

PADDOCK WILL GET 4 WORLD RECORDS

SPRINT MARVEL MAY BE STAMPED FASTEST MAN IN HISTORY.

By Henry L. Farrell
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, April 26.—Charlie Paddock, sensational University of Southern California sprinter, will get four world's records that will stamp him as the greatest runner of history, if Robert S. Weaver, president of the A. A. U., has anything to do with it.

"Paddock's records of Saturday at Redlands should be accepted," Weaver wired today to the United Press.

"I personally made all the arrangements. Five timers and judges were on all the tapes and their watches were all tested by experts. The track was surveyed by civil engineers.

"Weather conditions were unfavorable. It was cold, with a slight breeze blowing diagonally across the track, striking the runners a little in the face.

"Paddock ran out the 100 yards for the 100-meter record. In the 220 he went on through tapes at 200 meters, 300 yards and 300 meters. All the watches agreed, with the exception of the 300 yard and 300 meters. Two watches got him at faster time than was allowed.

"I started the events, refereed, and saw that everything was authentic. All the officials had lots of experience and there can be no reason why the records should not stand. The records Paddock recently made in the 100 yards and the 220 yards have not been sent east as yet, but will accompany the new ones when filed."

THE SCOREBOARD.

Yesterday's hero: Wee Bernie Neiss. The diminutive Brooklyn gardener hit a home run in the sixth inning that knocked the Giants into third place and gave the Robins a 4 to 1 victory.

"Irish" Meusel knocked his fourth homer of the year and the Phillies beat the Braves, 7 to 6.

Tierney, Pittsburgh's sensational recruit, tied the score with a single in the ninth and won it with a bingle in the tenth. The Cardinals were on the low end of 6 to 5.

Carl Mays held Washington hitless for seven innings, but they got him in the eighth and ninth and beat the Yankees, 5 to 3. The Bambino got his fifth homer.

Four runs in the second inning gave Cleveland a 5 to 3 victory over Detroit.

Five hits bunched in the sixth inning gave the Cubs three runs—enough to beat the Reds, 3 to 2.

Singles by McIntosh and Menoskey, after Harris had passed two in the seventh inning, gave the Red Sox a 3 to 2 win over the Mack men.

SEAT SALE FOR BIG FIGHT OVER $100,000

By United Press
NEW YORK, April 26.—Mail applications for nearly $100,000 worth of seats to the Dempsey-Carpentier fight have been received by Tex Rickard.

Out of town mail yesterday brought orders for $35,000. A Chicago delegation applied for 200 ringside seats and Los Angeles fans want 350. Both are arranging to come on special trains. Specials are also being arranged from Spokane, Tulsa, Dallas, Fort Worth, St. Louis and Kansas City, Rickard said today.

Canada has ordered $18,000 worth of tickets.

Rickard starts work this week on the arena in Jersey City. He also has insured the principals for $100,000.

WHO WILL WIN?

By United Press
NEW YORK, April 26.—Jack McAuliffe, retired undefeated lightweight champion:

"If the Frenchman comes to Dempsey the fight won't last three rounds. I have boxed with Dempsey and Carpentier and know them. Carpentier is fast and can hit, as he showed when as a middleweight he floored Joe Jeannette and Frank Klaus. Whether the war did not sap a lot of his stamina remains to be seen. Dempsey, on the other hand, is almost as fast and can hit much harder."

* Workmen engaged in surfacing the Columbia River highway near the Deschutes river continue to make strange finds, as sand used in surfacing is excavated from a sand bank adjoining the road.
* Many theories have been advanced as to the identity of the skeletons which are being uncovered daily by workmen. The large number of comparatively modern implements of various kinds, including copper kettles, a telescope, a compass and an army saddle, is pointed out by some as indicative that the skeletons are those of white persons.
* This theory is somewhat borne out by the finding during the last several days of additional skeletons, this time showing evidence of the bodies having been buried in crude wooden coffins.
* The Indian burial custom was to take the bodies to one of the islands in the middle of the Columbia river, where they were stacked in "dead" houses, it is pointed out.
* In addition to the several additional skeletons found, about 100 silver thimbles have been sifted out of the sand. Each of these thimbles has a small hole in the end.

MANIAC'S STORY OF SLAYING CONFIRMED

BODIES OF TWO BOYS KILLED
BY INSANE FATHER ARE FOUND.

By United News
SAN RAFAEL, Cal., April 26.—"Their mother in Heaven was calling, so I had to kill them so they could go to her," explained John Cornyen, self confessed slayer of his two sons, Arthur and Andrew, as he stared with glassy eyes at the dead bodies of the two small boys.

"They begged pitifully," he continued, "but they looked so pretty and handsome that I had to do it." Cornyen, who was recently released from the Agnew hospital for the insane, had tried to kill his children several times before. When he was committed to the asylum the children became wards of the juvenile court and were brought to St. Vincent's orphanage here.

Apparently cured of his homicidal mania, Cornyen applied for an order to allow him to get the two boys from the asylum so that he could, as he said, take them to visit their sister Ruth, two and a half years old, who is being cared for at St. Joseph's asylum.

Yesterday morning he appeared at the orphanage and secured the boys, Arthur, nine and Andrew, seven. He started for San Francisco, but the boys wanted to go for a hike in the hills.

At Corte Madera, seven miles south of here, they left the train and walked to the top of Chapman Hill, the highest point near here. "When we got up," said Cornyen, "I heard their mother calling, so I shot them, so they could go to her."

Today a searching party found the bodies. Both boys had been shot through the head.

"I shot Andrew first," declared Cornyen, "Then Arthur started to cry. He didn't know what to do. Then I shot him."

Yesterday Cornyen appeared at the police station in San Francisco and told detectives that he had killed his two sons. He was so incoherent that police officials at first thought he was under the influence of liquor or drugs. Later he became more rational and offered to lead the police to the scene of the crime.

Two detectives started for Marin county with him. Sheriff Keating met the party at the ferry and tried to get Cornyen to tell him where he had taken his children.

He refused to tell where he had committed the crime but said that he would lead officers to the scene.

The party started out and searched the hills of Marin county under the leadership of the demented man for several hours. As it became apparent that he had no recollection of his surroundings a call was sent out to the orphan asylum for help in combing the broken country back of Corte Madera.

In the meantime Leta Thompson, telephone operator who lives on Chapman hill, heard reports of the tragedy and suddenly recollected she had seen a man and two small boys near her home yesterday and that she had heard two shots after they had gone out of sight.

Another searching party immediately left for Chapman hill and they found the bodies lying face down under a cypress tree at the very top of the hill.
Cornyen broke down when brought to the place where the boys were. A charge of murder has been brought against him by Sheriff Keating. He is now confined in the county jail under double guard to prevent any attempt at lynching.

FRANCE PREPARES

The approval of Premier Briand, were scrutinized last night by members of the cabinet.

The complete plans were taken to London today by Louis Loucheur, minister of the redeemed French territories.

He left last night to embark on a channel steamer.

Cabinet members believed it certain that Germany's newest reparations proposals will be unsatisfactory.

Premier Briand, it was announced, will leave Friday for another conference with Lloyd George. He believed this session might last five or six days.

PARIS, April 26.—Regardless of the outcome of Germany's new reparations proposals, France will demand immediate occupation of the Ruhr valley if the reparations commission's demand for surrender of the Reichsbank's metal reserve is not met by Friday, it was officially stated today.

The reparations commission first asked Germany to place her entire metal reserve in the Reichsbank branches at Coblenz and Cologne. This was refused and the commission now wants complete surrender of one billion gold marks by Friday.

The commission and the French government regard the ultimatum as outside the general question of reparations.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Germany's trump card in the desperate reparations game was laid before Secretary of State Hughes today.

With the note to the United States forwarding new reparations proposals, Germany hopes at the eleventh hour to stave off military occupation of the rich Ruhr region, which the allies are determined to carry out to enforce their reparations demands.

The German note is in answer to Secretary Hughes' recent rejection of Germany's plea that President Harding mediate the reparations question. Hughes in his reply expressed the hope that Germany formulate new proposals which could be taken as a proper basis for further negotiations.

Dispatches from Berlin stating that Germany has agreed in the new proposals to negotiate on the basis of a sum approaching the allied demands of 226,000,000,000 gold marks, have led to the belief that the United States may approve the new German program.

BERLIN, April 26.—Germany's newest offer of reparations to be allies is 200,000,000,000 gold marks in annuities, it was stated officially today.

The sum is equal to about $47,500,000,000.

The offer was regarded as the equal of fifty billion marks with interest over the long period of payment.

NOTES WASHED ASHORE ARE INVESTIGATED

By United News
SEATTLE, April 26.—Two notes, purported to be written by dying people, were being investigated tonight. One was picked up on the beach near Port Townsend.

"March 31, '21. So long Mary. We are sinking. Yours lovingly, Kate."

It is believed to have been written by a passenger on the ill-fated Governor which went down with a loss of nine lives at midnight, March 31. The other note was found on the beach near here. It is signed "Benjamin Franklin."

"I was capsized while in my boat. I leave everything to my wife," it reads. Both notes were in bottles.

PRESIDENT'S ENGLISH HAS GERMAN SAVANT STUMPED

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 26.—Professor Einstein, originator of the much noted "Einstein theory," has sprung a number of things upon the intellectual world that most of it couldn't understand. It remained for President Harding Monday to hand Dr. Einstein something the latter could not make head or tail of.

"I am delighted to meet you," said President Harding, greeting the famous professor at the white house. "I never have had the pleasure of meeting you before but of course have heard more and more of you in recent years."

"He doesn't understand you, Mr. President," broke in Mrs. Einstein. "he neither speaks nor understands the English language but I will tell him what you said."

Professor Einstein was one of a large delegation of delegates to the conference of the National Academy of Political Science which the President greeted.

NEWEST REPARATION

with him to a cabinet meeting a complete text of the German note.

LONDON, April 26.—The new German reparations offer, even if passed on to the allies by the United States, will not be accepted in its entirety, according to the belief of officials here.

The British and French are understood to be very much opposed to the mediation of reparations by a disinterested third party, such as the Germans favor. Neither would favor mediation by President Harding, it is believed.

The allies are rapidly becoming convinced that the Germans are trying to cloud the issue and bring in outside matters.

state organization, left Sunday for Salem, after having directed organization work in the county during the last several weeks. According to Evans, the 1000 acres now signed up are owned by 79 different fruit and produce growers, with nearly all of the acreage within a few miles of The Dalles.

A considerably larger amount of orchard was killed by the heavy freeze two winters ago, than was first thought to be the case, according to Evans. In coming to this county, the state association took United States government census reports on the amount of fruit and produce acreage in the county, as a basis upon which to work. Evans estimates that the big freeze killed enough trees to make the present acreage 25 percent less than that given in government records.
