GRANT JOHNSON'S DEATH.

Worked in the Pendleton Wool Scouring Mill for Years.

A telegram was received this morning by D. H. Bailey, keeper of records and seal of Damon lodge, No. 4, Knights of Pythias, to the following effect: "Grant Johnson died this morning. He claimed to be a member of Damon lodge. Advise immediately." The telegram was dated at Eugene, Or., Saturday, May 25, and was signed by J. T. Lincoln, chancellor commander of Helmet lodge, No. 33, of that city. Mr. Johnson came to Pendleton and worked in the wool scouring mills for nearly four years. His wife died and was buried here in 1897, and shortly afterwards he left and went to San Francisco. A number of the boys now in the scouring mills worked with him in San Francisco during the past winter. Deceased was aged about 36 years. The receipt of the telegram started a rumor that Tom Johnson was the person referred to in the telegram, but it was quickly disproved, as he is in the saloon and restaurant business at Wallace, Idaho, with J. E. Moore formerly of the Hotel Pendleton.

SCHOOL PROGRAM RENDERED

THE FRAZER OPERA HOUSE CROWDED FRIDAY EVENING.

Interesting Exercises by Class of 1902—Papers Read and Music and Club Singings.

On Friday evening, at the Fraser, was given the first of a series of five entertainments by the Pendleton public schools in connection with the ending of the academic year. The theatre was packed from pit to dome, every box was occupied, and people were turned away from the doors, unless they were willing to stand during the evening.

The program was rendered by the members of the class of 1902, graduating next year. E. B. Conkling, principal, presided. Excellent papers were read by Miss Bonnie Krebs, "Marcus Whitman Saved Oregon," and Miss Lavelle Moorhouse, "The Bridge of the Gods." Miss Krebs gave a comprehensive and vigorous defense of the Whitman idea as to the saving of Oregon. She wrote in forensic style, and bravely championed the fame of Whitman against a national hero who performed great things for the Pacific Northwest.

Miss Moorhouse's paper was a condensation of E. H. Balch's story, "The Bridge of the Gods." It is a beautiful tale, rightly chosen by Miss Moorhouse as the very best story ever written of the Pacific states, so far as concerns the dietion and the poetic quality of the prose, used by the author in telling about the traditional Multnomah confederacy. This was headed by old Chief Mowah, whose organizing ability held the union together in all the northwest, conditioned, however, on the standing intact of the "bridge of the gods," a natural rock arch spanning the Columbia at the place now called Cascade Locks, where the river tumbles over a rapid, and the bridge was made by the fall of that very bridge, the fall bringing, by the "tomonow," the downfall of the confederacy. A pretty love story runs through the book, and some beautiful description.

Miss Edith Epple gave "Ben Hur" and "The Prince of Persia," the famous Oriental tale of Wallace affording scope for the declamatory powers of Miss Epple. Sixteen young girls gave a club singing drill, that captured the fancy of the audience, and brought forth rounds of applause. The vocal soloists were Florence Munsie, Jessie Cameron, Carol VanOrdall, Ahlma Hallock, Maud Sheek, Genevieve Koepfen, Edith Smith, Willie Milne, Iona Wells, Blanche Shull, Nora Forth, Dora Forth, Ethel Gilliland, Rita Howland.

Musical numbers were: Two vocal solos by Miss Jennie Beatie, Miss Wood accompanying; piano solo by Miss Wood; vocal solo by J. E. Lathrop, Miss Bailey accompanying.

These are the further announcements for the school series: Masque of the year, opera house, this evening.

Field and track meet, Simpson & Peringer's track, Monday afternoon, May 27.

Operetta, Red Riding Hood, opera house, Monday evening, May 27.

Physical culture and gymnasium exercises, opera house, Wednesday evening, May 29.

ENTERTAINED HER SCHOOLMATES. Miss Frieda Rosch Gives a Pleasant Evening at Her Home.

Miss Frieda Rosch gave a pleasant evening of entertainment Friday night at her home on Lewis street, receiving the Pendleton academy students, the members of the faculty and a number of other friends. Miss Rosch was a very charming hostess. The evening sped rapidly and remains a pleasant memory for her guests. Vocal solos were sung by Mrs. C. H. Carter, R. S. Pond and J. E. Lathrop, and piano numbers by Miss Rosch and Mrs. J. A. Marston. A unique feature was the fortune telling by Miss Della Beagle, who, appropriately costumed, amused the guests with some peerings into the future.

NORMAL SCHOOL REGENTS

A Meeting Will Be Held at Weston on Wednesday, May 29.

The regular annual meeting of the board of regents of the Eastern Oregon state normal school will be held at Weston on Wednesday, May 29, for the purpose of organizing, electing the officers of the board, electing teachers, selecting a pastor, and other business transacting such other routine business. At that time also the architect who was selected for that purpose will have the plans ready for the new normal school building to be erected. Immediately after the inspection and adoption of the plans the work of putting up the building will be proceeded with so rapidly that the Weston Leader will clap both its hands with glad approval. K. Alexander, of the board of regents, stated this morning that there had been a few days' unavoidable delay, but that the work of construction would be rushed after the board meeting, so that the new building would be ready for the commencement of the fall term.

They also visited another daughter in Sherman county, and from here will go to Milton, Umatilla county, to spend a few days with relatives and friends.

Fay Lathrop, son of A. S. Lathrop, of Walla Walla, was in Pendleton today making some purchases. He has charge of 10,000 head of sheep in the mountains south of Mosheim, and is interested with his father in the ownership thereof. He devotes his time strictly to business in the summer time, but is a conspicuous figure in Walla Walla society during the social winter season.

Lars Hansen, who resides in South Cold spring, 15 miles north of Pendleton, was in the city today. He has 32 acres of winter wheat that looks good to him. The land in that section usually yields about 25 bushels to the acre, and Mr. Hansen says the indications at present are excellent. He didn't wish to be quoted as to the yield this year per acre, at present, as a few weeks may change things wonderfully.

ELECTING A CHIEF.

Showaway Not a Candidate, Claiming the Hereditary Rights.

The election of a successor of Young Chief by the Cayuse Indians is occasioning some excitement among the members of the tribe. Paul Showaway, the real chief by reason of his being the son of old Chief Showaway, complacently looks on, and refuses to become a candidate, holding that he is the hereditary chief and that an election is invalid. However, he takes part in the fun, and on Friday came to town and secured the services of Col. William Parsons to draw up a nominating paper, to be signed by the Cayuse who favor Young Samkin as Young Chief's successor in the theoretical chieftainship. It is expected that the election will occur on Monday.

Yield Will Be Large.
