

Schmidt Real Hero of Series Says Mack.

Charley Schmidt, In his post mortem on the recent world's series, Connie Mack, manager of the humbled Philadelphia Athletics, said: "I think that Schmidt, the Braves' husky first sacker was one of the real heroes of the series. The plays he made in the opening inning of the first game at Shibe Park had a greater effect on the Braves and my own players than any others. He killed a wild throw by Gowdy by a remarkable leaping catch, and when he followed this up with a running catch of Baker's foul fly and made a perfect throw to Deal at third for a double play, he put confidence into his mates and the pitcher, too."

Love Message on Cup. ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 4.—A campaign throughout Minnesota to use sanitary drinking cups, gave promise of bringing results—not a lessening of germs, but an increase of the love bug. A patient of the state sanitarium for tubercular residents, at Walker, read a note on a sanitary drinking cup. It was signed Evelyn Ellison, East Wapole, Mass. He wrote and his comrades are still looking for the answer.

AMERICAN WIDOWED BY PRINCE'S DEATH. PETROGRAD, Nov. 4.—According to well informed circles, the death of Prince Oleg of Russia has disclosed that he contracted a morganatic marriage with an extremely pretty American girl. The wedding was kept from his father and mother, the Grand Duke and Duchess Constantine, but owing to reasons of an intimate nature the young widow has since the prince's death disclosed the marriage.

FIGHTING MELODIES ARE FAVORITES OF TOMMY ATKINS. LONDON, Nov. 4.—"It's a long way to Tipperary" is all right as a marching song, but Tommy Atkins has several other melodies for fighting. One of the favorites runs: "Here we are, Here we are, Here we are again. There's Pat and Mac and Tommy and Jack and Joe (marines) When there's something brewing, When there's something doing, Are we downhearted? No. Let 'em all come. So, here we are, Here we are, Here we are again. Never mind the weather, Now then all together. Hullo, Hullo. Here we are again. Another, very frequently heard in the trenches during the recent wet weather, is entitled "Better put your umbrella up when the rain comes on."

"Some of the Frenchies in the next trench who understood English thought we were crazy when our section sergeant started singing it, one wicked afternoon," said a returned wounded soldier. "Our officers laughed and joined in heartily. My, but we didn't half want an umbrella."

Portuguese Kill Germans. LONDON, Nov. 4.—A dispatch from Lorenzo Marques, East Africa, to Reuters' Telegram company confirms the report of a German invasion of Portuguese West Africa, and gives the following official details regarding the affair: "A party of German cavalry, composed of 12 Europeans and 20 natives crossed the southern border of Angola and arrived at the military post at Nauilla, saying they desired an interview with the commander. "Shortly afterwards they were about to retire without further explanation the reason for the visit when a Portuguese officer placed his hand on the German officer's blade. The German troops thereupon raised their weapons, but the Portuguese soldiers were beforehand and fired on the party, killing three Germans."

FIGHT OF CRUISER IS TO BE COMMEMORATED. LONDON, Nov. 4.—The British admiralty has allowed itself to be swayed by sentiment, probably for the first time in its history. In memory of the naval action of Heligoland last August the cruiser Arethusa, which took the leading part in the attack on the German cruisers and destroyers, is to have fixed in a prominent place a plate engraved with a couple of verses of the old song "The Saucy Arethusa": "Come, all ye jolly sailors bold, Whose hearts are cast in honor's mold, While English glory I unfold, Huzza for the Arethusa, Her men are staunch, To their favorite launch, And when the foe shall meet our fire, Sooner than strike, we'll all expire On board of the Arethusa. And now we're driven the foe ashore Never to fight with Britons more, Let each fill his glass To his favorite lass; A health to our captain and officers true, And all that belong to the jovial crew On board of the Arethusa."

All the ships which took part in the action are to have the words "Heligoland, August 28, 1914" painted in gold letters in some convenient place.

First German Across The Meuse Receives Cross

Here is the first German who crossed the Meuse river under the terrific fire of the Belgian forts at Liege. For days, it will be remembered a German infantry made futile attempts to cross the river one temporary bridge after another being shot away before the troops could cross. Under the offer of the iron cross for the first man to cross the river, the efforts were redoubled. Finally the warlike individual here pictured succeeded in running across the temporary bridge just as it was going down under the terrific fire of the Belgian guns. A hail of bullets rained about him and he was forced to retire back across the river. This he did, clinging to a plank. He received the iron cross for his valor and was the proudest man in the Namur garrison, where this photograph was taken.

fourth of the 14,000 military workers are on short time, due to women's buying hats which are cheaply trimmed. Statistics presented indicated that there are 3900 more unemployed persons in London than there were last year at this time. Reducers' Daughter Wins. NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Dudley Jardine's daughter will receive part of the Bowery real-estate, according to a judgment by stipulation rendered in supreme court recently. The brothers and nephews of Jardine have agreed to settle out of court the contest of the will brought by the daughter, Anita Faithful McCarthy, and gave her a substantial portion of the $200,000 left by Jardine or William Smith, as he was known for years. Mrs. McCarthy has five children and is the wife of John McCarthy, janitor of the New York society library. Last Boat Leaves Nome. ROME, Alaska, Nov. 4.—The steamship Victoria, the last boat of the season, left for Seattle with 300 passengers and transportation connection with the remainder of the world's boats will come up from the south, fighting the ice of Bering Sea. During the winter dog teams will carry letter mail between Prince William Sound and Nome. Twenty-six hundred persons will pass the winter here, this being practically the same number that remained through last winter. The gold output of Seward peninsula during the season just ended was $3,000,000, or $500,000 larger than during the season of 1913. Plans are being made for a new Moose lodge building at Hillsboro to cost $20,000.

Belgian Loss 25 Per Cent. LONDON, Nov. 4.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail in northern France, dealing with the enormous sacrifice and the devoted courage of the Belgians, says: "More than 10,000 have been killed or wounded, which is a quarter of their whole force operating in the last battle. They have been defending a strip of territory from Dixmude to Nieuport, a region hardly bigger than a big German farm. "Nearly all their wounded have been wounded in the back, but never were wounds more honorable as the bullets and shrapnel hit them as they lay prone under the hail of the steel volcano. Their fate is the tragedy of this war."

Pinch Due to Economies. LONDON, Nov. 4.—The economy being practiced by English women at present is causing lack of work in certain branches of trade. At a meeting of relatively unemployed people here it was said that one-third of the 66,000 dressmakers in London are on short time because even the well-to-do are buying cheap ready-made clothing. It was also said that one-

AUSTRIAN AEROPLANES VAINLY BOMBARD SHIPS

PARIS, Nov. 4.—In a dispatch from Cetinje, Montenegro, the correspondent of the Havas Agency, says three Austrian aeroplanes on November 1 dropped a number of bombs at Antivari in an endeavor to strike a French transport ship and the three torpedo-boats escorting her. One of them struck the quay but did only slight damage. Others fell in the vicinity of the palace of the prefecture without causing any damage. Shots from the French torpedo-boats and the batteries on the heights compelled the aeroplanes to flee.

15 of 20 Officers Killed. LONDON, Nov. 4.—As indicating the heavy toll among British officers since the war began, a well-known American woman here said: "Just previous to the departure of the British expeditionary force, an American woman in London was the hostess of a dinner party at which 20 officers of the British army were present. She learned today that 15 of them have since been killed in action."

This heavy toll was further illustrated by the Rev. R. J. Campbell, minister of the City Temple here, who told his congregation of a dinner given in July in honor of a young man who was just coming of age, and of that gathering all had been killed so far except one, and that one was thought to be dead.

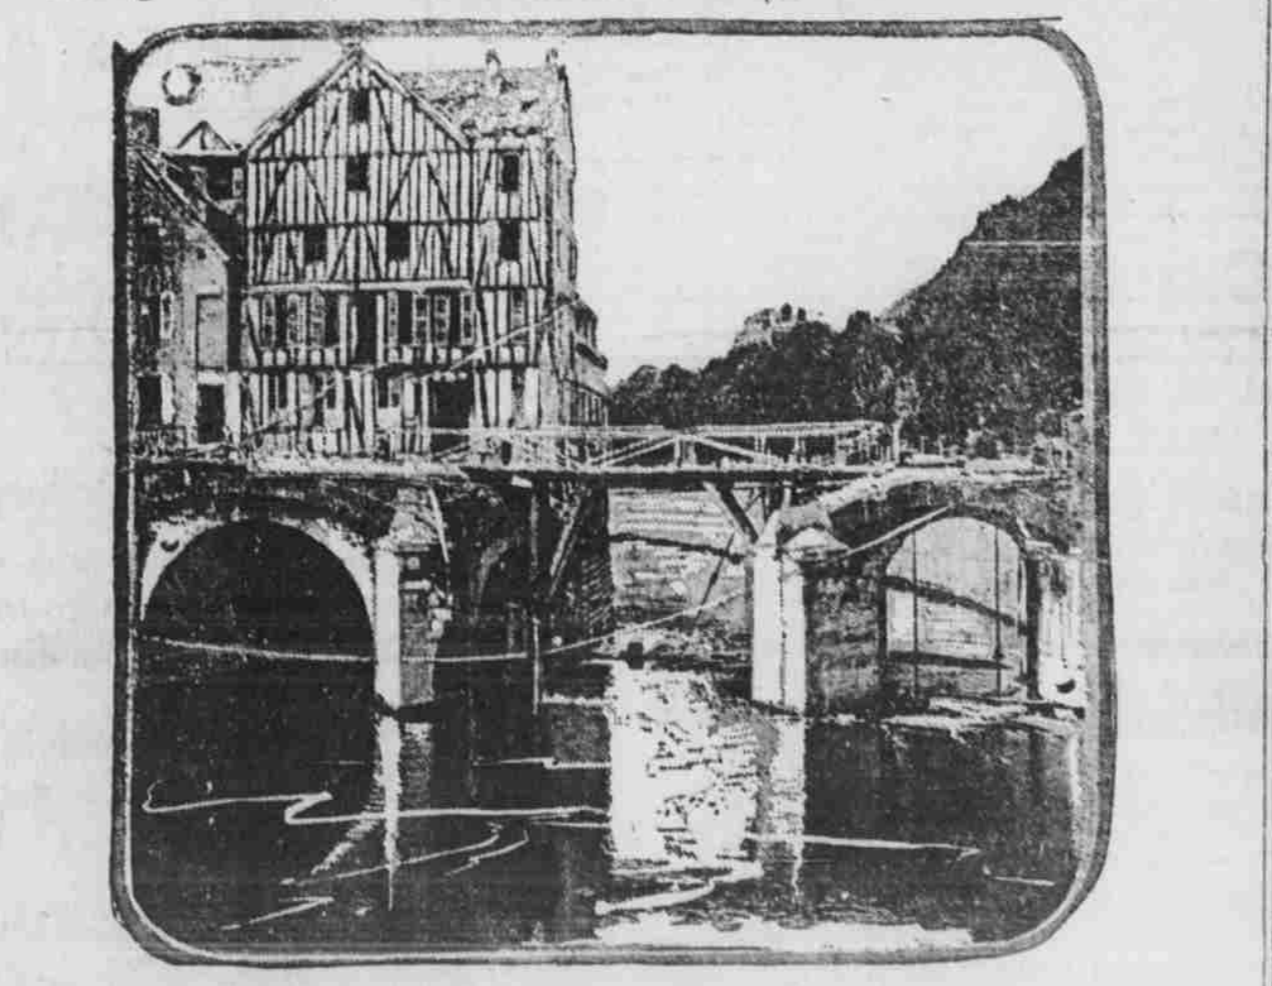

Don't Count Foe, is Order. LONDON, Nov. 4.—A Petrograd special to the Reuter Telegram company says: "In the recent fighting near Przemysl, two Generals reported to their commander, the Bulgarian General Radko Dimitrieff, who is leading the Russian army investing Przemysl, that they were unable to hold out owing to the overwhelming numbers of the enemy. General Dimitrieff replied with an aphorism which doubtless will become historic. He said: "Don't count the enemy. Beat them."

Church Seeks $5,000,000. WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—With the arrival in Washington yesterday of the Rev. Dr. J. B. Hingeley, of Chicago, corresponding secretary of the board of conference claimants of the Methodist Episcopal church, and prime mover in an effort to raise $5,000,000 for an endowment fund for retired Methodist ministers, much interest will be aroused in local church circles in a three-day conference to be held at Metropolitan M.
