PENDLETON'S POPULATION.

Speculation as to What the June Cansus Will Show.

present time. At the time the 1890 rensus was taken, the population was lass than 2000. It has been thought will show up double that of 1990, No loss than 5000 will be stown, according and decompose, causing a far more to conservative opinions, although some predict 5000.

Walls Walls has had a census in advance of the government enumera-tion and has found 0087 names, $10 being Chinese, The Union contends that the census to be correct should have included those who have business interests in the city but live in the suburbs. Were those added to the regular roll of city taxpayers a conservative estimate would place the population of Walla Walla in the wighborhood of 11,000 souls.

Continuing, the Union save:

"The census of 1890 showed the population of Walla Walla to be beween 4000 and 5000. From this it can be seen that the population has doubled within the last decade. This immense increase has been apparent only within the last two or three years, which net shows that the city is gradually and strongly growing in every respect. During all this time a 'boom' has been decidedly conspicuous for its absence.

"There have been a great many constrain in ocean tonnage. It may not be possible for the ocean carriers not be possible for the ocean carriers to become free soon enough to come into wheat carrying service in time for the crop now on hand and the one growing, and it is unlikely that such will be the case. But, the effect may be felt somewhat in advance. At any rate, the eventual result of the end-ing of the war will be to free the ocean freight situation, so that, if not this event then certainly next year, the

FROM A DEMOCRATIC STANDPOINT. Some Political Comments of Local and National Bearing. Adams precinct populists have taken

Adams procinct populists have taken action that will be regarded as very significant. They have officially de-cided to go into the democratic primaries for the coming campaign. The Adams precinct contains some of the most prominent normalists in the

The Adams precinct contains some of the most prominent, populists in the county, ind their action will in large-measure be regarded as indicative of the trend of thought among the members of that political organization. It will be remembered that at the It will be remembered that at the democratic county central committee meeting a week ago, Col. J. H. Raley offered a resolution in this language: "Resolved, That we invite all per-sons who voted for W. J. Bryan at the last presidential election and all others who favor the cause of democracy to participate in our coming primaries, to the end that our county convention may be composed of fair and impartial delegates upon whose judgment the citizens of this county may rely to select proper candidates for the various officers of this county and state." The resolution was adopted enthu-sinstically and it appealed very power-fully to the members of the populist fully to the members of the populist party as just about solving the prob-lem and clearing the way for a settle-ment of a perplexing question. It had been a question just how to ap-proach the matter, and the skill and diplomacy of Col. Raley apparently came in play at just the right time, as skill and, diplomacy are apt to do. It was noticeable at the county com-mittee mention that the colonel's resomittee meeting that the colonel's lution furnished a solution which at onre was recognized as correct and yet of which no one else had thought. A prominent populist said today to be East Oregonian that he believed the the Adams precinct populists had set the pace and that they were expressive of the great majority's views. He looked for the Adams precinct action to be the first of a series of such acts throughout the county which would take in every precinct. Marville Watts, of Athena, is out for the democratic nomination for county school superintendent. He has openly announced that he would like the naming and seems to have struck a popular chord among the "In fact," said a close friend of Mr.

Watts to the East Oregonian," I have been surprised at the number of re-publicans who have spoken of Mr. Watts' candidacy with warm favor and I am of the opinion that he would command very strong support, holding the entire democratic vote and drawing eavily from the republican."

will also be required. The expense will be shared by the government and the water company, the former furn-ishing the expert work and, possibly, ome of the material for planting.

The division of forestry is in con-sultation with three important railway companies over a contemplated innova-tion in American railway methods. These roads—the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, and the Zanesville & Ohio-St. Paul, and the Zanesville & Ohio-are considering raising tie and pole timber on a large scale on their now non-utilized right-of-way lands. Other large western roads are also interested. This action is due chiefly to the fail-ing of the natural supply of this ma-terial in all but the newer portions of the United States. About one million acres of timber are consumed annually by railroads in buildings and remain by railroads in buildings and repair-ing, and, at the present rate of timber depletion, the increased cost of such material will soon be a serious factor in railroad economy. The Santa Fe tine has already done some experimental planting, and the results have dor much to stimulate interest. This road planted 1280 acres in catalpas fifteer years ago. The total expense was $128,000; but it is estimated by the railroad officials that in ten years more the tract will have produced $2,500,000 worth of poles, ties, and posts.

Having become convinced of the ne cessity of growing their own timber the railroads naturally wish to take advantage of the assistance offered by he government to tree planters-which consists of expert advice, and of the working plans for planting, based or personal examination. The object of the government is to demonstrate the value of tree plantations to land owners, especially those in the treeless

 Peo, czar of all the Umatillas, is mad, considerably madder than a hatter. His anger is directed against Paul Showaway, the hereditary chief of the Cayness who disputes the title of Young Chief to the throne. Peo wanted to make the journey to Washington to see his Uncle Samuel and his cousins who attend to his Uncle Sam's hffairs in the departments at the capital. He and one or two other indications got up the scheme and prolorn and Mad. skillfully assisting natural reproduc-tion.- Protection from fire and cattle will also be required. The expense interpreter. The latter talks goby interpreter. The latter talks good English and is not acknowledged by Peo to rank as a chief, or even as a head man. But they were willing to have Showaway go with them as a sub-ordinate and stand between them and Uncle Sam in a linguistic rolation.

Showaway, however, stole a march on Peo. He procured sufficient money to pay the expenses of the trip to the national capital, and employed legal counsel to go with him. In his trappings and with all the glory of usurped regality, Showaway boarded the cars and is now just about due to make his triumphal entry into Washngton and be for a season the cynosure f all eves on the streets there

And Peo remains here, clad in his constomed greasy garments, and con-inuing his semi-occasional "jag," nd riding to and from the reservation on his scrubby cuitan, the while Showaway struts along Pennsylvania ayenue and attends the theatres with "de swell guys" of the capital.

All this burts Peo, and makes him w vengeance upon the head Showaway, His anger is so flerce and resentful that he may be expected to assemble his braves and take the war path against the pretended chieftain now whirling across the continent to hear the music of the waves washing the shores of Chesapeake bay.

Peo says. too, that Showaway

Feo says, too, that Showaway is a false envoy, anyway, and that he bears no legitimate mission from the Indians here. The outraged Umatilla chief gives away the whole game by revealing that the alleged council of the Indians was a fake affair. Peo asserts that no council was held and that the report sent out to that effect was invented by him and one or two others merely to lend their contem-plated journey an air of importance and make them appear like ministers and make them appear like minister-plenipotentiary from the court of St Peo to the court of Uncle Sam. In short, Peo turns state's evidence and testifies against his fellow plotters who wanted notoriety and took that way to achieve it.

Dec says also that the Indians seem not to care anything about the Simon bill for the sale of the ceded unsold lands and that the fullbloods are not concerned about the other bill per-mitting the half-breeds or those of less mitting the half-breeds or those of less than half Indian blood to soll their allotted lands. It is further asserted that many of the part bloods were really not entitled to receive allot-ments, and that they paid old Chief Homily to get them on the allotment lists. It is claimed that at the present time notes given to Homily are in ex-istence unuaid and standing against istence unpaid and standing agains those who signed them.

All of which proves that the China man has no monopoly on ways that are dark and tricks that are vain.

The region is peculiarly liable to freshets, owing to its geotogical character and the removal of its timber. The ow historic catastrophe, which swept away $10,000,000 in property ad half as many lives as the battle of Gettysburg, was but an exaggerated instance of many similar floods. This tendency has been increased by logging of the timber and clearing numerous farms, so that the rainfall flows quickly from the surface, causing high water at one time and the drying up of springs later.
