THE TRUST BOGY.

We do not yet quite know about the trusts, says the San Francisco Chronicle. We have not yet heard of any one who can show how he has been made poorer by their existence, although, of course, there may be such. It is certain, at any rate, that no widespread poverty has yet resulted from them. So far as can be judged their ownership is more generally distributed than that of the units of which they are composed. It is not yet clear what we ought to do about them, if anything. One thing, however, we do know, which is that they are absolutely helpless in the hands of the people, and that the first symptoms of serious injury to the common weal will be the signal for their destruction. Everybody knows that so far as they can do so they will oppress, but nobody that we know of can tell how they are going to do it. The fact is that the concentration of industrial power under one responsible head greatly simplifies the problem of industrial control by the public. We have now only one to watch where formerly there were many. Neither is it easy to see how industrial consolidation leads to socialism. The affairs of the world are and always will be controlled by that great majority who have in their possession that which they call their own, and which they intend to keep. The farmer and the householder have no more intention of surrendering their land to the "state" than the owners of mills, and, regardless of the frequent conflicts between capital and labor, there is not a machinist now on strike in America who would not think his chances of steady work at good pay infinitely better while business is directed by captains of industry than they would be if the same business were directed by captains of politics. If the trusts are the source of any danger it is economic, and when the public sees just what the danger is it will also see how to prevent it by orderly, reasonable methods.

THE COUNTRY EDITOR.

"No man in the community does more for the public and receives less for it than the country editor," said Senator H. Clay Heather, of Palmyra, Marion county, in the Missouri state senate, when the bill reducing the price for publishing the Australian ballot was under consideration.

"If all the space he employs in booming the town, in helping individuals, in making statesmen—sometimes out of pretty raw material—were paid for even at half the legal rate, he would be the richest man in the county. Few country editors are rich, but they are of more service to the communities where they live than the wealthiest man.

"They are in the forefront of every movement for progress. They do the work and leave the emoluments to others. A good, clean, honest country newspaper—and most country newspapers are good and clean and honest—helps on every worthy cause and deserves every encouragement.

"It fights the party battles, holds up the hands of the reformer and makes the scoundrel afraid. I am opposed to this bill. No paper in my county would print the ballot at the pitiful price named. They are not paupers. But, for the amount of splendid public service they render, they ought to be millionaires."

An octogenarian gives the following maxims for long life: "No ples or cakes, no pain or aches. Most men dig their graves with their teeth. Don't get excited; every time you fret you lose a minute of life. If you over work your liver it will soon tell on your brain. Live like a farmer and you will live like a prince. Men can live ten days without eating; they don't do it without pure air for five minutes. If you catch cold eat an onion. Employ yourself in useful work, and take plenty of exercise."

NOLAN'S Profit-Sharing Association.

The first monthly dividend has been distributed to the profitable satisfaction of thirteen of my customers. The only regret is that I was not able to give a valuable present to each of my customers. I think they all deserve one.

On Saturday, July 6th, I will give away two music boxes—one worth $27.50, playing eight tunes, and one worth $7.50; a sack of sugar and a barrel of flour. I will give a cash rebate of $3.00 to customer paying the most money by that date, and $2.00 to the one paying in the second largest amount. On each Saturday, commencing on the 15th of June and including July 6th, I will, in addition to the two presents given each week, give a $1.00 rebate to the customer paying the largest amount during the week.

Purchasers of goods in my line will do well to keep in mind that I sell goods as low as the lowest, as well as share the profit with my customers.
