NEW FUNERAL CAR.

Baker & Folsom Will Soon Have One of the Most Artistic in the State.

Baker & Folsom, the undertakers, will, in the course of a few days, place in service their remodeled and improved funeral car, which is a beautiful vehicle, and one that would be a credit to a city many times as large as Pendleton. Both the firm and the city have just cause to be proud of this elegant car, as it is safe to say there is not such another in the state, outside of Portland.

It is finished artistically in white and gold, the body and running gear being solid white, which is offset with a border of gold around the glass on the sides, and on the door at the rear.

The interior of the car is covered with a rich, white satin, which is soft and delicate as down. The curtains which cover the glass sides are fringed with gold, and the fixtures are convenient and up-to-date. The design of the car is the very latest and its arrangement the most improved.

The work of remodeling and painting the car was done by C. C. Sharp and much credit is due him and his skilled workmen who performed this excellent job.

Baker & Folsom also have their magnificent new black, rubber-tired hearse in use and are prepared to give best service at funerals.

WOOD IS PLENTIFUL

AMOUNT CUT IN MOUNTAINS SAME AS USUAL.

Kameia Woodmen Have Large Amounts on Hand Ready for Shipment to This City—Cans Scarce During the Wheat Rush—Teams Now Busy Hauling Wood to Track.

Wood will not be as scarce in the market this winter as the present situation in this city would lead to believe.

R. R. Collins, one of the most prominent wood dealers of Kameia, was in the city yesterday evening, and says that he has had four and five men cutting wood all summer, and that other woodmen of that vicinity have been getting out the usual amount all season.

Just at present not very much wood is being shipped to the market, on account of the cars being busy handling the wheat crop, but after the temporary harvest rush is over, wood will begin to move and will be just as plentiful as ever.

The only drawback to the wood situation in the mountains is the fact that it must be hauled farther, as the good timber near the track is all cut out.

The price for cutting wood has increased in the past year, from 90 cents a cord to $1.25 a cord now. Otherwise the cost of production is no greater than it was five years ago, in fact, it is less in some respects, as the haulers have built excellent roads and have prepared conveniences for handling wood on the dump at the track, which they did not have five years ago, thus lessening the cost of handling it.

The cost of producing it has increased about 35 cents per cord, while the cost to the consumer has increased from $1.75 to $2 per cord. The dumps at Kameia are now full of good wood, as usual, and there is no shortage in sight. As soon as cars can be procured wood will begin to move the same as usual.
