Edward Baird died of consumption at his home in Island City a few days ago.

Clarke Lilly, aged 13 years, is under arrest at La Grande on a charge of burglary.

J. D. McCully, is very ill at Joseph, Walla Walla county, and it is thought he will not recover.

Five letters disappeared from The Dalles postoffice in April, 1897. They have just been found in a crack, into which they accidentally slipped.

The Seattle recruiting office has received telegraph orders from Washington to hasten enlistments for the Twenty-fourth infantry at Spokane.

Lulu Ethel Gault, aged 5 years pulled a boiler of hot water over on herself and was scalded to death at her mother's home near Portland Saturday.

John Barke, who, for more than 50 years, has lived on the bank of the Columbia river, a short distance below Vancouver, died Saturday aged 80 years.

Fred Reed, who was engaged in the newspaper business in Walla Walla for several years and has lots of friends all over the Northwest is lying at the point of death in Tacoma.

The decision of the Northern Pacific to haul wheat over the mountains to Portland for the same rate that is charged for hauling it to Tacoma will probably result in some interesting railroad legislation at Olympia next winter.

Word has been received in Portland that Mrs. Nicoll, wife of David Nicoll, captain of the British ship Sutherlandshire, perished with 13 of the crew when that vessel was wrecked on Sumatra, July 26. Mrs. Nicoll was well known in Portland.

J. A. Masterson, a stockman of Elgin, Union county, has returned from Nome. He went to Nome on the Despatch, taking up 100 fat steers and 200 fat weathers, but the venture was not a howling success, and it took close figuring to bring him out even.

Among Oregon's large farmers are the Smith Bros., of Gilliam county, who have raised 5000 acres of wheat. They have begun hauling to Blalock, and say the grain they are delivering runs 43 pounds to the bushel. All their grain is expected to go over 60 pounds.

Two drunks and a traveler were the offenders before Recorder J. E. Beam this morning. The itinerant was a working man who had been found in a box car in the yards, and as he told a straight story he was allowed to continue his journey. The other two will tarry for a brief season in jail.

Among those present in the city jail Saturday night was Pest, chief of the Cayuses. He was drunk and refused to give himself to his tepee when given the opportunity to do so, therefore Officer Coffman took him in charge. He told Mr. Coffman that he was "big chief, just like you," but the officer was obstinate and refused to recognize the brotherhood that binds chieftains together.

Enforcing Game Laws.
J. E. Krause, deputy fish and game warden, went up the O. R. & N. railroad Saturday evening to fish for sport, and incidentally to keep informed on what is being done by hunters and fishers. He says he is satisfied that the laws have been violated, and he is just as certain that a spectacle will be made of the offenders if they can be caught and the crime proved. Some hunters get up pretty close to the maximum of killing 30 grouse in any one day, and they should all guard themselves carefully so as not to get beyond the limit.

Matlock Homeward Bound.
Mrs. W. F. Matlock is in receipt of a letter from her husband written August 11 at Skagway, announcing that he had disposed of all the horses he took there to sell and that he would leave for the states in two weeks from that time so as to be in Pendleton by September 1. Frank Tharp, who accompanied Mr. Matlock, will return with him. It is intimated that Mr. and Mrs. Wesley N. Matlock will also at this time make a trip back to this city for a visit.

To Whom It May Concern.
Notice is hereby given that my wife, Mary E. Gillett, has left my household and board, and this is to notify and warn all persons that I will not be responsible for any debts hereafter in any manner contracted by her, August 20, 1900.

Cheer Rates to Chicago.
The O. R. & N. company will sell tickets to Chicago and return for $71.50 Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. These days only.

PERSONAL MENTION.

D. G. Smith, the stockman, spent Sunday in Pendleton.

Miss Ethel Meach returned Saturday evening from Lehman Springs.

"Quill" Gerking came down from Athena Saturday and returned home Sunday.

Councilman C. M. Frazier is again at home, having arrived Saturday evening.

Dr. J. R. Sponagle, Athena's tooth extractor, spent Sunday in Pendleton in an enjoyable manner.

Misses Ethel Ritter and Effie Jean Frazier spent Sunday at Bingham Springs, returning on the evening train.

Miss Katherine Rieth left Saturday evening for La Grande, where she will visit for several weeks, the guest of relatives.

R. G. Hillman, of San Francisco, representing the Hartell Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Co., is in Pendleton.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Judd and son, Henry, and Miss Mary Roberts will return from Bingham Springs on this evening's train.

R. T. Cox arrived in town on this morning's train from Portland. He may leave on this evening's train for Sumpter and Lawton.

Mrs. James Brown and daughter, Miss Grace Brown, returned from their camping out life on Meadow creek, near Hilday Springs.

W. E. Crews, at one time recorder of the city of Pendleton, is practicing law at Nome. The Name News speaks of him as "Judge" Crews.

Frank Baker, superintendent of Adams of Platteville & Vinger's meat market business, was a visitor in Pendleton Saturday on business.

R. E. Partridge and little daughter Helen returned Sunday evening from Nahunta, Wash., where they have been spending the summer.

Mrs. Shelley and the Misses Minnie and Della Privett returned Sunday evening from an exceedingly pleasant camp-life experience at Meacham.

T. J. Kirk, of Athena, representative-elect from this county, was in Pendleton Saturday evening and took the Sunday morning train for home.

Claude Medley, with Cleaver Bros., left Saturday evening on his seventh consecutive weekly hunting trip to Meacham and the tall timber adjoining.

Ed Dupuis and Gerrie Hayes have returned from their outing. Mr. Dupuis made quite an excursion through the southern portion of Umatilla county and through the John Day canyon.

James Crawford has gone to Medical Lake, Wash., to remain several weeks. Mrs. Crawford and Misses Maude and Edna Crawford have been there for some time. Medical Lake is one of the healthiest and most picturesque resorts in the Pacific Northwest.

W. H. Hawley, of Hawley & Wilcox, and John Wilson, of Clemons & Wilson, have returned from their camping trip to Meadow creek, where they caught all the fish they could eat, and more, and had a good time generally. Their home camp was several miles northeast of Lehman Springs.

Mrs. N. E. Despain had a sinking spell at Bingham Springs Sunday, and N. Beverley went up from Pendleton in response to a telegram from his wife, a daughter of the first mentioned. It is learned that Mrs. Despain recovered from the attack and is considered much better generally than she was a few weeks ago.

Mrs. I. N. Wickorsham and Miss Nellie McCarty, who have been the guests of Mrs. Joseph McLanghlin on the head of Butter creek, near Gardane, have returned to their homes in Pendleton, having passed a most pleasant two weeks. Several days of their outing was spent in a trip to and visit at Lehman Springs.

Marshal John Heathman returned home unexpectedly Saturday evening from his trip to Portland, Astoria and the beach. He had intended to remain a week or so longer but got homesick and pined for his familiar haunts. He is thoroughly satisfied that there is no place like Pendleton for business or pleasure and is again attending to his duties as marshal, keeping law-breakers in check.

Luke Bilger, a nephew of Joe Klein, has gone to Chicago, where he expects to be permanently employed in a shoe factory. Mr. Bilger is a young man who learned his trade with Mr. Klein and has been employed in his store for two and one-half years. He is as steady as clock work, having lost but three days from work during all that time, and, as Mr. Klein remarks, "is one of the best young business men who has ever left Pendleton." Wishes for his success follow Mr. Bilger to his new home.

AN ESTHETIC BURGLAR.
Jackson Street Residence Entered and Luggage Stolen.
One of the boldest and most expert burglars that has ever happened in Pendleton was perpetrated last Saturday afternoon between the hours of 3:15 and 5:45. The residence entered was that of C. K. Cranston on Jackson street, occupied by Mr. Cranston, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Leland, child, and Miss Lucille DeFord, a young and beautiful. Mrs. Leland had locked up the house carefully when she left at 3:15, and when she returned with her husband, who is an employe of E. M. Lyons & Co., the inside of the house presented a scene of a plunderer. The burglar had apparently pried the screen open from a window off the side porch, and had entered the house and had made a complete inventory of valuables, bureau drawers, jewelry cases, dressers, the china closet, the parlor and even the refrigerator were minutely examined for plunder. He had collected all the jewelry and had placed it in a sack on top of the bureau in Mr. Cranston's room down stairs, and had placed Mr. Leland's loaded revolver alongside of it, so as to be ready to repel any premature intruder. The burglar was in some manner frightened away so hurriedly that he could not take the jewelry with him. A search revealed that the only valuable things missing are the contents of Miss DeFord's purse, $15 in gold and several dollars in silver.

But the burglar was enjoying himself, taking his ease before being scared away, for he lunched on cold ham, watermelon, a half pint of extra good whisky which Mr. Leland had on hand for medicinal purposes, and topped the meal off with an imported cigar which he found within reach.

Mrs. Brink, a neighbor, called at the house at 5 o'clock to leave a package, and at that time the side-porch window was raised and the screen open. Mrs. Brink knocked; but meeting with no answer presumed that there was no one at home, or that Mrs. Leland was enjoying a siesta and was not to be disturbed. She therefore closed the screen and placed the package upon a trunk under the window. It is presumed that Mrs. Brink's visit was what frightened the burglar away, but up to that time, from an inspection of his proceedings, he had taken things as coolly and comfortably as a hog in an alfalfa field.

Two weeks ago last Saturday night this same house was entered, apparently in the same manner, and was seen by Mr. Leland, who had arisen at a few minutes before 2 o'clock a. m., and surprised the burglar, who struck a match in the dining room, blew it out quickly and made his escape and hurriedly left when he found that he had been seen.

CARNIVAL FEATURES.
Work Has Commenced on the Street Structures; Pendleton Day Sept. 22.

Work actually commenced on the construction for the Street Fair and Harvest Carnival today. Working plans are all drawn and everything is in readiness for the erection of the arches and other portions of the enclosure, the arches to be erected first.

Work will be rushed just as rapidly as possible. The plans of the Peoples Warehouse is a water color sketch giving a view of the street fair looking from the west side of Main street. The sketch was made by A. M. Stringer, the official designer and decorator, and illustrates the appearance the fair structures will present.

Applications are coming in for booth space from outside towns, and the prospect now is that all available space will be taken, and in fact it seems not unlikely that there will even be more demand than supply.

Work in preparation for the carnival queues in parades and fancy dancing is progressing finely under the tutelage of J. N. Beards, and the young people are getting more and more interested.

One feature of the carnival should be borne in mind, and that is on the last day, Saturday, September 22, there will be hardy cross exercises, and the entertainment committee is arranging to have a costume here with costumes for that occasion. That will be "Pendleton Day," the great day of the fair, and carnival.

Local musicians in the various churches are being interested in a project of furnishing a large chorus choir for the harvest thanksgiving service, which is to open the fair and carnival on Sunday, September 10. It is designed to have a harvest thanksgiving service participated in by all the churches, and it is thought that there have been signified their willingness to do so. The matter will be taken up definitely this week, and arrangements will be made in ample time for complete announcements.

Touched a Live Wire.
A dust and wind storm which came up suddenly Sunday evening toyed so vigorously with the street carnival banner stretched across Main street at Webb, that Superintendent Lathrop decided to take it down, in order to preserve it and also to prevent passing horses from becoming frightened, for it was making quite a noise flapping in the breeze. James Hutchinson, a carpenter, assisted a step-ladder and was rendering assistance, when he extended his hand against one of the telegraph poles, and came in contact with a live electric light wire. There was a flash as of lightning and a suggestive aroma of baked meat, but the current being quickly at connected by Mr. Hutchinson removing his hand prevented serious accident. Both hands against the same wire at that particular time, and things earthly would have interested Mr. Hutchinson no more. He may well congratulate himself on a narrow escape from death.

Visit to The Dalles and Portland.

From a Pendleton gentleman who has just returned from a business and pleasure trip to The Dalles and Portland, it is learned that Miss Alexander, Miss Hexter and Harry L. Hexter arrived in Portland Saturday and were there Sunday. They will sail on the Columbia today for San Francisco. Mrs. W. P. Fell and child are visiting here, and will remain a few weeks longer. He was Jake Welch, Walter Sawville and Dean Hull at The Dalles, and inspected the wool scouring mill. He says The Dalles mill is a compact one, not as large as the Pendleton one, but capable of handling a nice amount of business.

Pendletonians Play Baseball.

A letter written by Fred H. Drake from Prairie City announces that they are well. "They" means the writer of the letter, Murt Meach and William Barry, who have been making a tour of southern Umatilla and Grant counties. Fred also goes on to say that they were going to play baseball as members of the Canyon City team against Burns on the 18th of August for $300 a side. The result of the game will be anxiously awaited in Pendleton by "fans" who have a high regard for the baseball players from Pendleton who will assist the Canyon City team.

FOR a quarter of a century Foley's Honey and Tar has been curing babies of croup, and whooping cough. In that time it has saved thousands of little lives and every year it goes on saving more. Physicians who have tested it know Foley's Honey and Tar is the best medicine for little folks and much superior to the old time muriate of ammonia mixtures, so often prescribed by doctors, and which are so often ineffective. It's entirely free from opiates and it's unconditionally guaranteed. Little folks like it.
