before he could be extricated. Hatch was prac-

Dr. Woods Hutchinson and Deputy County Health Officer Evans yesterday morning inspected sanitary conditions from the Portland Sanitarium westward. Dr. Hutchinson stated that conditions existing in that section are a menace to the health of the people of Sunnyside, "for," he said, "all the sewerage flows into the ravines. He is unsafe to allow present conditions to continue. The septic tank is the only remedy at the present time. From three to ten houses present time. From three to ten houses could be grouped together, a single tank being built for each group. This would greatly lessen the cost." In the vicinity of Montavilla similar conditions exist.

Parsons' hall was well filled last night to hear Miss Rheo White, a recent graduate of the Boston School of Expression, in a dramatic recital. Miss White was assisted by Miss Lillian Myers and Edgar Coursen. Her voice is contraito in quality and well modulated. One of her numbers, a selection from the Rubalyat of Omah Khayam, was given with a soft violin obligate by Miss Myers. Her first number was a dialogue, "At the Sign of the Cleft Heart." She also gave a reading of "Mr. Dooley on Christian Science." Other selections were "Tommy, the Newsboy, on Dogs." and part of Browning's "Youth and Art." Miss Myers rendered Beethoven's "Romance in C Major," and a Hungarian dance.

AT THE THEATRES

The performance of "In Morocco," as given by the Shields' Park company last night was the best yet produced by this clever organisation. The air of the amateur cast and open-air roughness, that was at first somewhat apparent, has been almost entirely eliminated and "In Morocco" as given at the initial performance last evening was really first-class.

The costumes were more gorgeous than they have been before, the music was not in such abundance but it was better, and the execution of principals and chorus was much superior to former efforts.

But what was especially noticeable

But what was especially noticeable was the smoothness with which the chorus and the entire cast carried out execution was the more surprising, the parts of the principals were heavier than those of former weeks, though "heavy" applied to burlesque and extravaganta is hardly in keeping, more pretentious would better describe the

Some of the "funny" work was sufficiently ludicrous for even a summer burlesque in an open air theatre. The gyrations, contortions, spasms, convulsions, nigger chasers and sky rocket twistings that Errol and Fitchett go through while being laced up by the damsels of the harem to assume the woman's disguise were funny. One is inclined to marvel that such a scientific and forceful job of lacing can be done and the human anatomy remain in one, undivided and inseparable, but the castaway tars emerged from the trying and tieing ordeal with their old time joility and care-killed-a-cat attitude.

The singing of Miss Forrest and Mr. Sawyer in "Some Day" was the musical feature of the play and the chorus work in this was worthy especial notice. The play continues through the week at the park.

One of the most pleasing vaudeville acts ever presented to Portland theatregoers is that entitled "Taming a Hushand." which holds forth at the Lyric this week. Gilmore and La Moyne, in whose hands it is entrusted by meri-torious efforts make it a most decided hit and infuse enthusiasm into the ap-plause which follows. The De Manoo plause which follows. The De Manco brothers, comedy acrobats, are peers in their line and offer an excellent turn. With her parodies on the latest popular songs Fanny Donovan delights. Frank E. McNish deplots an old time minstrel man. A lively comedy sketch is that given by Lord and Meeks and the usual moving pictures and Raymond Baldwin, the charming ballad singer, complete the bill. The Lyric ad, if clipped, is good for a free admission if accompanied by one paid admission.

was in the city yesterday and spent some time with Tom Word, sheriff of Multnomah county. Mr. Reese is on his way to Washington on business.

The Arcade bill was presented before large audiences yesterday. Comedy is the feature of the program. McGarver and Garey present a clever sketch. Daly and De Shontz introduce a pretty soubrette and a trick plano specialty. Delmar and Dexter do an amusing act portraying the troubles of a new attendant in an insane asylum. Robert Nome in a whistling and musical act introduces a new musical instrument, the "hose ophone." Kate Coyle, who has won popular favor as a contralto, sings "Down Where the Swanee River Flows."

Waldo and De Vere do a laughable novelly act. The bioscope closes with the pictured story of "Her Last Resource."

CLEVER ACTS AT THE STAR The new bill at the Star is one of the best yet presented. Two charming tots, the Heim children, sing, dance and do a burlesque upon the adult sketch act. Charles Edwin Inslee and Miss Paula Herbert do a clever bit of acting in the one act farce, "Palmistry." The Marvelous Martells do a bicycle act full of surprises and difficult feats. Linnie Love is a clever child singer and dancer. Donna Lucia presents a beautiful spectacle as she does her poses plastique in the midst of changing lights. The southern quartette sing favorite southern melodies, and their act is full of quaint humor. The projectoscope has quaint humor. The projectoscope has new moving pictures.

"UP TO TOMPRING." The Baker company is seen this week in a rattling farce comedy, which suggests a world of fun in the title, "Up to Tompkins." It was born to make people laugh, and is evidently serving its purpose well. Farce comedy seems to be the most attractive form for summer amusement and in the hands of the different members of the Portiand's favorite company cannot fall to please every one. The regular matines will be given Saturday.

CORDRAY'S OFFERING.

"Just Before Dawn," at Cordray's is the finest thing the Walters company has done during its engagement in this city. It combines everything necessary to make a play "go." It is a beautiful drama, uproariously funny at times, pathetic at others, full of heart interest and human nature. It touches upon the all-important labor question, and is in every respect down to the minute. The special engagement closes tomorrow night and but two performances remain.

AT THE BIJOU. The way their old friends and new ones turned out last evening to see Farmer Jones put his educated pigsthrough their pace was a surprise to the Bijou management. The porkers with diplomas act more cleverly than ever. The "Little Duchess," the child wonder, brought the curious to the theatre to see her resemblance to a wealthy local family, whose kin she is. Frank J. Walsh's baritone solos made a hit, and the Benningtons have something new.
