A SIGHTLESS PAIR OF EYES.

An editorial writer on the Oregonian talks about Cleveland as if he had a personal grudge against the President, not as if he wrote from any knowledge or observation of him. No one but a sap-headed, vindictive, revengeful soul could say so much which contained so little sense, decency or truth.

practically decided upon, and that it will contain the names of Blaine, Windom, Rusk, Thomas, Noble, Warner Miller, Estee, and Wanamaker.

It is the "funeral of the enemy," so we can afford to stand to one side and watch its progress with merriment. Let the fight go on; we only hope that it will be interesting and instructive to the people of this great country.

The Hunt railroad subsidy is climbing. If you have not subscribed, don't fail to do so and be one of the procession of progress.

BISMARCK has had a "white book" printed which gives the German side of affairs in Samoa.

A Witty Statesman. Senator Chandler, of Baker county, is the wit of the Legislature. His humor is dry, but it is exhilarating. It has the same effect on one as the dry, cool, bracing climate of Eastern Oregon of which the genial Senator is a prominent resident.

"Mr. President, I wish to offer a resolution." "What is the nature of it?" asked the chair.

"To restrict the waste of gas; to put an end to too much talking." (Laughter.) The resolution which is as follows, was then read and adopted:

WHEREAS, Life is short and time valuable; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate that no member shall be allowed to speak more than five minutes on any subject, without special permission of two-thirds of the members present.

Walla Walla Journal: That man Briley, brought all the way from Portland, for sins done in the body, had a bearing at Waitsburg. The charge was merely robbery. The old lady, it seems, did not appear against the fellow with her complaint. He was put under $500 bonds, and having left his purse at home on the piano, he is now in jail until further orders.
