Fancher, chairman of the auto camp ground committee. The camp ground is now accommodating from 20 to 25 cars a day, and at the present rate more than 5,000 people will have camped there by the close of this year's touring season, Fancher estimates.

Burial will be in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. A brother, James Osborn of Missouri, arrived in The Dalles on the same afternoon that the Tygh Valley rancher died. He had come all the way from Missouri to visit with his brother, only to find him dead. James Osborn will remain for the funeral services.

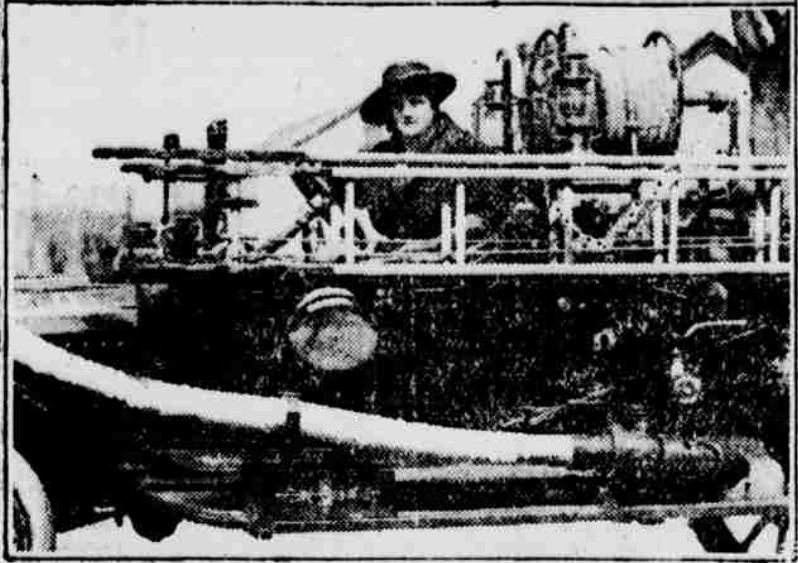

Prisoner Claims Innocence—With George Anderson, 16 years old, in custody, Sheriff Levi Christman returned last night from Medford, where he had gone to secure the prisoner. Anderson is charged with stealing an automobile owned by John Wermark of this city. He claims that he has never been in The Dalles before and that he was picked up by a companion at Roseburg and transported as far as Medford. At Medford, Anderson was arrested, his companion escaping. Owing to the youth of the prisoner his case will come before the juvenile court.

Pageant Pictures Coming—H. W. Arbury, Community Service director, was notified today that the pictures taken of the Historical pageant on May 27, will be in The Dalles next week for first viewing by members of the Community Service executive council. T. N. Fenton, the camera man who photographed the pageant, will accompany the pictures, and when they are viewed he will canvass the question of titles and other details needed for completion of the films. When the films are ready, it will be given several public exhibitions in The Dalles, and it is likely that a set will be purchased and preserved for the city's use.

Airplane Visitors — An airplane, carrying A. B. McKenzie, a former army aviator, as pilot, and R. L. Simmons of Portland, as passenger, stopped over for a short time in the city yesterday afternoon. They have been touring eastern Oregon and are returning to Portland. According to McKenzie, they passed through heavy rains yesterday in the vicinity of Antelope. They say that they have seen nothing in their flying experience equal to the Columbia river scenery. McKenzie will return to the city in the near future with a large new passenger plane. He may later establish a passenger schedule.

New Sunday School Organized — Rev. Clark M. Smith, missionary of the American Sunday School union, returned Wednesday afternoon from a week's trip reviewing organizations in Klickitat, Sherman and Morrow counties. Back in the Mattison district, 29 miles south of Heppner, where a minister seldom penetrates, Mr. Smith reorganized a Sunday school to run during the summer months. The snow gets too deep in the winter time, he said, for the school to continue in winter. At Emmigrant, Sherman county, where there is a school with an attendance of about 40 each Sunday, it has been decided to hold services on alternate Sundays during the harvest season.

Twilight League Forming — With local business men taking a keen interest, organization of a twilight baseball league is going steadily forward under the direction of Community Service Director H. W. Arbury. Six teams are now entered in the league: the musicians, barbers, retailers, bankers, office men and railroad men. The first league game is scheduled for Wednesday evening, 6:30 p. m. on Amaton field, between the barbers and the musicians. Anticipating a good game, the barbers are already practicing for Wednesday's fray. The musicians' team, made up of both dance and "legit" players, is rapidly rounding into shape and will be there with bells on Wednesday, according to local jazz artists.

Half-Year Licenses Ready — A number of automobiles that have been in seclusion during the first half of this year, will be on the streets of The Dalles again next week, adorned with 1921 license plates, according to City Recorder D. L. Cates. Quite a number of automobile owners have been holding their cars in storage waiting for July 1, when a state license may be secured at half price. In some instances, automobile owners attempted to keep their cars in operation by securing temporary licenses. Cates stopped this, however, by ruling that a check or cash sufficient to secure the license plates must be left with him upon the issuance of a temporary license, which he sends to the secretary of state for the car owner.

Rainfall Light—Jupe Pflaum, the old gentleman always seen on the magazine covers carrying a watering pot in his hand, passed over The Dalles last night upon a tour of inspection of the eastern Oregon district. He was carried by a spirited ethiopian cloud. When directly over the city, Jupe decided to freshen the atmosphere a bit and accordingly tilted his rain jar until a trickle of water floated down. Only .07 of an inch of rainfall was recorded at the chamber of commerce. This is not enough moisture to either do any harm or good, according to County Agent E. R. Jackman. Virtually all cherries near The Dalles are now picked, thus eliminating the possibility of the moisture causing them to crack, he explained. The rain broke up the open air dance at the Chenoweth grove pavilion.

Property Listings Wanted—Real estate listings of ranches for sale are not coming in fast enough to suit Chamber Secretary Van Schoick. Van is getting up a list of all property in the county that is offered for sale. This list will be presented to the eastern farmers who are on the "home seekers' special which will be in the county July 27. It is planned to take the easterners, probably about 150 in all, for an automobile tour over the county. On this tour all districts will be shown the home seekers, but individual ranches will be shown only when interest is displayed in any one district. All persons may list property for sale with the chamber under this plan. Absolutely no property will be shown the easterners that is not listed, Van Schoick said.
