Did Not Appear in Regular Issue.

The article concerning the character of J. W. Roberts, cashier of the First National Bank of Bandon, which was circulated among Bandon people as having been printed in the Pierre, S. D. Weekly Free Press, did not appear in the regular issue of that paper of Sept. 1st, as a copy of the regular issue was forwarded to Mr. Roberts later and the article referred to did not appear; but it seems that it was published in a special edition of the paper and sent outside of the state.

A letter to Mr. Roberts, from C. W. Lake, a prominent business man of Pierre, explains the situation, consequently we publish the letter in full.

These proofs, with the letters from Governor Vessey of South Dakota, published in the RECORDER two weeks ago, prove beyond a doubt that Mr. Roberts' character is above reproach.

The letter from Mr. Lake follows:

Pierre, S. D., Oct. 4, 1910.
Dear Friend Roberts:—Your letter of the 26th is at hand, and I was indeed surprised at what I saw in the copy of the Free Press under date of Sept. 1st. I take the Free Press myself, and always read it carefully, for it sometimes has some very bright editorials, but I had never seen that article about you before, nor had I ever heard of it before, so I quickly guessed that it was only printed in a special edition, which was sent to special parties for a purpose.

I at once went over to the Free Press office and had a long talk with Satterlee. I sure made him ashamed of himself for allowing himself to be duped in that way. He readily admitted that the article was never circulated anywhere in South Dakota, but was printed only in a special edition, which was all taken by Hyde. Hyde of course wrote the article, and paid well for its publication, and it was really very smooth of him to hit upon such an idea to get even with you. Your circular has nearly driven him frantic, and has caused him more trouble I am sure than he has ever had before in his business career.

I regret very much this mix up, and do not want to get into it if I can avoid it, but I will not stand by and see you flim flamed by any such work. I have never seen your circular, but have heard about it. The only mistake you made in it was in asking for money to help pay the expenses of a campaign against him, and possibly in allusions against Pierre itself, but I know you only meant the rough hills, in which Hyde was selling lots.

Do not believe I would print anything here for it would stir up an awful mess. You hit Hyde so hard that he in desperation was compelled to take steps to defend himself with his own customers and with the post office authorities, who all received copies of the paper of September 1st. It is really pretty rank, however, to know that that paper was never sent out locally. They never would have dared to publish such a thing here. It would have been the complete ruin of him, for you have 10 friends here to his one, and better than that. You can see now why you had not heard of this article before.

I will get you a paper of that date and armed with this positive information, you certainly should have no trouble in vindicating yourself among your friends there; although I regret very much indeed the annoyance you have been put to. Satterlee is a good friend of yours and did not know that he was doing a thing that could injure you. Hyde told him that he paper was only going to be sent to his customers. Satterlee printed a very flattering article about you after you left last spring, but I don't know what paper it appeared in.

Have not seen Thibedeau yet, but don't think you will need any further vindication. Don't forget that I worked for Hyde many years, and between you two, my sympathies are all with you and if it should come to a show down, there are some things I might have to say in the way of real information about those lots that he sold out miles in the hills at enormous prices.

Sincerely yours,
C. W. LAKE.

Public Speaking Explained.
The Japanese visitor to the city was asked to make an after dinner speech. He arose and began quaintly.
"I often wonder," he said, "why it is you Americans will hinder your digestion by making these after dinner speeches. We Japanese rest after our meals. It is much better. I know that I traveled with a Japanese legation over the United States, and everywhere the Americans would make us dine, then ask us for speeches afterward. We would much rather have dined at our hotels and retired afterward to rest for the following day. I asked some one why it was, this universal after dinner speechmaking among the American men at public dinners, and he replied that the American man never had a chance to say anything at home and that was why."—New York Press.

OREGON GRANGE.

Its Thirty-sixth Annual Session Held at Oregon City.

President Taft Has Signed the Postal Savings Bank Bill, and It Will Soon Be Decided What Postoffices Will Be Postal Savings Banks.

Oregon state grange met May 10. Austin D. Buxton, state master, said in his annual address that the membership should be more restricted to those engaged in agricultural pursuits. He opposed too much participation in political issues. The state secretary reported 144 subordinate granges in twenty-five counties: During the past two years twenty-six new granges were organized. The total membership is now 8,288. C. E. Spence was elected state master. The salary of the state master was fixed at $300, secretary $400 and lecturer $200. The plan to bond the counties for the purpose of road construction was opposed. The use of convict labor on highways was approved. The grange opposed union with the federal trades on the ground that their taxation measures could not be supported. One hundred and sixty-four candidates took the sixth degree. Mrs. B. E. Lord, formerly lecturer of New York state grange, was one of the speakers. The treasurer reported a balance on hand of about $6,000.

POSTAL SAVINGS BANKS.

President Taft Has Signed the Bill, and It is Now a Law.

One of the measures for which the grange has been contending for several years is that which has been finally placed upon our statute books, the establishment of postal savings banks throughout the country. This is a source of gratification to members of the Order, and, while credit for the enactment is not solely theirs, of course they have been very earnest in the endeavor to impress upon the national legislators the advantages of such a bill.

Under the terms of the bill a board of trustees is created, who shall declare what postoffices shall become postal savings banks. Deposits in these banks made by one person shall not be more than $400 a month or exceed a total of $500. An account may be opened with $1, but stamps of 10 cents each will be issued for those desiring to accumulate money to be deposited. On deposits 2 per cent interest per annum is to be paid.

Any depositor so desiring can exchange his deposits for government bonds, to be issued in denominations of $20, $40, $60, $80, $100 or $500, to bear interest at 2 1/2 per cent per annum. The money accumulated in the postal savings banks is to be deposited in both national and state banks, such banks to pay 2 1/2 per cent interest.

Five per cent of the total deposits is to be retained by the secretary of the treasury as a cash reserve. Not more than 30 per cent of these deposits may be withdrawn by the government at any one time for investment in bonds of the United States, the remaining 65 per cent to remain on deposit in the banks.

Notes Here and There.

State Master Hull of Michigan will speak at the Ohio state fair, Sept. 7. Washington state Patrons have raised $500 as a fund to aid in pushing the parcels post scheme.

Wyoming County (N. Y.) Agricultural society has offered prizes of $15 and $10 for best registered attendance at the coming fair.

C. H. McCormick of Gallia county, O., has been named for the legislature. He is a granger and farmers' institute lecturer.

The new law abolishing the office of school commissioner and substituting superintendents over small districts for New York state was the work of the grange and the department of education.

Juvenile Granges.

Juvenile granges are to be commended from every point of view, says the New York Farmer. Such granges will give the farm boys and girls much of the social charm that is said to be lacking in country life. Grange work will familiarize the youngsters with parliamentary practice, develop whatever oratorical and rhetorical gifts they possess, give them self possession, cultivate their self reliance and make them courteous, polite and intelligent young men and women. The grange has been of inestimable value to the farmers and their wives, and the juvenile granges will do for the children what the subordinate and Pomona granges have done for the parents.

Has a Membership of 7,201.

Peerless among the counties of New York state stands Jefferson, with a membership in her thirty-three granges of 7,201. This is a larger number than half a dozen states combined can muster and larger than many single states have. And yet this is one county only!

Contest For Members.

An Ohio grange instituted a three months' membership contest resulting in an addition of forty-five members. The losing side furnished a banquet for the winners.
