The Western Union Telegraph company announces resumption of its direct service with Belgium, through restoration of its special wire from London to Antwerp which has been interrupted since the beginning of the war in August, 1914. The restoration of its direct connection with Belgium along with the recent restoration of its Dutch connections reestablishes the European cable connections of the Western Union as they were before the war, its direct service with England and France not having been interrupted.

Contradicting the statement that food parcels, soap and shoes if sent through the Red Cross, may enter Germany without paying duty, national headquarters of the organization has issued an emphatic denial. Representatives of the Red Cross in Europe have sent word that no such arrangements have been made, and the German government has asserted that it had nothing whatever to do with the message to that effect which was cabled to the states a few months ago.

According to Postmaster August Huckerstein, who is one of the leaders in the war savings stamp drive being conducted in Marion county by the local lodge of Elks, the campaign is meeting with more success than was at first expected. A large number of small subscriptions are coming in daily, and the larger subscriptions, of several hundred dollars worth, are swelling the total appreciably. The drive will last until the first of the year, and it is hoped by the Elks, who have volunteered their services, that Oregon's deficiency of several thousand dollars will be made up by that time.

Maurice Selig, a student of the University of Oregon, spent a brief visit in Salem yesterday while en route to his home in Falls City, where he will spend the holidays with his parents. Mr. Selig's father is a prominent merchant of the Polk county town.
