WAYSIDE GLEANINGS.

Random Observations and Local Events of Lesser Magnitude.

Don't forget
The excursion
On next Saturday.

Two furnished rooms to rent, with or without board. Apply to Mrs. P. Cram, Liberty street. jn28-w

The city council meets Wednesday evening, and persons having bills against the city should present them then.

The fire boys are going to give an excursion Saturday which should be liberally patronized. This is for the benefit of the tournament. Help it.

Mrs. Potter will furnish meals at the Potter House during the encampment of the militia at Hood River. Also hot and cold baths. House is convenient to camp grounds. jn28-29

Those attending the encampment will find the Potter house a most comfortable one. It is indeed one of the prettiest places in the valley, and is situated just across the road from Camp Jackson.

Our citizens have very generously responded to the requests of the reception committee of the Sunday school convention and have thrown open their doors for the entertainment of visiting guests.

About 125 men are working on the railroad from Biggs to Wasco. There will be no heavy bridges, as the country through which the survey runs is well adapted for railroad building.

Two companies of militia boys passed through town on their way to Hood River this morning. They were from Pendleton and La Grande. The encampment is now in full blast and Hood River thronged with visitors.

Following is the highest daily bowling scores last week at the Commercial Club: Monday, F. H. Van Norden 54; Tuesday F. W. Wilson, 52; Wednesday, M. H. Robinson 54; Thursday, P. DeHuff 45; Friday, Vic Schmidt 57; Saturday, W. L. Bradshaw 45.

The ladies of the Methodist church will serve ice cream and cake today and tomorrow from 2 till 11 p. m. The charge is to be only 15 cents, and those who go will get their money worth. The ladies hope to see all the friends of the church and will do their best to entertain them.

Some miscreant poisoned a fine dog belonging to Fletch Faulkner yesterday. In the controversy as to what kind of a man is the meanest, the fellow who goes around and poisons a good dog, should be ranked first. He is meaner than the man who puts buttons in the collection plate, and should be classed with the fellow who goes home and scolds his wife because something went wrong with him down town.

At the regular review of The Dalles Tent, No. 20, K. O. T. M., last Wednesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing semi-annual term: Sir Knight Commander, C. C. Cooper; Lieut.-Commander, F. Sandrock; Record Keeper, G. W. Phelps; Finance Keeper, J. P. McInerney; Chaplain, H. W. French; Sergeant, C. F. Lauer; Master-at-Arms, J. Nitschke; 1st Master of Guards, J. Zimmerman; 2d Master of Guards, A. D. McCully; Sentinel, A. Sandrock; Picket, J. H. Weigel.

A gentleman from California, who is visiting in the city, made a remark soon after he arrived that he could not, for the life of him, see what it was that kept up so large a city as The Dalles. The gentleman to whom he was speaking said that The Dalles had a good many resources which were not visible at first glance, but when known, explained why our city was so growing and prosperous. But the Californian was still a doubter and so, by way of illustration, his host took him yesterday through the wool warehouses at the East End. As the stranger looked through the mammoth structures full to the roof with bales and saw teams bringing in more wool, and others departing with merchandise, he exclaimed: "It's easy to see now what has made The Dalles such a prosperous looking place. Why, I never saw such tangible evidences of prosperity as I have seen today." And when he was told that after the wool was sold and shipped and the grain harvested over, the warehouses would be full of wheat, he was still further amazed. Our friend returned from his visit with a better realization of why The Dalles claims, as it does, to be the best business city of its size on the Pacific coast.

PERSONAL MENTION.

J. A. Little of Antelope is spending a few days in town.

H. F. Davidson, a fruit grower of Hood River, is in the city.

D. D. Oliphant, a wholesale merchant of Portland, is in the city.

Jack O'Neil, a well-known railway man of Portland, was in town this morning.

Messrs. Frank Hampton, James Pelton and V. Geener of Prineville are in The Dalles today.

Mr. R. C. Nichol, traffic agent of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, is in the city on business connected with that line.

Grand Chancellor Turner Oliver of the K. of P., accompanied by his wife, went to Portland on the Dalles City this morning.

Rev. J. H. Miller, formerly pastor of the Calvary Baptist church in this city, came down from Heppner this morning and will spend a week visiting his son, J. Guy Miller.

Club Meeting.

There will be a special meeting of the Commercial Club Wednesday evening, to consider some very important matters. It is urged that every member be present on that occasion. jn26-tf

IN THE METHODIST CHURCH

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL UNION MEETS IN CONVENTION.

A Large Attendance and Interesting Exercises--A Full Report of All That Happened.

The state convention of Sunday school workers begun its session last evening in the Methodist church. A large number of the delegates from all portions of the state were present and in addition, the church was filled with interested spectators. The meeting opened with devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. J. L. Hershner of Hood River. Following this came a beautiful address of welcome, delivered by Mrs. M. E. Briggs. In welcoming the visitors to our city, Mrs. Briggs said in part:

Upon me has fallen the pleasant duty of bidding welcome to the strangers within our gates, and yet I am sure could you have any idea of how we have talked of this gathering and of how much benefit and pleasure we expect to derive from having our co-workers in Christ with us, you would not need to be told you are welcome, you would feel and know it. I believe among all the Christian people of The Dalles there is but one sentiment, and that is to do what we can, to do our utmost, giving you all our hospitality, in order that you may understand how glad we are to have you among us. The message I bring to you from the officers and members of all the Sunday schools in this town is one of welcome, greeting and glad cheer. Through this state association and interchange of theories and plans we feel assured we will be better fitted to take up our Sunday school work for another year. In our eager desire to have successful schools and to obtain the best results, we sometimes grow a little discouraged and feel as the people of Macedonia did in the cry to Paul, "Come over and help us." Tell us your plans and let us strengthen one another, and when we separate and return to our own vineyards of our Heavenly Master, we can say with one voice, "It was good for us to be here."

In this progressive day and age we feel we must be constantly on the alert and very progressive, or else we find we have not accomplished as much as the schools which cope with the progress of today. "This is the day which the Lord hath made, we will rejoice and be glad in it." He made for us the future days are for the coming generations; but we have nothing to do with the duties of the past and the future. Our day is here and now, and if we fail to improve this time, we are a failure for all time.

There are two kinds of people on earth today. Just two kinds of people, no more, I say. Not the saint and the sinner, for the saint is dead. The good are half bad, and the bad are half good. Not the rich and the poor, for to count a man's wealth you must first know the state of his conscience and health. Not the humble and proud, for to judge a man's span Who puts on vain airs is not counted a man.

Not the happy and sad, for the sad man never brings each man his laughter and joy to his tears. Not the two kinds of people on earth today. Are the people who lift and the people who lean. Where'er you go you will find the same faces. Are always divided in just these two groups. And, oddly enough, you will find the same men. There is only one lifter to twenty leaneers. In which class are you? Are you leaning the load. Or are you a leaneer, who lets other men carry your portion of labor and worry?

Before I close let me say once again, in behalf of every Sunday school member here, I bring you these messages of welcome and greeting, and the point I insist upon you believing, understanding and appreciating is that it does not come from the lips only, but from deep in our hearts. I give it you, co-workers, this welcome and greeting, and ask you to receive it in the same hearty spirit that it is offered you.

In response to Mrs. Briggs words of welcome, Rev. C. H. McKee, of Athena, spoke some fitting words. The president's address, by Rev. G. E. Hawes of Portland, was upon "Past Results," and told of the work that had been done in former years and hinted at what was to come in the future. Rev. G. W. Gue, of Portland, who is recognized as one of the foremost pulpitaries of our state, delivered a stirring speech upon "The Outlook."

After some time spent in the delegates getting acquainted, the convention adjourned.

TUESDAY MORNING.

The convention opened with devotional exercises, led by Rev. E. E. Fix of Portland. There was a large number in attendance, and deep interest taken in the exercises. Following are the delegates in attendance:

Rev. G. W. Hawes, president of the association, A. A. Morse, secretary, C. J. Hays, Wm. Travis, Mrs. H. B. Morse, Mrs. McCavey, Rev. C. C. Poling, Rev. Gue, Misses Odell, McBride, Arbuckle, Smith, Allen, Mrs. Canfield, R. W. Pinkerton, H. L. Lamphier, Miss M. E. Brenner, Mrs. Bardon, Miss Bessie Lee, Rev. W. J. Hughes, Mr. B. J. Kelley and wife, Mrs. Shaw, Rev. W. R. Winans, Mrs. E. W. Allen, Mrs. Boen, J. K. Groom, Miss Jacobs, A. A. Banner, Rev. Hershner, Mr. Windham, Mrs. R. C. Willis, Mr. F. O. McCauley, M. A. Gilkey, Mr. and Mrs. Fix, Mrs. Wilson, Mr. Merrell, Mr. Miller, H. D. Dierks.

The reports from counties was very interesting, and though not showing a large increase in schools during the last year, yet the outlook was considered hopeful, and when a show of delegates from various counties was called, Sherman county seemed to be one of the largest delegations.

The treasurer's report showed a small indebtedness against the association, with more than $500 received and expended during the year.

At this point in the program, Mr. Wm. Wadhams rendered a solo, which was much enjoyed by the delegates.

A report was made on the Oregon Sunday School Tidings, a paper published by the association. The report caused a very lively discussion.
