STOCK NOTES

Experience teaches that a permanent flock should be formed of but a single breed kept pure.

By grading it is impossible to obtain an intermediary type which partakes of the characteristics of the two breeds commenced with and finally becomes fixed in a distinct breed.

A good sized, well-formed body properly covered with wool, is certainly more profitable than an ill formed or undersized carcass can be, no matter how good the fleece may be.

The backs of thin ill-fed sheep seem to afford good pasturage for ticks, and under their persecution the poor animals will run down rapidly and cannot make any gain.

The inexperienced breeder may think that if you want both wool and mutton, cross the two breeds and you will, to a large degree, retain the wool-producing qualities of the Merino and the meat producing qualities of the mutton breed;

Dry earth is an excellent absorbent. Use it freely in the cow stable and scatter it over the floors after cleaning.

The skillful feeder has learned the importance of pleasing the appetite. Each food has a flavor peculiar to itself, and qualities peculiar to it.

Keep the pigs growing with whey and milk from the dairy, mixed with ground feed. Give them the range of the orchard, to destroy grubs and worms in unbound fruit.

Salt for Swine.

Some say, "salt is injurious to swine and should not be left within their reach." This, in our mind, says the National Live Stock Journal, depends upon whether the swine have been properly supplied with salt.

The following ingredients constitute a liniment that is said to be a good one for the purposes indicated: One pint of alcohol and one ounce of each of oil of origanum, gum camphor, hemlock oil, stone oil, cedar oil and oil of red pepper.

all the elements. But it does not follow from this that they are injurious or useless. They combine with other elements and aid in nourishing the body, but they do not lose their identity, so it cannot be regained.

Green Feed for Sheep

Professor Sanborn, of the Missouri Agricultural College says:

It has been shown that sheep are more responsive to grass food than cattle are. Yet sheep do not drink more than one-half as much water per pound of dry food eaten as cattle do.

Breeding Horses on the Farm If the farmer confines his efforts to breeding a heavy class of horses, the sires used being first class and the dams good country mares, he will get a strong growth, lots of colts, good feeders and hardy, because pretty much all fresh crosses made in this way—new blood being used—will be found to result in producing young stock possessing extra vitality and vigor, such as will show strong, elastic motion at all ages and at every gait, giving in growth a good return for the feed they consume.

The following ingredients constitute a liniment that is said to be a good one for the purposes indicated: One pint of alcohol and one ounce of each of oil of origanum, gum camphor, hemlock oil, stone oil, cedar oil and oil of red pepper. For internal pains take eight or ten drops in a little warm water.

The best medical authorities acknowledge the value of Ayer's Cathartic Pills, and frequently prescribe their use with the utmost confidence, as the most effectual remedy for diseases caused by derangements of the stomach, liver, and bowels.

Rural Pleasures

"No city life for me," said a Vermont farmer. "Gimme the country an' 'bout one hundred acres o' land an' I'm satisfied."

"Have to get up pretty early in the morning, eh?"

"Not very; three o'clock in Summer and four in Winter."

"Well, what do you do evenings?"

"Dyer mean arter it gets tew dark ter work?"

"Yes."

"B'gosh, I go ter bed."

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED. A safe general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc. I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced. It seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

This class of diseases so common in all parts of the World, and especially prevalent in malarious districts and vicinages of water-courses, are almost invariably accompanied by more or less derangement of the liver, and frequently by a defective action of the digestive organs.

BREAK UP THE CHILLS, but restore the system, more particularly the liver and stomach, to a sound condition, and so prevent a relapse of Fever and Ague by thoroughly ERADICATING THE DISEASE.

and the best evidence of this is the invariable success which has always followed the administration of these remedies, as attested by the certificates published annually in Dr. Jayne's Almanac, and the wide-spread popularity of the Ague Mixture in those districts of the United States, where the disease, for which it is adapted, most prevail.
