HORRIBLE ACCIDENT

LITTLE SON OF J. B. MYERS BURNED TO DEATH.

Was Playing With Matches and Clothes Were Ignited—Little Sister's Heroic Effort to Save the Child.

One of the most shocking deaths the East Oregonian has been called upon to chronicle recently is that of the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Myers, who was burned to death Wednesday evening. The little boy and his sister, a few years older, were playing with matches in the yard and the little one's clothes were ignited. The family were all away except the boy and girl and a little baby, which was lying on the bed. The father was away at work and the mother had just stepped into the neighbor's for a minute, not anticipating such an awful thing befalling her little boy.

It was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. James B. Perry was passing the place, which is in the lower end of town, when he saw the child rush into the back yard and discovered that it was all ablaze. He rushed over the fence and the child ran back into the house. Mr. Perry caught him just as he got into the house and was making for the bed where the little baby was lying. The little girl had a pail of water with which she was endeavoring to extinguish the fire and had kept it from burning the little one's back, but as the little boy kept running away from her all the time she could not get the water onto the front of his clothes, which were in flames.

Evidences showed that the little girl had been doing all in her power to save her brother. She had first tried to wrap a heavy cape around the child to smother the flames, and as a last resort tried the water and no doubt would have saved the little life had he stood still.

Mr. Perry tore the clothes from the child as soon as he got it and wrapping a quilt around it, laid it on the bed. Then he left another man, who was with him, with the child, while he rushed out and summoned the neighbors and a doctor.

Dr. Cole was called but the flames had done their work. The flesh of the little one's body was burned to a crisp and it had also inhaled the flames as when first seen it was trying to fight the fire from its face with its hands.

When the mother heard the commotion she rushed home only to find that her child, which a few moments before was happy and strong, had been brought to death's door.

Everything possible was done for the little sufferer, but to no avail, and at 12 o'clock last night its sufferings ended.

The funeral will take place this afternoon from the residence of the parents. Rev. Robert Warner will conduct the services.

Died.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Montgomery, died today.

EPIDEMIC OF JAIL BREAKING.

Union and Baker Counties Are Minus A Few Regular Boarders.

J. J. Jackson, a "cull'd gem'ten," who for the past three months has been an inmate of the county jail, awaiting trial before the circuit court for having stolen six pairs of shoes from a freight car at Huntington, is no more so far as the sheriff's office is concerned. Not that the son of Hamm has gone to join his ancestors in the great beyond, but he took French leave two weeks ago and since that time has been enjoying the delights of freedom. Jackson sawed through a bar in the window upon the north side of the jail and one quiet evening hid himself hence.—Baker City Herald.

Jackson is the man arrested by the authorities in this city some time ago. He had several pairs of new shoes and hose in his possession and was a suspicious character. Shortly after his arrest here it was learned that he was wanted in Baker county for robbing a freight, and Deputy Sheriff Davis took him to Baker City at the request of the authorities there.

Jailbreak at Union.

Sheriff Pennington, of Union county, is in the city, says the Herald, in quest of several prisoners who escaped from jail this morning. The men patterned after Jackson, the colored prisoner, and sawed through the bars. The local officers have been requested to keep an eye open for the missing charges.

In Police Court.

Jesse Grant, Fred Johnson and C. Divine were each fined $5 in police court last evening an dthis morning for being drunk and disorderly.

Four masked men held up a passenger train of the Colorado Southern, near Trinidad, Tuesday. While preparing dynamite under the baggage car, Messenger Sherwich opened a side door and fired, wounding one of the robbers. The other robbers then disappeared.

Harry O. Moore, a well known miner, died at Sumpter, Wednesday, of pneumonia.

PORTLAND IS ANGRY

DEMAND RETRACTION FROM PRESIDENT MELLEN.

Commercial Organization Up in Arms Said That the Lewis and Clark Fair Would Be a "Fizzle."

Portland, Or., Nov. 20.—All the commercial organizations of this city are incensed at the statement of President Mellen that "the Lewis and Clark fair is helike a Fourth of July celebration with nobody to see the fireworks." Many demand a retraction and the feeling is bitter.

Several leading merchants have made the statement that if President Mellen or any of the other leading officials of the Northern Pacific intend to be continually "knocking" Portland, there is but one remedy, and that is to take concerted action and ship all goods via other lines, travel over other lines and have goods consigned over other lines.

LIFE IN BARRACKS

SOLDIER AND CIVILIAN COMPARE SOME NOTES.

At the Small Rate of Pay Received, the Boy in Blue Saves More Than the Day Laborer.

"Civilians talk of the hardships of soldier life and the poor pay received by the enlisted men" said a local army officer yesterday to the Walla Walla Union, "but an inside look at a garrison will, I believe, convince them of their error.

"I do not mean to say that the enlisted man is free to go where he will or that his wages are the best, but I will venture this assertion: "The old non-commissioned officer, the one who has served a dozen years, the man with a family, lives better and has more to show for the years of his life than the average day laborer who draws from $2 to $2.50 at the most.

Sergeant With a Bank Account.

"He is furnished a house in which to live, two stoves and in a measure his fuel and food. Dainties he has to purchase. He is allowed his clothing and if he is saving at the end of each enlistment he has money coming for clothing not drawn.

"I know of one old sergeant in the regiment who has $1500 deposited with the paymaster and who, when we were getting paid every two months, put away $35 every pay day. Now when that man retires on three-quarters pay he will have enough money to build a little home and his pension will keep him. Show me a civilian laborer who can do the same."

"Lincoln, the Statesman."

The third of the series of lectures in the University Extension Course, will be delivered at the Congregational church, corner of Webb and Johnson streets, Friday evening, November 21, by Professor W. D. Lyman, of Whitman College. Subject, "Lincoln, the Statesman."
