. "Inneapolis, Sept. 26 .- A special to the Times from Faribault, Minn., says: Meager details have just reached here of a catastrophe which visited the village of Morristown, 10 miles west of Faribault, shortly after 6 o'clock this evening. The village was struck by a tornado and a barn was raised in Paul Gatseke's saloon, where 16 pe ple had taken refuge from the storm. The saloon collapsed, and all its occupants were buried in the debris. At present it is said that eight dead bodies and three injured persons have been taken from the ruins. .The storm came without warning, from a southwesterly direction. The length of its path in the village was less than half a mile, but, owing to its peculiar action, the distress and damage resulting were not as great as they might have been. The storm made jumps of one block, but whenever it came down everything was crumbled by the power of the wind. A barn, belonging to Dr. was fired in the Texas Creek canyon. Before reaching the Gatseke saloon there is a two-story building, which was left untouched All the people killed and injured in Morristown were in the saloon, having hurriedly taken refuge there when the storm was seen on the outskirts of the village. There were 16 people in the structure at the time the storm struck. The building was crushed like an eggshell. Before the building fell three people managed to escape, but the others are found in the lists of dead and injured. After leaving the saloon the storm crossed the street and destroyed the harn of J. G. Temple, and took the roof from the barn of W. M. Bigoli. It then crossed the Cannon river and destroyed the barn of Adam Snyder, killing several hogs. The storm then passed off to the northeast, and did no further damage. Before reaching the town the storm descended on the farm of John Olsen and killed a hired man named Peterson.
