NOW FOR COAL.

We are pleased to note that the money for purchasing a diamond drill has nearly all been raised, and that the full sum is now assured. It is a pleasing sign of awakened energy on the part of our people, of assurance that we can pull together for a common purpose, and that we understand at last that nothing ventured, nothing is won.

The prospecting for coal is of course but an experiment, but it is an experiment that must be made to test the matter. It is an experiment that had to be made at every point where coal is now successfully mined. Everything is favorable to a successful result. There are splendid coal measures, consisting of conglomerate and sand shales, and the coal encountered in boring wells in the city shows that the proper conditions have existed for furnishing valuable beds of it. This may not prove true, but if not, we shall at least know that we have done our duty in demonstrating that fact. If we lose, we have lost a trifle; if we win, we have made The Dalles the most prosperous city on the coast.

We congratulate our citizens on their pluck in going down into their pockets in these hard times, and sincerely hope their liberality will be rewarded a hundred thousand fold.

The Oregonian but a month or two ago called Jonathan Bourne a scoundrel, and the free silverists anarchists. Now it is like peas in a pod with the whole lot. It indorses their action in holding up the state, and says the house is not organized because the parties who want to organize it intend to do so on a boodle basis. That Jonathan Bourne, Joe Simon, the Populists, the Democrats, the free silver Republicans, the Oregonian and its "anarchists," all want it organized on an economical basis. Is this true? Is it true that the legislators the Oregonian urged the people to vote for are all thieves, and the other fellows all saints? The Oregonian, like an ostrich, has stuck its head in the sand and imagines it is hidden, being unaware that the larger portion of its anatomy is plainly visible.

Oregon presents the spectacle of a great commonwealth being held up by a few political tricksters and robbed to the tune of thousands of dollars every day. Joe Simon is the chief of the band of highwaymen, and he is being ably assisted by Jonathan Bourne, and all others opposed to the election of John H. Mitchell. We regret that the infantile member from Antelope, "Baby Jones," is in with the gang of robbers. He was sent from this district to legislate for the people, and his first duty is to assist in organizing the legislature. The election of a senator is a secondary consideration. The house should be organized at once, and then let the best man win in the senatorial fight.

Congressman Ellis has had his bill, extending for two years the time in which to make final proof on forfeited railroad lands, passed by the house. It seems quite probable that it will also pass the senate. The bill is of doubtful utility, as nearly all those who had claims on the lands have perfected their titles. There are some, though, who will be benefited, just as there would be some who would not be ready to pay if the time were extended until Gabriel's trumpet sounded.

Our sheepmen, who have been depending on a joint memorial from our legislature to congress, concerning the opening of the Cascade forest reserve, had best get on another tack. From present indications congress will adjourn before the legislature organizes. This being the case, our stockmen had better get a move on and apply directly to congress for the relief prayed for. They may not get it, but they will at least have a chance to be heard.

The members of the third house are not getting much newspaper notoriety. For three whole days not one of them has had the pleasure of seeing his name in print. Can it be that their small rays have been swallowed up in the effulgence of that legislative sun, Jonathan? or has his champagne proved more eloquent than their mere idle words?

The Oregonian is remarkably quiet. Waking up to find itself in bed with the Populists and Democrats, it has turned over on its little back and gone to sucking its little rosy toes, deriving what consolation it may from the uniqueness of its surroundings. The act illustrates the position, showing that extremes have met.

Three of the counties of the state have ignored the action of the state board of equalization, and purpose collecting taxes according to the assessment made by the county assessors. It is probable more of the counties will follow suit, especially those where the assessment was raised materially.

With Joe Simon and Jonathan Bourne yoked together, the Oregonian and its recent "anarchists" lying peacefully side by side, it would not require a great stretch of the imagination to believe the millenium was at hand. The lie and the lamb are down together.

A gentleman just home from Salem says that Jonathan Bourne is overreaching himself. That he is feeding and winning the cow county members in a manner they are not accustomed to, and that within two weeks the whole lot will be laid up with the gout.

The progressive ladies of Westfield, Ind., issued a "Woman's Edition" of the Westfield News, bearing date of April 3, 1896. The paper is filled with matter of interest to women, and we notice the following from a correspondent, which the editors printed, realizing that it treats upon a matter of vital importance to their sex: "The best remedy for croup, colds and bronchitis that I have been able to find is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For family use it has no equal. Gladly recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

The Grandest Remedy.
Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by the use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for Coughs, Colds and Consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottle free at Blakeley & Houghton's Drug store. (2)
