A REMARKABLE TALKING MACHINE

Warren's Music Store Receives One of Edison's Latest and Greatest Inventions.

Mr. Warren, of Warren's Music store, has been kept continually busy the last few days demonstrating the latest thing in and last word in talking machines to crowds of eager visitors.

The new machine in question is known as the "Edison Disc" and is the first machine ever turned out by the Edison or any other company using disc records and everlasting needle.

Owing to the clearness of tones, natural sound of voice and absence of any audible mechanical sound, this machine is causing a sensation over the entire country. The machine being exhibited is only a demonstration but orders will be taken for future delivery.

Mr. Edison has just refused an offer of one million dollars for the patent rights of the new Edison Disc talking machine.

Investigate Wreck.

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, July 14.—An investigation was started of the collision between a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train and an interurban street car in which three were killed, and one fatally and 20 less seriously injured. The accident was said to be caused by a terrific storm in which the interurban car conductor is supposed to have mistook a head light approaching for a lightning flash and signalled his car to go ahead. The street car was demolished.

BERGER PROVES EASY FOR THE IRRIGATORS

BOISE, July 14.—Well, after Saturday's exhibition it was a game anyway. Berger was easy for the Irrigators Sunday, Osborne was little better and it took Peet to stop the scoring. The two old heads were all to the bad. Berger was wild and the chief was cold, but when they switched Peet from the gate to the mound the game looked different though it was too late to help much.

The fans didn't have much chance to see Hall in action. The elongated twirler worked like a big leaguer in the first inning, but after that the game was all his and he took things easy for three more innings, after which the boss thought to put him in storage for next week and sent Melter to the mound. Melter lobbed them over and even then he had too much for the Bucks, except in the eighth when they found him for five straight hits and scored twice.

ma team were Fitchner, who disregarded etiquette sufficiently to sneak the ball past ten pitchers; Gordon, who had pitched nearly three whole games and went in to play right field after the third; Taylor, who caught a good game, and one or two others.

Fitchner fumbled Johnson's scratch in the first and Johnson, taking advantage of a moment when no one was looking, sprinted for second. Most ungentlemanly of Mr. Johnson, Davis doubled, scoring him.

In the second Mr. Kelly offended grievously. He sent the ball directly past Roy Grovers. Brown sacrificed him to second. Welsh lifted one over Grovers' head, went to first. Leonard tried to put one past Grovers, and Roy, remembering Kelly's rudeness, decided to put him out at the plate. This is where Mr. Kelly offended. While still 16 or 15 feet from home plate he thrust his head in the path of the ball, diverting it so that Taylor could not catch it.

The Bears, observing how the game should be played, began the third in an orderly manner. Davis and Martini walked to first without starting themselves. Sheely laid the ball down softly. He meant it for a sacrifice but the North Yakima players were too polite. They let him get to first, refusing to allow any gentleman to make a sacrifice in an effort to aid even his friends. Kelly tried to walk also, but his friend, Mr. Starkell, called three strikes. Roy Grovers let Brown's offering go by and Davis and Martini went to the bench, gently rapping the rubber as they passed. For some unknown reason Fitchner lost his temper at this point and hit Welsh with the ball, filling the bases. Leonard fanned and Johnson doubled, scoring Sheely and Brown. Then Roy took one off Childers' bat and threw it to Mr. Fuller, who spent most of the game in elegant idleness. No one even threw the ball to him during most of the game.

LOST COW FOUND IN HOUSE.

Animal Disappeared and is Found to Have Taken Refuge in a Vacant Dwelling.

HELIX, Ore., July 14.—One of John Nusbaum's cows mysteriously disappeared last Friday and for many days the proprietor of the Commercial Hotel rode over the county searching every lane and open space in trying to find the animal. one in the neighborhood was advancing theories as to her possible whereabouts when the mystery was finally solved on Tuesday morning. Mr. Nusbaum had just about given up hopes of ever seeing the animal again when on the morning mentioned L. D. Smith happened to walk by the vacant house which stands back of his shop. Mr. Smith heard a noise in the house and on investigating found that it was made by a cow which he soon found to be the long lost "bossie" that had quit her job of furnishing milk to the hotel. The animal had been in the old house for four days without either food or drink but aside from these wants she was as well as ever when returned to her home. She had evidently gone inside of the house while the door stood open and in some way the door had shut while she was inside.
