

How much was your last suit of clothes worth?

That question has nothing to do with the price you paid for the clothes; it refers to what you got for it.

YOU may be financially so fortunate that you don't care what you pay for clothes; but you're certainly unfortunate if you don't care what you get for the money.

What you get for your money in clothes depends on who made them. Some makers can't afford to make poor clothes; they have set so high a standard of quality, and have made so great a reputation for maintaining that quality at whatever cost, that any saving by cheap materials and low grade tailoring would be too costly.

ARCADE SUNDAY AND MONDAY
"THE COUNTY FAIR"
A TRIUMPH OF THE SCREEN

The screen version is based upon the famous American rural drama of the same name in which Neil Burgess as Aunt Abigail starred for a number of years and made it one of the best known pieces of theatrical property in the history of the American stage. Where the play was necessarily limited in its scope no such cramping influences have held the picture, and Tourneur has been able to give it with a realism and effect which only the screen can uphold. It is the most talked about picture production of the season and has been breaking records in New York, Boston and Chicago, where it was given upon a scale in keeping with its bucolic theme and the simple sweetness of its environment.

RIVOLI SUNDAY AND MONDAY
CHARLES RAY TURNS OUT EXPERT FOOTBALL PLAYER

Charles Ray handed the college boys a surprise during the filming of the football scenes in Richard Anderson's college football story, "Two Minutes to Go," the first national attraction scheduled to open an engagement at the Rivoli Theatre Sunday. The boys were all on edge and in good physical trim and they anticipated considerable awkwardness on Charles Ray's part when it came to handling the ball properly, but as matters went, he put one over on all of them and handled the ball and took his position on the team like a veteran.

Mr. Ray played football at high school, and previous to the filming of the football scenes he had "Tuffy" Conn, one of the best extra college players and now professional, at his home on several occasions to explain all the latest and most up-to-date plays and to indulge in some practice.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

"THE CHILD'S FIRST SCHOOL IS THE FAMILY"—Froebel. Issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th Street, New York City. These articles are appearing weekly in our columns.

SOMETHING TO TAKE CARE OF.

By Lydia Lion Roberts.

"Oh, mother, I wish we had a cat or a dog or a baby—or some kind of an animal," sighed the little boy one day. He was expressing the natural desire every child has to care for and protect something smaller than himself. This is a very good wish for a child to have and the wise mother uses it at once to develop a feeling of tenderness and responsibility.

The cat and the dog and the baby should be in every family if possible, but there are other ways to please the child if these are out of the question. One mother put a bowl of goldfish on a low magazine stand, and let her little boy feed them each day. He was interested in watching their habits and he and his mother often talked about the tiny, beautiful fishes. Another boy was given a geranium at a church concert and cared for it all winter. He was very proud when it blossomed before his brother's did, and watered it carefully every morning.

A small bed of pansies was given to a little girl one spring day, and she was told it was her flowerbed to care for. Her mother suggested that she supply the table with pansies, picking a few at a time for a low dish. She showed the child how to combine colors to make lovely effects. The little girl learned many things about flowers that summer and tended her garden faithfully, with love, in every touch she gave the pansies.

The boys have their games, the girls have dolls, but these do not satisfy the need for something alive, something that grows, and shows the results of care and attention. A kitten, a puppy, some rabbits, a few white mice, whichever suits the needs of the family best can be easily supplied, if the mother thinks it over. Of course it will be a little more care for a mother in one way for she must see to it that the child does not shirk the responsibility after the novelty wears off, but with gentle firmness the child's own "growing thing" may become the means of helping towards an understanding and realization that all helpless things need constant, steady love and care from the stronger ones of the world.

"There is no force so great as that of an idea whose hour has come."—Victor Hugo.

The idea of kindergarten education for little children is not a new one, but it is an idea whose hour has come. Organizations all over the country are recognizing that little children are entitled to the advantages of kindergarten training, and are attempting in many states to secure legislation authorizing the establishment of kindergartens upon petition of parents. Such laws have already been enacted in California, Arizona, Nevada, Maine, Texas, Kansas, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin, and bills making the same provision will be introduced in the 1922 legislative sessions in Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, New Jersey, and New York. If there is no kindergarten in your school, the National Kindergarten Association will furnish upon request advice and information as to how one may be secured.
