Notice is hereby given to the Masters of the different autordinate Granges of Linu county, that it is their duty to elect three delegates from each Grange to attend a con-vention in Albany, on the second Monday in April, 1877, at 10 o'clock a. m. for the purpose of electing representatives to the State Grange, which meets in Salem on the

For the Willamette Farmer. THE PATRONS OF HUSBANDRY.

A few words in regard to the Order of Patrons of Husbandry.

It is evident to all Intelligent minds that the time has come when those engaged in rural pursuits should have an ed in 1867. Its growth is unprecedented in the history of secret associations, and it is acknowledged one of the most useful and powerful organizations in the United States. Its grand objects are not only general improvement in husbandry, but to increase the general happiness, wealth and prosperity of the country. It is founded upon the axiom that the products of the soil comprise the basis of all wealth; that that individual happiness depends upon general prosperity; and that the wealth of a country depends upon the general this Order all but members are excluded, and there is in its proceedings a symbolized ritual, pleasing, beautiful, suppose there must be some climatic explanation of the extraordings of the extraordings. symbolized ritual, pleasing, beautiful, and appropriate, which is desinned not only to charm the fancy, but to cultivate and enlarge the mind and purify the heart, having at the same time strict adaptation to rural pursuits. The secrecy of the ritual and proceedings secrecy of the ritual and proceedings of the Order have been adopted chiefly for the purpose of accomplishing desired efficiency, extension, and unity, and to seem a mongrits members, in the second amongrits members, in the first time such has been the case for a number of years. Woman are admitted to full membership, and we solicit the co-operation of women, because of a conviction that without but the farmer could spend a part of the her aid success will be less certain and period between seed time and harvest in decided. Much might be said in this connection, but every husband and brother knows that where he can be accompanied by his wife or sister no lessons will be learned but those of purity and truth. The Order of Patrons of Husbandry will accomplish a thorough and systematic organization among farmers and horticulturists throughout the United States, and will secure among great and safe staple. Among the advantages that may be derived from the Order are systematic and transportation, throughout the country; also for the purchase and exrieties of plants and trees, and for the able means, the farming interest from fraud and deception, and combination of every kind. County Grange Meeting, P. of H.

It will be necessary for every Subordinate Grange in Marion county, during March, or at their next meeting, to elect three delegates to attend a county meeting to be held in Salem on the second Monday in April next, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m., in the Grange Hall, for the purpose of electing Grange Hall, for the purpose of electing containing the name of some state, continent, representatives to the State Grange, which sea or lake which they were required to draw meets in May next. (See preceedings of last State Grange, page 50, for instructions.) G. W. HUNT, Deputy.

o the Subordinate Granges of Oregon State Grange.

The Secretary of each Grange will please send the names of Master and Secretary elect for 1877, to Sec. of S. G. as soon as practicable, giving the address of Master and Secretary, County and State, or Territory. By so doing you will oblige

Sec. O. S. G., P. of H.
Post office address:

Post office addrses: Salem, Marion Co., Oregon,

There has been some talk about a change in the commissionership of Indian affairs by men who want the place. That the present commissioner, Smith, will remain at the head of that office, may be judged from the fact that he was recommended for the place by President Hayes himself. When President Grant was in aking about for competent and hot est men to appoint, he telegraphed Hayes to recommend some person, which he did by naming Smith.

Secretary Schurz has notified all heads of bureaus of the Interior Department that during his administration of its affairs there will be no removals of clerks or other employes except for cause, and no promotions except for merit. It will therefore be useless for merit. It will therefore be useless for persons to file papers soliciting clerical appointments or promotion on merely personal or political grounds, and in addition to this it can be stated that there are at present no yacancies of any kind to be filled. R. A. Invine, Deputy, he did by naming Smith,

SOME SUGGESTIONS TO FARMERS.

Oregon is going to preduce a vast quantity of wheat this year, the season continuing favorable. With increased area of wheat field and unusually fine opportunities for putting in work to the best advantage, it is safe to predict plethoric granaries and warehouses. That will bring money into the country, which, being disturbed in the ordinary course of traffic, will give most of us enough to buy butter and possess and such organization devoted entirely to their enough to buy butter and potatoes and such other necessaries as we ordinarily have to send to California for. And this brings us face to face with a conundrum. Why should isce to face with a conundrum. Why should the people of Oregon ever buy a pound of butter or cheese or a potato, or any other article of table consumption which comes from the farm? There is more money in dairy products when the market is steady and sufficient than in wheat. There is more money in raising potatoes at 40 cents a bushel than in wheat at a dollar. There is more money in carrots at $10 a ton than in wheat at any price that may reasonably be expected. Why not produce at home all the farm products needed for home consumption?

We have heard it seriously asked by persons who, not having personal knowledge sons who, not having personal knowledge in the premises, judged by the fact of our importing butter from California, whether there was not something in the climate of Oregon that made it impossible to put up but-ter here that would keep for Winter use? To those who have any knowledge on the subof a country depends upon the general inose who have any knowledge on the sub-intelligence and mental culture of the ject, the question seems absurd; but is it at producing classes. In the meetings of country which to all outward appearance entitivating such crops as need entityation just at that time, and Le would find at the end of the year the "edd spells" thus spent were the most profitable of his year's work. That, too, is the season when dairy work is That, 100, is the season when dairy work is most productive. Oregon butter ought to be on every Oregon housekeeper's table every day in the year, and as sweet and fresh, certainly, is that which is imported from California. The farmer's table should have it fresh from the churn all winter, and the people of the towns should be supplied from that which was put up in the summer. We do not suggest that farmers abandon their great and sails stayle. A few make hand. but the number of such must be limited. What we suggest is that the regular wheat farming be supplemented with these other things, which could be done without interference with the main business, and which would be a supplemented with the sup would, one year with another, pay the entire family expenses of the farmer, and add to the comforts of his home in a hundred ways.

Examination at the State University.

The first term of the University closed last week, and the classes in the different departments passed through an examination. We were not present to witness the closing exercises, but are informed that the examination derived from the Order are systematic arrangements for procuring and disseminating, in the most expeditious manner information relative to manner information relative to crops, thorough in many respects as they will in the future, for all the classes had to be organized and many of the students did not enter the school until the term was half out. There are three classes in Latin and two in Greek, which recite to Prof. Johnson, the change of stock, seeds, and desired va- President, and they were pretty thoroughly examined, or as our informant says, literally purpose of procuring help at home or from abroad, and situations for persons seeking employment; also for ascertaining and testing the merits of newly-discovered farming implements, and those not in general use, and for detecting and exposing those that are unworthy, and for protecting, by all available means, the farming interest from ng admirably. If they go through a course of four years as thorough as they have com-menced they will be masters of the language The classes in Greek are equally as thorough as the class in Latin. The examination in mathematics was very fine and therough, considering the opportunities the classes had during the term. The classes in Algebra had both oral and written examinations, and each student indicated that they theroughly understood all they had passed over. All the classes in mathematics did great credit to themselves and much honor to Prof. Bally, who has that chair in the University. It was impossible for us to know how each student succeeded in the written examination, for we could not see all the work, but we are informed the standing was generally as high as in the oral examination. The problems in Algebra given to the class to solve were the same given to the freshmen class at Yale

College last year.
The advanced class in Geography under the charge of Prof. Condon did splendidly. The class numbered about thirty and each one was required to draw a slip of paper from a hat with a number written on it, and then was handed by the Professor a slip of paper on the black board from memory, putting down all the mountains, rivers, lakes, and chief cities; then bound the same and tell the names of its rivers, lakes, mountains, and cities. It was very pleasing to see how correctly the maps were drawn. The fact is they are perfect masters of the part of geogra-phy they have passed over. Prof. Condon makes thorough work, and in his depart-ment in science cannot be excelled in the State. The examinations in the Preparatory department were equally as good and thor-ough as in the Collegiate. We cannot name each class of this department, but all ex-amined in grammar, arithmetic, reading and geography. Oregon will be proud of the start she has made in the University.—En-

Feeding and Working Horses.

Horses to work, well must be fed well, but judgment must be used both in feeding and working. The feed of horses should be at regular intervals, and regular and stated amounts at each feed. If borses are to do some substantial grain, bariey or cats, at least three times a day. After each meal some time should be allowed for the digestion to take place before being put to hard or quick work. If this be not allowed the grain will not do the horse as much good, but will pass his stomach and bowels in a whole or undigested state; and this is not all, it will engender the most destructive diseases. Cases are numerous in which horses—particularly stage horses—have fal-len down dead within a few miles of the station where they were fid. Post mortem examinations in such cases very uniformly show that death was produced by indiges-tion producing acute cholic or other diseases. Experiments have been made with two dogs, both heirs fed at the Experiments have been made with two dogs, both being field at the same time on the same kind and the same quantity of field, while one was taken out and put upon the hunt immediately; the other was allowed to go to his kennel and sieep. At the end of an hour both were killed. The idle dog's stomach was found empty, and the intestines contained the diges ed meal; the stomach of the other contained the food undigested and the other contained the food undigested and the first intestines entirely empty. So it is with the horse; if allowed a little time for rest after a meal the stomach digests the food and it pesses on into the intestines and is made up into nourishment for the system; but if put to work at once the food remains and igested and the animal worse off than if he had been fed but half a meal. There is probably no more common cause of the heaves in horses than the practice of putting him to work too soon after feeding him with some hardy food.—Record-Union.
