MINATURE ROUNDUP PLEASES SPECTATORS

Quite a number of people assembled at Round-Up park yesterday afternoon to witness the Round-Up after-noon which a number of prominent performers in the recent show put on, and they were entertained in a manner thoroughly to their liking. Although there were no steer bulldogging exhibitions as advertised, and several other features lacking, the bucking contest was exciting, the horse proving almost as bad as those who tossed the buckaroos at the Round-Up.

In the course of the afternoon, Nar-esse McKay, the noted Indian bronco buster, suffered a very painful wrench of his leg when the saddle to which he was trying to stick, slipped over the head of his steed and he himself precipitated to the earth.

Much amusement was afforded by the "horseplay" of the cowboys as they participated in the performance, George Fletcher and C. E. Buryan especially adding to the delight when they attempted to ride an "outlaw" double and were both thrown.

L. E. McCoy was pronounced the best all-around cowboy by the judges at the end of the afternoon's entertainment.

SPANKED BY WIFE; SUES.

Bunik Says She Puddled Him With a Big Iron Spoon.

Cleveland.—Contending his wife's scolding of him with a big iron spoon, while her two brothers held him in a vice-like grip and properly slanted for the operation, was in violation of the "love honor and obey" clause of the marriage contract, Samuel Bunik asked for a divorce from Eva Bunik, whom he married in 1907.

The husband charges that his punishment by Mrs. Bunik resulted in his spending two weeks in a hospital and that this loss of time was augmented later when Mrs. Bunik had him thrust into jail on a charge of neglecting a minor child. Bunik was released, he says, when he proved he was not a father.

PHYSIOLOGIST DENIES THAT SOUL WILL LIVE

No More Immortal Than the Body, Declares Professor Verworn.

Philadelphia.—Professor Max Verworn of the University of Bonn, Germany, celebrated as a physiologist, told seven faculty men and medical students of the University of Pennsylvania that the individual soul is no more immortal than the individual body.

He delivered the lecture at the medical school, most of his audience being Christians. To them the German scholar held no hope for a life after death as individuals or incorporeal souls. He said the only continuance of life after death would be in the form of deeds that earthly life leaves behind.

Dr. Verworn went into a scientific discussion of the cerebral cells which he used to combat the Christian belief in the immortality of the soul.

"You seem depressed," "As a patriot I feel depressed. The time has come when we must face a crisis." "In which magazine?"

Pasco Robber is Caught.

Through a conference between Tom Gurdane and Captain Walden, chiefs of police in this city and La Grande, last week, the man who recently robbed the Pasco jewelry store in broad daylight is in limbo and on his way back to the scene of his crime. The La Grande officer happened to mention that he was holding a man in his jail on whom had been found many rings and watches and Chief Gurdane immediately recognized the description of the articles. Deputy Sheriff Ed Dennis of Pasco went over after the man yesterday.

Sextette of Drunks.

Police court took on a familiar appearance again this morning when Judge Fitz Gerald mounted his chair to consider the cases of six drunks arrested. Posy Sullivan, John McGunn, Charles Davis and S. Frank were all sent back to jail to serve three days on their failure to pay the fines imposed upon them, and William Manner escaped a like fate by providing five dollars. ### Reinharts Leave City.

La Dow, Mrs. Reinhart will leave for Portland, where she will spend the winter, but Mr. Reinhart, who is traveling representative of the Marshall-Weiss Hardware company, will remain in his present territory for the time being. ### Whiskers a Good Disguise.

A three weeks' growth of beard nearly caused Al Slusher a little embarrassment the other day when his well known visage was not recognized under its "underbrush and foliage." He had just arrived from Meacham where he had been looking after the Slusher flock, and, being cold and thirsty, he wandered his way to the Elks club where he called for a decoction of warming beverage. Upon being supplied, he told the steward to put it on his account but it took considerable talking to persuade that individual that he had an account. Needless to say, Mr. Slusher immediately consulted a tonorial artist.

Returns After Busy Session.

Circuit Judge G. W. Phelps returned to Pendleton Saturday night after an unusually busy term in Morrow county. During the week he spent in Heppner, besides dismissing many cases by default, he had four jury trials before him. The case of Ernest Piper vs. the First National Bank is undecided pending the submitting of written arguments. The jury found in favor of the defendant in the case of Gilliland vs. Wherry and the same verdict was returned in the case of Stephens vs. Morrow county.

LOCAL MOOSE TO HAVE UP-TO-DATE HOME

Having leased the second story of the Matlock-Brownfield building on Main street, Pendleton lodge Loyol Order of Moose is now engaged in having the large room fitted up for lodge purposes and for use as a club room. Messrs. Gibson & Cole are now at work getting the building into shape for the lodge.

Pendleton's lodge of Moose now numbers approximately 500 members, according to Major Lee Moorhouse, the first presiding officer of the lodge who holds the title of dictator. The organizer is still in the city enlisting members for the lodge and expects to run the membership to the 700 mark by the end of the week.

Under the terms of the lease upon the second floor of the Matlock-Brownfield building the lodge gets the location for a period of five years at $40 per month with a privilege of leasing the room for five years more after the first lease has expired. The lodge itself is paying for the work of converting the room into a suitable lodge home.

The Matlock-Brownfield building has a frontage of 100 feet on Main street and has a depth of 50 feet. Owing to its location and Main street frontage it is admirably adapted to the purposes for which the building will be used.

The young woman was on the witness stand most of the day.

She said her father, Douglas Rhodenbaugh, had administered the horsewhipping and she blamed the family discord upon her stepmother. She said her father had opposed her marriage and had whipped her in an effort to cause her to give up the idea. Mrs. Larsen denied that she had written ten accusing letters to her sister Marian.

TWO MEN ALIVE, BOTH MOURNED AS ONE DEAD

Chicago, Ill.—Richard Oakes, 1232 North Robey street, and Edward Sheridan, a section foreman on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, positively refuse to be dead. Despite the fact that the wife of the former identified his dead body and the latter was supposedly on his way to the county morgue, both "re-neglected" at the last moment and balked at being buried.

The trouble all started with the finding of a corpse in the north branch of the river. It wasn't the dead man's fault that he was the "dead" twin of two very much alive Chicagoans.

Just as the corpse was being placed in an ambulance to be carried to the county morgue last Saturday, John J. Reinsch, 947 West North avenue, a saloon keeper, identified the body as that of Sheridan, an old friend of his. The body was taken back into the undertaking rooms at 750 West North avenue while Reinsch, to make sure, went back to his saloon and gathered seven friends who knew Sheridan. One by one they viewed the body and swore that the dead man was Sheridan.

A roadmaster for the railroad by which Sheridan is employed told the police that Sheridan had been working all week at Galewood and that he talked with him Saturday night.

Previous to this several friends of Mrs. Oakes appeared at the undertaking parlors and identified the body as that of her missing husband, Mrs. Oakes next viewed the dead man.

"No he ain't," said a deep voice and turning, Mrs. Oakes beheld her husband, whom she had not seen for several months, standing in the doorway. He had heard that he was dead and came to find out for sure. The couple embraced because reconciled and departed to "begin life over."

SNAKE CHASES HER HOME.

Pittsburg—Mrs. James Phillips of near Odell had a terrific encounter with a six foot black snake in her home. She was alone in the house, her husband having gone to a nearby farm. She had just sat down to eat her breakfast when she noticed the wriggling snake near the door.

Horror-stricken, the woman ran into an adjoining room. She got a bucket of scalding water and threw it on the reptile. But this seemed to have no effect on the snake. It chased her into the front room. The woman again threw a bucket of scalding water on the snake but this made it fight all the harder. It struck at her several times and finally chased her from the house.

For fully an hour she fought the reptile and finally killed it with a club.
