Weston's waterworks improvements are now completed, much to the advantage of the system, says the Leader. About 9300 feet of new pipe was laid, including 270 feet of iron pipe at the head. The remainder is vitrified clay pipe, connecting the source with the reservoir, and is practically imperish-able. It was carefully laid on the grade established by Engineer E. S. At one time I was inclined to favor the lease system, believing it to be to the best interest of the stockgrower, but after studying it in all its phases I have concluded the following will be the result of such a change: First-The concentration of all the grazing land in the hands of compara-tively few. Becond-The forcing of a very large portion of the stockgrowers out of the business, and compelling them to soll their stock at whatever the more for-tunate ones are inclined to give them. Third-Preventing others, not now in the business, from ever taking up the industry of stock growing to any considerable extent, and. Fourth-Practically simulling the homestead law. This last contention is denied by Mr. Lusk, president of the National Cattie Growers' Associa-tion, but the past history of the cattle kings and the large corporatione throughout Oregon and Californis does not bear him out in his statement.
