WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

The sturgeon catch continues good, but is not up to what it was a month ago.

Ward, Kerns & Robertson has a choice lot of wild hay at their barn on Second street. Just the feed for cows.

As the house did not organize yesterday, the first ballot for United States senator, will not be taken until Tuesday, the 28th.

This would be beautiful weather in which to be sending a diamond drill down into the earth in search of coal. Wonder if the committee that had the matter in charge has forgotten all about it.

Mr. G. D. Snowden has accepted the position of purser on the Regulator in place of Truman Butler, resigned. Mr. Snowden is an affable and obliging gentleman and will make an ideal officer. We understand that Mr. Butler resigned to accept a position in French & Co.'s bank.

The Commercial club is having the bowling alley re-lighted, the fixtures being put in place today. It will be so light when everything is completed, that the members can see there way home, the bowlers can see and raise each other, and the directors can see the funds of the club increase.

The funding bill, providing for re-arranging the Pacific railroad debts, failed to pass congress yesterday, the opposition having a majority of 66. President Cleveland has intimated that if congress did not do something, he would, hence it may be expected that steps will be taken at once towards foreclosing the lien.

The gentleman mentioned in yesterday's issue as creating a row over some one else escorting his wife, who has applied for a divorce from him, to her home, desires us to state that he has not interfered with, nor does he intend to interfere with his wife's actions, but says the trouble occurred over his children.

Legislative Notes.

The senate organized yesterday without any friction, Joe Simon being elected on the first ballot according to program. In the house the committee on credentials got in a wrangle, and when the house met at 4 o'clock, it was not ready to report, nor did it get ready last night. The matter of the speakership at present is doubtful, with the chances seemingly in favor of Benson. The Republicans of the senate held a caucus to decide upon the number of clerks and their salaries. It was decided to greatly reduce the number from that usually employed. The chief clerk is to be paid $5 per day and the other clerks $3, but even at this reduced rate, there will be no great scarcity of applicants. The senatorial question is, of course, the all-absorbing one. It is claimed Mitchell is backing Benson for speaker, and his election will mean a victory for the Mitchell faction. It remains to be seen if it can be achieved.

The Electors Met.

The four presidential electors met in the state capitol at noon yesterday, and each cast his ballot for William McKinley for president and Garrett A. Hobart for vice-president of the United States. The votes were certified, and copies made in triplicate, one of which was mailed to the vice-president of the United States, one will be deposited with the judge of the United States court of this district, and one will be sent by special messenger to the United States.

Hon. T. T. Geer was elected messenger, and will start on his mission in time to reach Washington by Monday, January 25th.

General satisfaction is expressed over the selection of Mr. Geer as messenger, as it is considered a well-earned honor. The messenger is allowed 25 cents mileage each way, which will create a fund of $700, or more. After paying the messenger's expenses, the remainder will be divided among the four electors.

Truman Butler Resigns.

The traveling public will regret exceedingly to learn that Truman Butler has resigned his position as purser on the Regulator. His genial disposition, affable manner and care in looking after the comfort and welfare of the passengers has made him a universal favorite. We cannot say more, lest our weak words of praise and commendation be taken as flattery, and yet we realize that those who know Truman, know that aught we might say would be short of what should be said. The company has lost a splendid officer, and the patrons of the boat will miss his genial presence and hold him long in kindly remembrance.

DIED.

At his home on 5-Mile creek, January 12, 1897, Mr. G. Wagenblast, aged 84 years.

A short funeral service will be held at the family residence Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, after which the body will be interred in Odd Fellows' cemetery in this city.

CITY COUNCIL MEETING.

Two License Ordinances Considered and Both Failed to Pass.

There was a special meeting of the city council last night to consider petitions, and take action on the matter of passing two ordinances, one licensing the sale of fresh meats, and the other licensing liquor sellers, the ordinance being framed to include drugstores in the list.

The ordinance licensing the sellers of fresh meats provided that all persons selling meats in quantities less than the whole carcass should pay a license of $25 per year. This had been referred to the finance committee, which made a verbal report suggesting an amendment that beef might be sold in quantities not less than one-quarter, and recommending the passage of the ordinance as amended. Messrs. Phirman and Chrisman, representing the butchers, each at the request of the council, made a statement concerning the matter, as did also Councilman Wood. The amendment being carried, the petitioners asked leave to withdraw their petition, which was granted, and further consideration of the ordinance was indefinitely postponed.

The ordinance licensing the sale of liquors was then read, and being placed upon its final passage, the petitioners appeared by counsel, A. S. Bennett, and the remonstrators by H. S. Wilson. The latter took the position that under the charter the city council had authority only to license bar-rooms, tipping houses, and drinking shops, and could not regulate the sale of liquors in drugstores or anywhere else where it was sold by the bottle, and not drunk in the house. He also argued that under the terms of the license to saloons or drinking shops, no minors or women could be allowed in them, and that the drugstores, if licensed, would fall under this prohibition. Judge Bennett presented the other side of the case, claiming that under the charter of 1895 the city could regulate the sale of any commodity. On going to a vote the council stood four for and four against, so the ordinance failed to pass. The recorder was then on motion instructed to draw up an ordinance, licensing the sale of liquors by the bottle or in quantities less than one gallon, where it was not to be drunk in the place where sold, and fixing the amount at $150 per year.

There being no further business, the council adjourned.

A Bad Runaway.

A runaway occurred near the old stone place, about ten or eleven miles from town, on New Year's day, that came near resulting fatally. Polk Bolton and his wife were going home after spending the day with A. D. Bolton at Boyd. Mr. Bolton got out of the wagon to open the gate, and after the team passed through walked along behind the wagon. The horses took fright and started to run. Mr. Bolton started after them and climbed on the wagon, when it struck a rock and threw him to the ground.

The team ran a short distance, when the tongue of the wagon dropped down, stopping it almost instantly. Mrs. Bolton was thrown clear over a barbed wire fence, and was pretty seriously bruised and hurt, but fortunately no bones were broken. She was taken to Mr. Lee Bolton's place, where she has remained ever since, but is recovering slowly.

Boyd Items.

EDITOR CHRONICLE:

I have seen but few items in your paper from this section of the country this winter, so I will send you a few gathered from Boyd and the surrounding country.

The farmers have been very busy during the present spell of pleasant weather, doing their spring plowing, so that there will be a very large acreage of grain put in next spring, and the prospects for large crops are very flattering.

The Mac Culloch Literary Society held its regular meeting at the Liberty school house last Saturday evening. The main feature of the program was a farce in two acts, entitled, "The Irish Linen Peddler." The school house was well filled, and every one was well pleased with the evening's entertainment. The play was well rendered, every one performing their parts well. The characters were as follows:

Mr. Darling	Foot McKeller
Mrs. Wade	Mrs. W. J. Harrington
Miss Darling	Miss Beattie Hastings
John Flannagan	Roy Solteck
Mollie	Miss Inez Woolery
Irish Peddler	B. E. Selteck

The play consisted of a series of very laughable mistakes. The society will give an entertainment in the near future, for which an admission will be charged, the proceeds to go for the purchasing of an organ for the school house. Everybody is cordially invited to attend the meetings every Saturday evening.

The Boyd school re opened the first Monday after the holidays, with all the pupils present, and several from the surrounding vicinity who have moved to that place so as to have the benefit of a winter school. The school is under the management of Mr. Roy Butler, a young man who will spare no pains to make the school a success.

The Liberty High school, now under the management of Mr. W. L. Harrington, is flourishing. The school is for the benefit of the older pupils who wish to take up higher studies than are taught in the common district school, and those who are attending are making very rapid progress.

The country near Boyd can boast of a practical joker as well as The Dalles. Last Friday evening while some of the young people were gathered at one of the neighbors to practice their parts for Saturday evening's programme, some one wired some of the gates, through which they would have to pass on their way home, but they were not smart enough to get away with it, for they were detected and the next morning had the pleasure of unwiring the gates themselves. The next time they will be careful to see that no one is watching or them.

We all know that any tired muscle can be restored by rest. Your stomach is a muscle. Dyspepsia is its manner of saying "I am tired. Give me rest." To rest the stomach you must do its work outside of the body.

This is the Shaker's method of curing indigestion, and its success is best attested by the fact that these people are practically free from what is without doubt the most prevalent of all diseases, The Shaker Digestive Cordial not only contains digested food which is promptly absorbed without taxing the tired digestive organs, but it is likewise an aid to the digestion of other foods in the stomach. A 10 cent trial bottle will convince you of its merit, and those you can obtain through all druggists. (3)

Laxol is the best medicine for children. Doctors recommend it in place of Castor Oil.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. I gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton.
