Milton Sends Vegetables.

Milton sent nearly a carload of green vegetables to Heppner yesterday afternoon. The crowd of laborers at work in clearing up the debris consume about a ton of provisions each day and the demand for fresh vegetables is very great.

Milton Labor Not Wanted.

Milton, Or., June 23.—A message was received yesterday evening, just before the relief party expected to leave for Heppner that their services would not be needed just at present.

This party was organized at the request of Heppner and the message was a surprise to all. Every person returning from Heppner says the need of men is very great. Many miles of untouched debris yet remain in the valley and the work of clearing it up will consume the greater portion of two weeks. The party has been organized at considerable expense and trouble to the people here and while it is not yet disbanded, there seems to be no further need of remaining organized. The party is yet ready and willing to go, upon intimation that it is needed.

To Swell Relief Fund.

Andy King, lightweight champion of Montana, and Tom Scott, lightweight champion of Pendleton, have agreed to give a clean, interesting fist exhibition for points, on July 4, 25 per cent of the proceeds to go to the Heppner relief fund. The matter is now under advisement and details of the entertainment will be announced later.

Driving Matinee Friday.

The Driving Association will give a benefit matinee Friday afternoon.

Played Ball for Heppner.

Robert Burns, former manager of the Scotts, yesterday made a statement of the finances of the two baseball games played at Walla Walla Saturday and Sunday for the Heppner fund.

The total number of tickets sold was 575, amounting to $287.50. The incidental expenses of both games was $18, leaving $134.75 each to the Heppner fund and the players. Divided among the Second Squadron and the Scotts, each received $67.37. Since the close of the league season the men have not been on salary, and therefore the division of $67.37½ between the nine men is not very big pay for a week's detention and playing.

SANITARY PHASES

WORK OF STATE BOARD OF HEALTH AT HEPPNER.

Fire and Alkali Used to Deodorize and Purify—Difficult Work of Opening the Drains and of Forestalling Epidemic During the Past Weeks—The Sewerage System of the City Had Been Completely Wrecked.

Dr. C. J. Smith has returned from his trip to Portland and Heppner, where he went in the interest of the state board of health. At the meeting at Portland the state board provided for the by-laws of the board and prescribed the duties of the various subordinate officers of the board throughout the state, but the meeting was cut short that Dr. Smith might go to Heppner, where the conditions induced by the flood demanded his immediate attention.

At the flood-stricken city the doctor found the conditions to be badly demoralized, and greatly in need of someone with authority to take hold of the matter and straighten out the sanitation of the place. The local health officer had been doing the best that lay in his power, but he was handicapped by the fact that he had not sufficient authority to proceed as he thought best.

The city was strewn from end to end with debris of the flood, and every person was looking for the things they wished to save when found, and they resisted the efforts of the health officer to destroy their property. As a means of preventing the spread of disease, it was best to burn all of the combustible material that was scattered over the town, and this was done by the order of Dr. Smith as soon as he arrived on the scene. He, in conjunction with Dr. Davis, of Portland, and Mr. Berkeley, of Pendleton, took charge of the work and reduced it to a system. As fast as the drifts were looked through in search of bodies the material was piled and burned. In this way the ground was cleared and it was possible to attend to the other phases of the sanitary question.

Used Alkali Dirt.

All of the vaults and cess-pools of the city had been opened and the stench from them was fast becoming offensive; also the drifts were composed of all kinds of filth and surface dirt, and this also was becoming a source of menace to the health of the place. By orders of Dr. Smith the cess-pools were filled with alkali dirt, a large bed of which is to be found in the near vicinity of the city. This dirt is an excellent deodorizer and disinfectant, and in an hour's time after it was put in a place that had been offensive, the air was sweetened and the danger from the stench removed. This surface dirt was a very disagreeable part of the work. Heated by the sun it was soon an ill-smelling mass, and was wet and hard to handle. This was all hauled away and dumped in the low places of the creek, where it was out of the way of the town, and then the places from whence it had come were filled in with the dry alkali. The whole city was treated in this way and will be in first-class sanitary condition by this evening.

When Dr. Smith reached the city the whole sewerage system had been swept away. There had been a system of surface drains and these had been filled and wrecked. One of the first things that was done was to get these in working order again, and the workmen of the city were put at the task of opening them. After they were opened the cellars of the place were pumped out and the whole system of drains and cellars treated to a coat of alkali.

Epidemic of Diarrhoea.

At the time of the doctor's arrival there was an inadequate number of privies in the town, and his first care was to remedy this defect by the construction of a sufficient number for use of the workmen of the place. Owing to the general use of ice water diarrhoea had broken out among the men and was fast approaching the stage of an epidemic. This was remedied by the cutting down of the supply of ice and the use of sulphuric acid lemonade.

While the city proper is about cleaned up, there are miles of drift yet remaining along the creek that has not been touched, and it will take 200 men at least 10 days to simply go over these in the search of bodies. In the estimation of the doctor the things that the city needs are money and men. It will take $50,000 to clear up the wreck of the city and it will take men to do the work.

If the rules as laid down are carried out there is no danger of an epidemic of any kind, though the utmost precautions should be taken in the matter. It was the direction of the doctor that any one remaining sick in the city for more than a day or two should be shipped home as a measure of safety towards the rest of the populace. No typhoid or other contagious diseases will be kept in the city, and all of the avenues of contagion will be strictly guarded.
